RED RUIN AT BOSTON

Flames Sweep Furiously Over Ten Acres of Territory.

4,000 PEOPLE HOMELESS.

The Baseball Park, Where the Fire Starts, Devastated.

LOSS OF LIFE IS FEARED.

Scores Jump from Blazing Houses and Many Are Wounded.

SAD SCENES AMONG SUFFERERS.

BOSTON, Mass., May 15.—[Special.]—Shrill cries of "Fire!" startled the spectators at the league baseball park this afternoon, and in a few minutes the "bleachers" were a mass of crackling flames.

The fire thus started spread speedily east and west and before it had been gotten under control ten acres of territory had been burned over and 600 families, comprising 4,000 persons, had been rendered homeless.

A peculiar odor pervades the burned district tonight, and it is feared there has been loss of life, but up to midnight no bodies have been recovered.

The third inning of the game had been half finished, and Baltimore was just going to the bat, when the fire was discovered. Immediately there was a scattering of the 3,500 spectators, and while a few men ripped up seats and tried to stamp out the flames, the rest made a rush for the gates. A few buckets of water would at this stage have quenched the fire and prevented the disaster which followed, but there was no water within reach. The flames leaped fiercely up the scantlings and through the rows of seats, which were dry as tinder, owing to the absence of rain for a couple of weeks, and fanned by a strong southeast wind, they consumed fence and bleachers and presently the grand stand was fired and burned in a furious manner. Almost adjoining the baseball grounds was a populous section devoted to tenements and homes of the poorer class and many small stores of similar character.

Berlin Street Ravaged.

One of the streets adjoining the grounds is Berlin street, and this fell first victim to the conflagration. All the city's fire apparatus was hurried to the scene, but the flames continued their onward march, and building after building was consumed. On Berlin street about thirty buildings, chiefly small structures, were destroyed, and the fire speedily spread to Tremont street, east and west, eating up many more substantial structures.

Walpole street, which was used as an entrance to the ball grounds, shared the same fate. Calls for assistance were sent to neighboring cities, and fire engines and men were hurried in as quickly as possible.

Fully 200 of the homeless are camped out on Hammond Park, guarding such property as they had saved, while others are scattered in various directions, many of them having saved nothing but what they could carry in their arms.

Many accidents occurred to firemen and incautious persons who ventured too near the tottering buildings, and the ambulances were kept busy carrying the victims to the hospitals. Three fire engines were destroyed by falling walls and collisions.

Sorrowful Scenes.

The scene in and around the burning district was a heartrending one. Men, women, and children were rushing in all directions, carrying bundles of clothing, bedding, and other household goods. The women, as they beheld their property reduced to ashes, broke into piteous cries, and on every corner could be seen groups of homeless families standing over their remaining goods. It was pathetic to see one old man bending beneath the burden of an old-fashioned bureau, while his wife carried a clock in her arms, and two little boys clung to her gown.

The streets were blocked with people at the entrance to the ball grounds, and this fact hindered somewhat the progress of the crowds in making their escape. Many were knocked down in the scramble.

Nearly every family living within a radius of four blocks of the fire gathered their belongings ready for removal, and large truck wagons and furniture vans backed up to many of the houses and quickly loaded and carried the goods away.

Tremont street for eight or ten blocks was completely blocked with electric cars, fire engines, and wagons of all kinds, and it was impossible to move either way. Groans and cries were heard above the din of the whistles and the ringing of bells.

Jump for Their Lives.

It was a nerve-shaking sight to see aged men and women jumping from the windows. One little baby was thrown to the street by its frantic mother, but happily was caught by a bystander.

Michael Walsh, in endeavoring to escape from his home in the fire invaded district, was compelled to jump from the roof of the structure. The distance to the ground was about thirty feet. He landed on his feet, but the force of the fall severely injured him internally, and he was picked up in a semi-conscious condition and taken to the City Hospital.

Among the other incidents of the fire was the giving birth to children by two women who had been taken to an engine-house.

The women of the Ruggles Street Baptist Church early in the evening organized a relief committee of 100 to scour the burnt district for unfortunates, throwing open the spacious church edifice to the homeless. One result of their work was the gathering in of fifty to seventy-five babies left exposed to the biting night air.

The Boston managers have secured the old brotherhood baseball grounds on Congress street and the next game with Baltimore will be played there.

At a special meeting of the Aldermen tonight it was voted to request the trustees of the Johnstown flood fund to expend the balance on hand, amounting to several thousand dollars, for the relief of the homeless.

Parents Separated from Children.

After 6 o'clock, the time for the workshops and business places to close, many pathetic scenes were witnessed, fathers returning to find their homes burned to the ground and no trace of their wives and little ones. Children who had been at work as cash boys and girls in the big dry goods and other stores, were barred out from the streets where they resided, and could find no traces of their parents.

After the fire had got hold in the ball park the houses in Berlin street were first attacked and the flames surged on towards Tremont street, reaching out to the right and left until the entire square between the ball grounds and Tremont street and extending north from Walpole street to Burke street was a mass of burning buildings. The Sherwin Kindergarten school house, a brick structure, checked the progress of the fire for only a moment, and that, too, was quickly numbered among the structures consumed. The buildings on the south side of Walpole street were soon burned. The flames shot down towards Coventry street, on that side of Tremont nearest the ball grounds; they swept on in that direction for three squares, as far as Burke street, devouring the homes, and while women were working with frantic energy to get out their household goods the walls burned and crumbled down.

Entire Block in Flames.

At 5 o'clock the entire block along the west side of Tremont street, from Walpole to Burke, was a mass of flames, which swept across to the opposite side, and soon engulfed the building for four blocks; and by 6 o'clock the conflagration had crossed Tremont to Cabot street and burned Cabot street half way through to Werwick street, and thence north to Burke street, which was the limit of the burned district on the southeast side of the ball grounds.

While the firemen were fighting on this side the fire was spreading from Walpole toward Milford place on the southwest side of the ball grounds, and in half an hour all the buildings in this block were in ruins. The fire burned on until it reached Ruggles street at one point, and consumed the houses on both sides of Chapel street and laid low the structures on Sudbury street. At Ruggles street on the west and Cabot street on the southeast the fire was practically stopped and at 7:30 the fire was under control and in no danger of spreading farther.

It is estimated that about 100 buildings have been burned. The new house of Ladder 12 and Hose 7, on Tremont street, was destroyed. Ald. Bryant's residence on Walpole street and his store on Tremont street were also destroyed.

Among the other business places leveled were: J. J. McNamara, wines and liquors, Cabot street; Daniel Bernhard & Co., liquors, Tremont street; Sterling provision store, Sterling street; Gray's photographing establishment, Tremont street; Martin Regan, undertaker, Tremont street; Gilmore's block of offices, etc., Tremont street; S. C. McEtrick, provisions, Tremont street. Councilman Connors lost his house on Tremont street and many of his effects.

The total loss is about $1,000,000, with $650,000 insurance. The Boston Baseball club is the heaviest loser, about $75,000; insured for $45,000. The City of Boston comes next in the loss of a school house, an engine house, and fire apparatus.

FOUR STUDENTS AT HARVARD DROWNED

Their Boat Capsizes Off City Point—Remains of Two Recovered.

BOSTON, Mass., May 15.—[Special.]—Four Harvard students were drowned in the harbor off City Point Sunday afternoon. They were:

BACH, EDWARD STANTON, New York.
BROWN, JOHN FARNUM, Philadelphia, Pa.
TRUESDELL, WILLIAM CAMPBELL, Newark, N. J.
WHITALL, FRANKLIN, Philadelphia, Pa.

Sunday afternoon they hired a catboat of Henry T. Hutchins of City Point, South Boston, and failed to return. This afternoon the boat was found capsized and in it the bodies of Brown and Bach. The police are dredging for the others.

Truesdell was a third year man in the law school. He was graduated at Princeton College in 1890. Brown, who was graduated at Haverford College last June, was a senior at Harvard. Bach was in the junior class in college. Bach's people are wealthy and live at No. 28 West Fifty-eighth street, New York, beside the Vanderbilts. Whitall roomed with Brown and was graduated from Haverford College last year and entered the senior class last year.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 15.—[Special.]—John Farnum Brown was a son of T. Wister Brown of this city, the head of the dry goods commission house of John Farnum & Co. His companion was Franklin Whitall, son of James Whitall of this city, and a member of the firm of Whitall, Tatum & Co., the glass manufacturers. Both were wealthy young men and belonged to what Philadelphia calls its best society.

CRUISE OF ILLINOIS NATIONAL MARINE.

It Will Start Aug. 1 and Extend Over the Lakes.

Lieut.-Commander B. M. Shaffner of the First Battalion, I. N. M., received instructions from the Secretary of the Navy yesterday to get in readiness for the annual cruise of his command. The Secretary gives the battalion the right to select the time, stipulating only that the cruise shall take place in July, August, or September. The Lieutenant-Commander said yesterday he thought the cruise would be made in August and be devoted to solid practical work. As the navy limits the rations of each man to 30 cents a day it will not be at all on the banquet order. The marines hope to secure the famous old warship Hartford for the cruise. If not the Hartford, then the Michigan. The cruise will be around Lake Michigan and probably up Superior, and then down the lower lakes.

SELLS BEER FROM A PIE WAGON.

Evanston's Council After a Brewer Who Vends His Wares Under Cover.

The Evanston City Council last night took steps to thwart the ingenious brewing company which has, it is alleged, been peddling beer in a pie wagon. City Attorney Baker was instructed to bring suit against the McAvoy Brewing company for a violation of a city ordinance. A wagon marked "South Park Bakery" regularly makes the rounds to certain residences and it is claimed that the wagon instead of containing bread and cakes is nothing more or less than a beer wagon belonging to that brewing company.

TAKE SALOONKEEPER'S CASH AND GO.

Two Men Play Cards Until Midnight and Then Hold Up the Proprietor.

Two men entered the saloon of John Horn, Harrison and Leavitt streets, last night and commenced a game of cards. They played until midnight and then the proprietor started to close up the place. He told the men he wanted to leave and requested them to finish their game. He closed the doors and as he went behind the bar the men arose and turning on Horn presented revolvers at his head and requested the contents of the cash drawer. Their request was granted and they departed, taking with them $15 and a watch.

TO WED IN A BALLOON IN THE CLOUDS.

Only the Man in the Moon to Witness a Novel Marriage Ceremony.

MUNCIE, Ind., May 15.—[Special.]—Prof. J. E. Baldwin, who has made several balloon ascensions, is in Muncie today. The professor will be married soon to a Miss Snodgrass, and will take his honeymoon in a balloon. The professor is endeavoring to secure the services of some minister who will consent to tie the knot in the balloon among the clouds.

SUES THE REGENTS OF NEBRASKA.

E. J. Church Says They Cheated Him Out of His Diploma.

OMAHA, Neb., May 15.—[Special.]—E. J. Church today filed a suit against the Regents of the State University, alleging they had conspired to cheat him out of a diploma. He asks $25,000 damages. The petition accuses the faculty of underhand work.

BENEDICT ARNOLD'S OLD HOME SOLD.

Will Be Devoted to the Uses of a Connecticut Lumber Firm.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 15.—The old home of Benedict Arnold in this city has just been sold for the use of a lumber firm. Relics from it will be taken by the New Haven Colony Historical Society.

MAY SHIFT THE DEAL

BOARD OF TRADE GRAIN SPECULATORS FIGURE ON A CHANGE.

They May Take Their Trading Cards and Transfer Their Business to the Stock Exchange—Proposed Move Is Radical and Is Creating No End of Comment—Few Details Yet Made Public—Elevator Men Will Protect Their Interests if Their Houses Are Declared Irregular.

There is a prospect that grain speculators on the Board of Trade may take their trading cards and transfer their business to the Stock Exchange. The question is up for consideration by one element which is deeply interested in the present controversy between the public warehousemen and the grain receivers and shippers. The subject of such a radical move is so important and the questions involved so grave and possibly so complicated that the few who know about it are not yet ready to disclose details.

The proprietors and managers of the public grain elevators in this city represent a total capacity of 32,000,000 bushels. They have practically decided that in case their houses are declared "irregular" by the Board of Trade, they must protect their interests regardless of such action, and are discussing the innovation. Perhaps never before has there been such feeling between the two great parties in the grain trade. This is evidenced in the monster petition which was presented to the directors of the Board of Trade yesterday afternoon, signed by 500 members, who ask that this organization refuse to recognize as available for delivery on speculative contracts any warehouse receipts issued by elevators under the ban. The receivers do not want public warehousemen to be at the same time custodians of and dealers in grain, and have taken vigorous steps to hold the elevator people strictly to the business of storing grain. The latter, on the other hand, claim some of the features objected to by the receivers and shippers have been forced upon the elevators, and are not inclined to recede from their position.

Elevator-Men Are Firm.

The elevator people refuse to refrain from buying grain in the country and dealing in it as they please, and refuse to abolish the cleaning-houses connected with their public warehouses. If the radical movement on the part of the opposition prevails and the public elevators be made "irregular" the owners of the latter do not propose to withdraw from the field. They claim they can still trade on their own certificates properly indorsed and bearing the stamp of the State Grain Inspection Department; that whether or not a receipt for 5,000 bushels or 50,000 bushels No. 2 spring wheat be recognized on the Board of Trade as acceptable on speculative contracts it is negotiable paper at the banks, and therefore beyond the power of the directorate to injure or depreciate in value. With this in view the question of listing on the Stock Exchange these securities and trading in them is far from impossible. The inspection of all grain coming to Chicago is directly and solely under the control of the State of Illinois. Of course the establishment of a grade by the official inspectors is entirely independent of the Board of Trade, and the benefits therefrom would be available, whether a warehouse receipt representing so much of the contract grade be negotiated in the big building at the head of La Salle street or at the Stock Exchange. Board of Trade people as a rule are naturally opposed to any such change, and, should the matter shape in that direction, will make a strong fight to prevent any such revolution in business methods.

"There are so many things to be said on both sides," said Edward L. Brewster, "and so many questions which might be developed upon more investigation than I have given it, that it is impossible to say what are its merits. At the moment I can see no reason why it may not be practicable. These warehouse receipts for grain, officially stamped, indicating the kind and grade, certainly represent ownership in a recognized commodity of intrinsic value. I have entertained ideas in line with this for some time."

Stock Exchange Members and the Plan.

The idea of the addition of grain business to the trading list at the Stock Exchange is received with various opinions by the members. All of them agree that anything which would increase the business of the exchange is certainly to be welcomed, but it is regarded as a rather peculiar innovation. President Walker thought the exchange had about enough on hand to build up a stock business without trying to run a Board of Trade too. There is no technical objection, however, to trading in warehouse receipts for grain on the Stock Exchange. A parallel case is to be found on the New York Exchange, where silver certificates are listed and widely dealt in. These silver certificates are exactly parallel to warehouse receipts for grain. They are simply the receipts of the safety deposit vaults which hold the silver bullion.

The directors of the Board of Trade disapproved the proposed amendment in the rule directed against the elevators, and instructed President Raymond to appoint a committee to formulate and publish to the association their reasons for such disapproval. The next meeting of the directorate will be held tomorrow afternoon. At the regular meeting yesterday President Raymond presented the results of his conferences with the elevator proprietors regarding the questions at issue.

Synopsis of the Report.

The report took the form of a communication from the elevator interests signed by Messrs. Harper, Nelson, and Hannah, representing all the public warehouses. This report says in part:

Concerning cleaning houses, this feature of the grain trade has, like others, been forced upon elevator proprietors in order to meet competitive markets; and, if abolished, would force a great deal of grain to other markets where cleaning or blowing is permitted in the regular elevators. We can see no possible danger to the grain trade from this feature of the business as here conducted, so long as it is kept under the surveillance of the Inspection Department; and we insist it is best that it be situated in Chicago, where it can be under the State Inspection Department.

The cleaning of grain is a legitimate business. It can make no possible difference whether the grain is cleaned without or within the limits of Cook County. The language of Sec. 2 shows there are doubts in the minds of the members of the committee as to the propriety of the recommendation which they made (against cleaning houses), if in fact it can be said that any recommendation is contained in the section. Referring to the last clause of Sec. 2 we may be pardoned if we suggest that the warehousemen have contributed as much, if not more, to the continued supremacy of the grain trade at this point as any class of men on the Board of Trade. We do not know upon what evidence the committee founded its declaration of the practice alleged in Sec. 3, but as warehousemen we do know that such a practice does not prevail. There may be a few isolated cases in which it has been done, but compared with the magnitude of the business transacted they are not worthy of notice. We agree, however, that if such practice did exist it should not be permitted to continue. The complaint named in Sec. 4, so far as it can be said to be a legitimate complaint, is the result of a desire on the part of the warehousemen to accommodate and please the shippers or persons taking grain out of elevators, and has not been nor is now a source of profit to warehousemen, and they are entirely willing to cooperate to make the suggestion effective. As to Sec. 6 we say as we said of Sec. 3, the causes for complaint of the character named are comparatively few, but we join in the recommendation that the State law with reference to "special bins" be strictly complied with.

MUST PAY TO CLEAR THEIR TITLES.

Helen Tregent's Apparent Cinch on Certain Hyde Park Property-Owners.

Helen Tregent, widow of Patrick Tregent of Liverpool, England, and afterward of Detroit, Mich., has served notice on the owners of two-thirds of the land between Fifty-fifth and Fifty-seventh streets and Lake and Madison avenues in effect that she did not join in certain deeds conveying this property and that her husband sold it subject to her right of dower. In the face of threats that chancery suits would be begun at once to enforce her alleged rights, one-quarter of those so notified have effected settlements, paying from $500 to $2,000 each for quit claim deeds. The trouble arose through Patrick Tregent's execution of a power of attorney to his brother, Augustus Tregent, in 1863, for the sale of the land. At that time Patrick lived at Liverpool and Augustus in Chicago. Augustus died some time ago in Germany. The power of attorney is on record here, and its genuineness is not in dispute. The trouble is it is defective, as Mrs. Tregent did not join in it. Mrs. Tregent is 68 years old, and it is said some of the property-owners hope by invoking the law's delay the litigation may outlast her life. On the other hand, her attorneys say, as she leaves a son and heir her death would do the defendants no good. This defect in the titles in this neighborhood was discovered in 1890, when an important transfer was contemplated. Recourse was had at once to the Tregents, then living in Detroit, to correct the oversight. But by that time Mr. Tregent's memory had become so impaired he had forgotten all about the power of attorney, and the negotiation failed. Among those who have paid for quit claims are John J. Ingraham, who gave up $2,000; Joseph Fahndrich, Nos. 5526 and 5528 Lake avenue; James H. Mellon, No. 5544 Lake avenue; and Martin Bell. Others who have been asked to pay up or stand suit are M. R. Doty, Edward O. Lambfer, S. E. Sanford, Charles L. Norton, and Congressman Aldrich. A portion of the estate of John L. Parshall is also involved, as well as some property owned by the Chicago City railway company.

INDIANAPOLIS MAY FESTIVAL OPENS.

Three Thousand People Turn Out to Hear the Musical Selections.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 15.—[Special.]—The annual May festival opened in Tomlinson's Hall tonight with 3,000 people present when the Boston orchestra began its overture. The festival chorus was made up of 500 voices under the direction of Prof. Arens. The first part consisted in a portion of Mendelssohn's oratorio, "St. Paul," on which the chorus has been at work two years. The court scene and the conversion were given almost entire. The soloists tonight were: Mlle. Antoinette Trebbelli, soprano; Mme. Clara Poole-King, contralto; Ben Davies, tenor; Max Heinrich, baritone; Henri Marteau, violinist. This is the first trip to America of Trebbelli and the violinist Marteau. Trebbelli's voice is wonderfully sweet, even in her most powerful efforts. Marteau's playing was received with enthusiastic appreciation. After the concert tonight he left for Chicago, where he plays tomorrow. He will return to take part in Thursday's program. The leading solo numbers tonight were aria from "Faust," by Heinrich; Bruch's G minor concerto, Marteau; Selection from Handel's "Jeptha," by Davies; Polonaise from "Mignon," by Trebbelli; Quartet from Verdi's "Rigoletto," Trebbelli, Clara Poole-King, Davies, and Heinrich.

TO WORK FOR CANADA'S INDEPENDENCE.

Candidate for Ontario's Legislature Nominated on That Platform.

WINDSOR, Ont., May 15.—[Special.]—F. P. Bouteiller, ex-Warden of Essex County, has announced his candidature for the Ontario Legislature in the interest of securing independence for the Dominion of Canada. Yesterday Mr. Bouteiller was presented with a petition asking him to contest the county in the interests of Canadian independence, and at a mass-meeting of the electors tonight he formally accepted the honor. When Mr. Bouteiller took the platform he received a splendid reception. He said he believed the time had come when Canada should separate from the mother country. Mr. Bouteiller went on to show that it cost the country $50,000 a year for the salary of the Governor-General and $150,000 a year for his expenses. Each Lieutenant-Governor received a salary of $10,000 a year and his expenses averaged fully $22,000. He said he was confident the people would support the cause not only in Essex County but throughout the whole country when the matter was laid properly before them. He prophesied that inside of ten years Canada would be an independent republic. The meeting broke up with loud and prolonged cheers for the new candidate and Canadian independence.

THREE TRAMPS TRY TO WRECK A TRAIN.

Captured by the Crew at Winona, Minn., After a Fight.

WINONA, Minn., May 15.—A desperate attempt was made by three drunken tramps to wreck the Chicago express on the Milwaukee road, due here at 6:32. The tramps got on the blind baggage at Minnieska and robbed the tool box on the end of the tender of links and pins, which were dropped to try and derail the train at Minnesota City. The train crew attacked the tramps. A fight ensued and after a desperate struggle two of the tramps were captured, but a third, the leader, named Kelly, a well-known desperado, escaped. Later he was captured and is now in jail here.

SWINDLED THE FRIENDS OF THE A. P. A.

Jacksonville, Ill., Man Organizes Lodges and Keeps the Fees.

PANA, Ill., May 15.—[Special.]—Charles Allen of Jacksonville, Ill., alias L. A. Gardner, was arrested this morning on the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. Allen under the assumed name has been going around delivering A. P. A. lectures and organizing A. P. A. lodges without authority from the State lodge and keeping the fees. The warrant for his arrest was taken out by the State President of the A. P. A. and by parties at Ashland whom Allen had victimized. He confessed all.

RECEIVER ASKED FOR ORDER OF TONTI.

Said to Have Only $2,000,000 with Which to Meet Obligations of $7,000,000.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 15.—[Special.]—Another of the get-rich-quick societies, the Order of Tonti, is likely to go into the hands of a receiver, Monday an assessment of $525 was made on each maturing certificate. Today several members applied to court for a receiver, declaring that in a few months, when the certificates matured, $7,000,000 would be necessary to pay the indebtedness, while there was only $2,000,000 to pay the bill. The order has 16,000 members and is patterned after the defunct Iron Hall.

BIG FACTORY STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.

Central Manufacturing Company's Valuable Plant at Merrill, Wis., Destroyed.

MERRILL, Wis., May 15.—[Special.]—The Central Manufacturing company's sash, door, and blind factory was struck by lightning this morning and set fire and burned to the ground with the warehouses and barns. The factory cost $68,000. Lumber and stock valued at $25,000 was also consumed. The whole was insured for $38,500. The loss falls on the following stockholders: H. R. Fehland, J. M. Colter, J. Thielman, David Finn, and E. F. Hauf. The factory will be rebuilt.

SHOCKED BY THE BOLT

MANY NORTH SIDE BUILDINGS SUFFER DURING THE STORM.

Child Prostrated When the Irving Park School Building Is Struck—Houses Set on Fire and Roofs Ruined by the Fluid—Curious Freaks of the Electricity—Many Instances of Damage Done by the Strokes and the Following Fires.

An unusually heavy rain-storm, accompanied by tremendous flashes of lightning, swept over the north and northwest part of Chicago yesterday afternoon. The lightning struck a number of buildings, setting some on fire. The most serious accident was at Irving Park, where a flash struck the schoolhouse, shattering the flagpole, stunning one child, and almost creating a panic.

The Injured.

MARLETTE, CORA, scholar in Irving Park School; stunned and dazed; taken to her home on Sheffield avenue.

COURTS, RUDOLPH, painter; knocked down and made deaf for four hours.

GROVER WILL FISH THOUGH THE SHIP GO DOWN.

All the scholars in the school were blinded and shocked by the lightning. The bolt that struck the flagpole shot off about a foot above the roof of the building and went to the ground. Little Cora Marlette, daughter of Officer Marlette, was in the basement standing near a window and seemed to get the effects stronger than any one else in the building. Her injuries are not serious. Rudolph Courts was not quite so fortunate. He was at work painting a new house. The lightning struck the chimney, knocking him down. He did not get over the shock for four hours. No such electrical storm has been witnessed in ten years.

Damage Done at Other Places.

At the same time lightning struck the school a two-story frame building at the corner of Cross and Edward streets was set on fire by lightning. No one was injured in the house, but the building was damaged $200 before the blaze was extinguished. The contents were also damaged about $100. John Bitcher owned the building and Charles H. Ovitz occupied the place as a dwelling.

The Lincoln Park Sanitarium was also visited by the fluid. While the storm was at its height lightning struck the flag-staff over the front of the building and communicated to the roof. The shock splintered the pole and scattered pieces of it twenty-five or thirty yards away. The most serious damage was to the roof in which a great hole was ripped and torn. No one was injured. The lightning played dangerously with the dynamos and electrical apparatus in the basement, but no injury was done. The total damage will not exceed $300.

The two-story frame dwelling of M. Rassmann, No. 1213 Wolfram street, was struck at 2 o'clock and in the fire that resulted the roof was damaged to the extent of $300. Several members of the family were in the house, but no one was injured.

The grocery and dwelling of Frank Grieg, No. 1024 Belmont avenue, was also struck. A small hole was torn in the roof, resulting in a damage of about $25. No one was injured.

The unoccupied building, No. 241 Jackson street, was visited by the lightning. The electricity was communicated to the motor in the basement, but no damage resulted.

Lightning struck the two-story frame building owned and occupied by Dr. Grotfriend at No. 1515 Clifton avenue at 12:45 o'clock in the afternoon. No one was injured, but the building was damaged about $50. The Fire Department was called out, but the place did not catch fire.

MANUFACTURERS TO LEAVE CHICAGO.

Several Concerns Declare Local Ordinances Oppress Them.

Several Chicago manufacturers have resolved to move their factories outside the city limits. The reasons given are excessive taxation, extra expense for fuel on account of the smoke ordinance, activity of professional labor agitators, and the distractions of Sunday amusements, beer gardens, and gaming houses, which operate to keep employés away from their work Mondays. Among the concerns which have decided to seek relief in the suburbs are the David Bradley Manufacturing company, which is considering sites at Waukegan and on the belt line west of there, and Lanz, Owen & Co., who will locate near Waukegan. The latter firm has an offer of $75,000 to occupy a certain site, but has not yet accepted it.

ASSETS OF THE EXPOSITION COMPANY.

Acting Auditor Barrington Issues His Monthly Report.

Acting Auditor Barrington of the Exposition company issued yesterday his April monthly report. There are, however, estimates up to May 2. On that date Mr. Barrington states the net liabilities of the company to be $29,661, leaving a balance of assets to the amount of $1,446,085. Mr. Barrington adds that the total expenditures to date have been $27,217,112. Expenditures during the month were $65,311.

SECRET ORDERS HELP UNION LABOR.

Will Not March with Non-Union Potters at East Liverpool, O., Memorial Day.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., May 15.—[Special.]—A number of secret societies here have adopted strong resolutions against marching Memorial day with non-union potters.

C. F. STOKES DROPS A WAD AT POKER.

Men Who Roped Him In Tricked and Arrested—One Albert Guyon.

Charles F. Stokes, President of the Stokes Bicycle Manufacturing company, told the police he had lost $1,267 and a $300 diamond at poker while playing with L. L. Lewis, Superintendent of a mine at Butte, Mont., and three of the latter's friends, Board of Trade men. Detectives were placed in an adjoining room in a Dearborn street hotel during another game and they arrested Mr. Lewis and his friends. Lewis was recognized by the police as Albert Guyon. The others gave their names as Henry Dunn, Benjamin Lewis, and J. S. Fosher. The prisoners were charged with conspiracy and swindling. The gang is the same one that did up an aged West-Sider for $15,000 two years ago while teaching him how to beat a faro bank.

KATIE SAID TO BE A CLEVER LIAR.

Woman Declares She Has Smallpox and Gets a Free Ride.

PEORIA, Ill., May 15.—[Special.]—Katie Keily today, in the court-house, declared she was suffering from smallpox. A panic almost followed. She was badly broken out and physicians who were called said all the symptoms were there. Tonight she was shipped to Chicago on the Rock Island train at 11:30, but before going declared the statement that she had smallpox was false and made for the purpose of securing a free ride to Chicago.

[Health officials will be at the Rock Island Depot this morning to see Katie when she arrives.]

VACCINE POINTS SAID TO BE POISONOUS.

Score of People Said to Have Been Made Ill at Fort Wayne, Ind.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., May 15.—[Special.]—A score of people are lying ill in this city from the effects of poisonous virus used in vaccination. It is said the vaccine points used here are nearly all obtained at Oak Park, Ill., a suburb of Chicago. Leonard Maddux, the 6-year-old son of Allen Maddux, foreman of the wrecking train of the New York, Chicago and St. Louis railroad, died here yesterday from blood poisoning resulting from vaccination.

SPARKS FROM THE WIRES.

Father O'Grady, murderer of pretty Mary Gilmartin, is starving himself to death in the Cincinnati jail.

Nim Young, colored, was lynched in Ocala, Fla., yesterday for assaulting Lizzie Weems, a 16-year-old white girl.

Dave Williams, the murderer of Mrs. Sue McNally in Fort Worth, Tex., killed himself yesterday to escape arrest.

John Bennon died near Wesley, Tex., from eating poisoned food, and his wife is under arrest charged with the crime.

The government closed its case against the Coffins at Indianapolis yesterday, and the defense will now have its inning.

By the wreck of a Big Four freight train at Springfield, O., yesterday four men were injured and a loss of $25,000 sustained.

John Dyall shot and killed his nephew, William McEachem, and wounded Andrew McEachem at Baxley, Ga., yesterday.

A testimonial is being prepared by his former employés for the Hon. Frank W. Palmer, recently succeeded as Public Printer by Mr. Benedict.

Melican Gonzales was stabbed nine times by Juan Anacio in Western Texas yesterday. Anacio escaped across the Mexican line. Both were desperadoes.

Twenty thousand visitors attended the dedication of the Odd-Fellows' Temple in Cincinnati yesterday. The Grand Lodge listened to an address by Mayor Caldwell in the new temple.

The Rio Grande Northern railway announces that within ten days work will begin on the construction of the road to connect the Southern Pacific with the San Carlos coal beds and it will be completed in six months.

Democrats Realize They Have a Fight Before Them.

SECOND DAY AT DANVILLE

Lawyer Calhoun Wins the Legal Honors in the Argument.

SHOWS PLAINTIFF'S RIGHT.

BOOM FOR BLAND FOR PRESIDENT.

DANVILLE, Ill., May 5.—[Special.]—The Democrats are greatly afraid Judge Bookwalter will grant the petitioner's request for an injunction in the apportionment suit now on trial here. They were at first inclined to ridicule this suit, saying it was a dark lantern litigation unworthy of notice. Then they regarded the matter in a more serious light, and made preparations to fight. The suit brought by the Populist before Judge Creighton at Springfield was intended to bring both apportionments into the Supreme Court, and by induction at least to deprive this action of its importance. As the arguments progressed here the Democrats became aroused to the exigencies of the situation. They are now resolved to force the contest in the suit of Blair. This is an application for a writ of mandamus on the Secretary of State, and May 25 has been made the return day. Attorney-General Moloney said today there would be filed in the Circuit Court of Sangamon County a stipulation that the writ be returned Friday of this week. The issues would then be made up and Judge Creighton, he had no doubt, would begin the hearing at once. The Democrats now appreciate to the fullest extent the fact that they have a lawsuit on their hands and must use every means at hand to protect themselves. Capt. Hunt and W. J. Calhoun will appear before Judge Creighton on the trial of the case of Blair vs. Hinrichsen Secretary of State. They will ask to be heard and the request will in all probability be granted them. Hunt and Calhoun will not seek to complicate the case by offering to file demurrers or amended answers. They will admit the validity of the suit both as to the standing of the plaintiff as a legislative candidate and the jurisdiction of the court.

Court Opens to a Full House.

The second day's proceedings began this morning promptly at 9 o'clock. Just at that particular minute Judge Bookwalter took the bench and the bailiff opened court. Ordinarily the opening of a court in a city is attended with numerous whacks of a mallet or gavel, but the citizens of Vermillion are a peaceful lot and the bailiff brings order with a few little taps of a lead pencil. He called out: "O yez. O yez. The Circuit Court of Vermillion County is now in session pursuant to adjournment," and Mr. Wilson, the attorney for County Clerk Tuttle, the defendant, stepped to the bar of the court. The court-room was unusually well crowded. Besides the parties in quest and their attorneys quite a number of the prominent citizens of the town had come in to hear the argument.

The plaintiff, Fletcher, has been here ever since the trial began. He was a member of the House during the last General Assembly and made a good record. He is intensely interested in this suit, and is anything but a figurehead. Mr. Tuttle, the defendant, is the Circuit Clerk of Vermilion County and finds it convenient to be in the court-room the greater part of the time. Capt. Hunt sits at his desk all through the arguments. He has paid the strictest attention to the suit, making copious notes of the authorities as they are brought to the attention of the court and the new points as they are involved. Gen. Moloney is the central figure of the lawsuit, and is getting ready to make a great effort tomorrow. The General does not seem to have a high opinion of this particular case, but he has been called into it, and will probably say some pretty sharp things about it in the morning. He is going to spread himself at Springfield when the Populist case comes up, and in the meantime will devote his attention to putting a crimp or two in the backs of a few trusts.

Mr. Wilson Furnishes a Surprise.

Mr. Wilson is the State's-Attorney of Vermilion County and he is a Republican. The Democrats have been disposed to have a little fun with him, and assert that his inclinations were one way but his duty in another direction. Today he surprised the Democratic lawyers by making a speech in which he clearly demonstrated his familiarity with the question at issue, and showed that he had given the matter a good deal of thought. He talks quick and fast, and it was with difficulty the shorthand writers could keep pace with him. He began with a few remarks of a general nature, the purport of which was to disclaim any feeling in the premises on the grounds of politics and to bring the matter down to the real issue at hand. He said it was nothing more or less than a cold, naked fact of law involved in a suit in chancery where the plaintiff complains of a grievance inflicted on him by the defendant. There is nothing of sentiment in it, and it should be shorn of all bias, individual feeling, and prejudice. It was a constitutional question, one which should receive the most careful consideration at the hands of the court because of the vast interests affected.

He claimed it was an effort on the part of the plaintiff to get the court to usurp the powers of the legislative department. The apportionment had been made by a Legislature in accordance with constitutional requirements, and it was not in the province of the court to interfere in such case unless gross fraud be shown. This he denied, and at great length introduced figures to show that the representation in the various districts had been in strict conformity with the requirements of the Constitution on that proposition. He then took a map showing the Senatorial apportionment, and running through the districts endeavored to convince Judge Bookwalter that without exception they were made of compact and contiguous territory, county lines being considered. He said every county in the State had to go in some Senatorial district, and the fact that they did not join their entire length was the fault of the men who laid out the counties and should not vitiate the apportionment. He had prepared himself thoroughly on all these propositions, and after dwelling on all the points involved made the open declaration that the plaintiff had no right in court at all. He was not the nominee of a party, Mr. Wilson said, nor did he stand in any position other than as a private citizen. He had no more right than any other man to bring this suit. Mr. Wilson held that the court should go slow in setting aside a legislative act of this character without the greatest public necessity, and he begged Judge Bookwalter to give the matter his most earnest consideration.

Crowd to Hear Mr. Calhoun.

Mr. Wilson talked for three hours and during all that time he held the closest attention of the court and the audience. His speech was regarded here as about as lucid an argument for the defense as could be made. He concluded just at noon, when the court adjourned for dinner. In the afternoon the crowd was a little greater than that of the morning. It was known that W. J. Calhoun was to address the court, and this gentleman is a prime favorite with everybody in this section of the State. Mr. Calhoun is a tall, fine-looking man about 40 years of age and a lawyer of marked ability. He is an exceedingly happy speaker and in the presentation of legal questions can hold his own with any one.

Mr. Calhoun had books of reference, authorities of all kinds, and decisions within easy reach. He began his remarks with a reference to the Constitution of the State and the Constitution of England. Pointing out the differences between these fundamental laws he said the Constitution of this country was easily read and available at all times, while that of England was scattered through the statute books. The question at issue was, "By whom shall an interpretation of a law be made? Shall it be done by the Legislature? Shall the Legislature determine the validity of its own acts? Shall the agent construe his own authority or should it be done by the courts?" He held that the courts had a revisory authority over the Legislature, and in support of this proposition he cited the eminent English writer Judge Bryce, Judge Cooley of this country, a decision from the Pennsylvania courts, a citation from the great speech of Daniel Webster on the independence of the judiciary, and numerous other authorities. He plumped in his authorities so quick and fast that it bothered Gen. Moloney to keep note of them.

The Lawyer at His Best.

Calhoun was at his best, and, like Wilson, he knew what he was about. He held that the judiciary had a clear power to interfere in a case of this character. It was not the act of an executive in removing a subordinate officer nor was it a purely political question. It was an act of the Legislature and surely there could be no act of the Legislature that could not be brought into court to have its validity tested. After calling attention to the coordinate branches of the State government and their relations to each other he spoke of a case in the United States court of recent origin where the rules of the House of Representatives at Washington were called into the Supreme Court of the United States to see if they were proper under the Constitution.

This rather startled Gen. Moloney and he wanted to know if Mr. Calhoun thought that the Supreme Court could change the rules of the House of Representatives. Mr. Calhoun said he did not know, but he could conceive of no legislative enactment that was exempt from judicial construction. In support of this proposition he handed in an extract from a decision by Chief Justice Fuller which was squarely to the point and sustained him thoroughly. He then took up the Wisconsin apportionment case, which was in line with the precedents he had cited, and proceeded to take the wind out of the sails of the attorneys for the defense, who were going to spring the old case of Mark Sheridan against Mayor Colvin. He showed that this case was not applicable to the one on trial, thereby knocking a prop from under Gen. Moloney's structure. In conclusion Mr. Calhoun suggested a number of authorities to sustain the proposition that the plaintiff had a perfect right to bring this action.

This proposition seems to be somewhat in doubt in the mind of the court because Judge Bookwalter asked Mr. Calhoun if he thought the plaintiff, Fletcher, could complain of the operation of the statute in any part of the State. Mr. Calhoun said he did not know as to that, but he was satisfied that he had a cause of action in Vermilion County and presently the court wanted to know if the plaintiff had a complaint as against a specific wrong. Mr. Calhoun said he thought a specific wrong was contemplated and he was satisfied in his own mind that the plaintiff was properly in court. He had authorities innumerable in support of every proposition he advanced and he was never at a loss to find them. He had given the case a great deal of thought and he knew what he was about every time. He talked about an hour and a half, but in that hour and a half he advanced a great deal of law and suggested some puzzling propositions, which set the Attorney-General thinking. Calhoun is justly regarded as one of the leaders of the bar in this section of the State and his effort today was in keeping with his reputation.

E. R. Kimbrough to the Front.

So soon as Mr. Calhoun had concluded Mr. E. R. Kimbrough addressed the court. For many years Kimbrough, Calhoun, and Joe Mann were the three men of all others at the Vermilion County bar. Two of the trio were on one side of every lawsuit and the odd fellow on the other. Calhoun and Mann have drifted away from Danville, attracted by the large and remunerative fees incident to a splendid practice of the profession in the courts of Cook County. Kimbrough is an exceedingly good lawyer, an excellent speaker, and a man of fine presence. He began his remarks in the midst of a good, old-fashioned thunderstorm, with the rain coming down in torrents. The lightning was playing around the old court-house, and the thunder was rolling as it only does in the country, but Kimbrough could be heard above the storm. After stating in brief the issue involved in the case he read the provision of the Constitution with regard to Senatorial apportionment. His idea in brief is simply this:

The Constitution declared that the Senatorial apportionment should be made of compact and contiguous territory upon a basis of representation with due regard to county lines. He held that this had been done, after which he went to great length in trying to convince the court that this was a case in which the court had no right to interfere with the powers of the Legislature. He had a great many authorities, but none of any particular moment except those produced by his colleagues yesterday and this morning. He denied the right of the complainant to ask relief at the hands of the court, saying he had no better standing than any other private citizen. He devoted quite a little time to the Michigan apportionment case, and held that in many respects it was not analogous to this.

Outlines the Defense's Propositions.

The propositions advanced by the defense, he said, were ten in number, and he briefly and tersely showed the points on which the defendants relied. They were as follows:

First—Under our Constitution the powers of government are distributed among their coordinate branches, executive, legislative, and judicial, and each is supreme within its own domain, except as otherwise expressly provided by the Constitution.

Second—The power of apportioning the State is a political power and its exercise is a great prerogative right.

Third—The fact that this duty is committed to the Legislature raises a conclusive presumption that the Constitution intended to grant discretion to them in the formation of districts.

Fourth—No power to pass upon political acts of the executive or legislative department has been conferred upon the judicial department of the government by the Constitution.

Fifth—That were this discretion reposed, and of necessity reposed in the Legislature, committed to a minor administrative board as in Ohio, the manner of its exercise would not be subject to review or controlled by the court; hence, much less can this discretion be reviewed when it is committed to the Legislature.

Sixth—Unless the Legislature openly, plainly, palpably, and unquestionably violates the letter of the Constitution there is no authority in the court to declare an apportionment void.

Seventh—Every presumption is in favor of the constitutionality of the act, and the court must say it has no doubt of the violation of the letter of the Constitution before it will be justified in setting the act aside.

Eighth—We contend that the leaning and intention of the people at the time the Constitution was framed must stand.

Ninth—Great weight must be given to the contemporaneous construction put upon the Constitution by the legislative and executive branches of this government, and that construction, as evidenced by the apportionments of 1871 and 1882, favors the act of 1893.

Tenth—If the act of 1893 is void, then, also, are the acts of 1871 and 1882, and the State has no apportionment.

Mr. Kimbrough concluded his argument by an expression of profound respect for the courts. He said: "If it was once understood that the political acts of the government were subject to review by the judiciary, the judiciary would become the football of rival political factions. If the judiciary got into the vortex of politics it would be subjected to odious criticism. When confidence in the integrity and impartiality of the courts has been destroyed we might exclaim with Talleyrand: 'It is the beginning of the end.' So long as the coordinate branches of the government keep within their proper domains jealousies cannot occur and the government will endure. If one department encroached upon the other the true balance of power would be lost and chaos would come."

It was after 5 o'clock when Mr. Kimbrough concluded, and the court promptly adjourned until tomorrow morning, when Attorney-General Moloney and Capt. Hunt will close the case.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 15.—[Special.]—In the Populist Senatorial apportionment case Assistant Attorney-General Newell today entered the appearance of the Secretary of State and asked Judge Creighton to set the case for hearing Friday next. This request Judge Creighton declined to grant, saying there were other cases ahead of this one and it would not come up in the regular order by that time. It is probable, however, that another effort will be made to have the case heard on that date in order that it may be hurried along and get to the Supreme Court in time for the June term.

BOOM FOR BLAND FOR PRESIDENT.

Launched by Gov. Stone at the Missouri Democratic State Convention.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 15.—The Democratic State convention opened here this afternoon, and with it a boom for Bland for President was started. At 9 o'clock tonight the Committee on Resolutions reported that it could not reach an agreement on the silver plank, and then the nominating speeches were begun, the platform being left in abeyance.

The committee returned before any nominations were made and submitted two reports. The majority report declared for tariff for revenue only and favored the income tax as provided in the Wilson bill. It demanded the free coinage of both gold and silver and favored readjusting the ratio if necessary to maintain the two metals in circulation.

The last plank is a slap at the A. P. A. The minority report substituted the declarations of the last Democratic National convention for the silver plank of the majority report.

The following candidates were nominated tonight:

Judge of the Supreme Court, Francis M. Black.
Superintendent of Schools, W. T. Carrington.

At midnight it looked as if the session would last all night.

When Gov. Stone, who was made Permanent Chairman, arose to speak about the first thing he uttered was a denial of Temporary Chairman Trimble's propositions. State conventions, he declared, expressed the thought of the people of the State, which was crystallized at national conventions. He was sorry rumor made him a candidate for United States Senator, a position he did not seek. When he retired from the Governorship, he said emphatically, it would be to return to private life. But, regarding the report which connected Congressman Bland with the Presidential nomination of 1896, he wished to say the people could not nominate a more conscientious, faithful, and devoted servant. No better man had ever been elected to public office. He was worthy of the highest confidence, and if the speaker ever had an opportunity he would gladly support him, as he would any other honest, representative Western Democrat for that high office.

Responding to a call during a lull in the proceedings Congressman Hall took the floor. He was in favor of a free and unlimited coinage of silver, but did not believe it was the duty of the Missouri Democracy to make an exposition of that principle in its platform. That, he believed, was the work of delegates properly instructed, by their constituents, to the national convention. Congressman Tarsney came next and confined himself to the tariff, incidentally eulogizing President Cleveland, whom he called the apostle of the tariff reform and giving Senator Hill a side thrust.

"There was a Valley Forge before Yorktown," he went on. "A Bull Run before Appomattox," and then, with measured emphasis, "There was a Benedict Arnold before—— Gentlemen of the convention, pardon me if legislative courtesy forbids me to carry the parallel further."

Here the convention roared and shouted loudly and repeatedly, "Hill."

Populists Nominate Coxey for Congress.

CANTON, O., May 15.—[Special.]—J. S. Coxey, the originator of the commonweal, was nominated here today by the Populists for Congress from the Eighteenth District. A plank in the platform adopted denounced the May 1st action of the Washington police in attacking and assaulting Browne and his crowd. Another indorses the Coxey commonweal movement. These were simply inserted in the national platform. The old split in the party between State Secretary Martin and ex-Chairman H. F. Barnes was renewed.

Anti-Cleveland Democrats Ousted.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 15.—[Special.]—Sheriff August Beck and Deputy Controller John H. Ludwig, with about forty other anti-Cleveland Democrats, were expelled from the Cleveland Democracy, the local organization of the President's followers, for alleged failure to pay dues. Several months ago the Sheriff, who belongs to the Sheehan faction, levied upon the furnishings of the Democracy for a small judgment. The Clevelandites now retaliate.

Peoria Democrats Hold Their Convention.

PEORIA, Ill., May 15.—[Special.]—The Democrats of Peoria County held their convention in this city this afternoon. Instructions were given the State delegates to vote for Nick Worthington, Judge of the Circuit Court, for United States Senator. The Judge was present and made an address. The Congressional delegates were instructed to secure the nomination of a Peoria County man, though no one was suggested.

Congressman Conn Willing to Run Again.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 15.—[Special.]—Representative Conn of Indiana is receiving letters from his constituents to accept a renomination for Congress. He stated some time ago that he would not again be a candidate. These requests from political friends not to refuse have induced him to announce that he will take the nomination if given him.

Congressman W. I. Hayes Renominated.

DAVENPORT, Ia., May 15.—[Special.]—The Democratic convention of the Second Congressional District was held here today. Walter I. Hayes, the only Democrat in the present Congress who hails from Iowa, was renominated for a fifth term on the first formal ballot.

Must Provide Free School Books.

COLUMBUS, O., May 15.—[Special.]—The Griffin bill providing for free school books in Ohio passed the Senate and is now a law. It provides that each Board of Education must furnish the necessary school books free of charge to be paid for out of the contingent fund at the disposal of the board.

Iowa Republican Convention July 11.

DES MOINES, Ia., May 15.—[Special.]—The Republican State Central committee met here today and called the State Convention for July 11 at Des Moines.

Political Notes.

Congressman John Dalzell and William A. Stone were renominated yesterday by the conventions of the Twenty-second and Twenty-third Districts respectively.

The Democrats of Jackson County, Ill., held their convention yesterday at Murphysboro. Senatorial delegates were instructed for Maj. H. P. Burroughs. Other delegates were not instructed. The nomination of a United States Senator in the State convention was favored.

CONGREGATIONALISTS WILL CELEBRATE

Preparing for a Fiftieth Anniversary at Pecatonica, Ill., to Begin May 21.

PECATONICA, Ill., May 15.—The fiftieth anniversary of the organization of the General Congregational Association of Churches of Illinois will be held in the Oak Park Congregational Church May 21 to 24, inclusive. Dr. Willard Scott, pastor of South Park Congregational Church, is to preach the opening sermon Monday evening, May 21. Dr. W. A. Waterman of Geneseo, Past Moderator, will call the meeting to order for business at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning. The following three days and evenings the large Oak Park church and the neighboring Presbyterian church, tendered for the occasion, will be made lively by the varied program of exercises.

Bishop Henn Wins His Libel Suit.

CLEVELAND, O., May 15.—A heavy verdict for libel was rendered in common pleas court today in a case growing out of the Debs-Esher Evangelical church warfare. Dr. W. Horne, editor of Der Bottschafter, in commenting on a certain phase of the case, applied the German word "falschen" to certain of Bishop Henn's acts. Suit was brought against Dr. Horne by Bishop Henn, who demanded $25,000 damages. The jury seemed to think the word used was intended to mean forger and gave Bishop Henn a verdict for $6,000.

Iowa United Workmen in Session.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., May 15.—The Grand Lodge, Ancient Order United Workmen, Iowa, opened its session today at Marion. Grand Master L. T. Hanks' report showed that during the last two years $400,000 had been paid to beneficiaries and 8,586 membership certificates issued.

May Pay Westinghouse People.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 15.—Judge Jenkins made an order today authorizing the Northern Pacific receivers to pay the Westinghouse Air-Brake company $40,206 to liquidate an indebtedness contracted previous to Feb. 15, 1893.

ROCKFORD WELCOMES THE WARRIOR CITIZENS OF ILLINOIS.

Fifty Thousand People Cheer the Long Line of Grand Army Men and the Voices of Five Thousand School Children Are Heard in Loyal Anthems—Politicians Buzz Their Claims in Soldier Ears—Bloomington Will Get the Next State Encampment.

ROCKFORD, Ill., May 15.—[Special.]—Given a stone wall and a sniff of gunpowder and the veterans of the Illinois G. A. R. who are attending their twenty-eighth annual encampment could today have imagined themselves at Gettysburg. It was hot and army blue was on every side. This was the day of the parade, the big day of the encampment, and it was highly satisfactory from every point of view.

Fifty thousand people saw 2,100 soldiers march by with the same precision that marked the dress parades of thirty odd years ago, and the demonstration was pronounced the most successful of the kind ever held in the State.

Rockford never saw such a crowd as was here today and may not see another like it for many a year. Men of national prominence were there to be cheered by the enthusiastic thousands who lined the streets and a stirring feature was the review of the procession by 5,000 school children. Altogether it was a memorable day that will find a place in Rockford's archives. Everything was well managed so that there were no awkward hitches to mar the proceedings.

Fifteen minutes before the command to move was given Col. Lawler announced the formation of the column and took occasion to say to his old comrades: "The line of march is a short one; we are not so young as we were thirty years ago, but every man able to walk should be in the ranks. On one of our squares there will be massed 5,000 school children, and this should be made an object lesson to them. Let them have reason to be proud of the men who fought so gallantly to save them a great Nation in which to live."

Imposing Lines of Veterans.

Three bands, one of them from Belvidere led by a woman, then took turns playing while the column formed, and at 3 o'clock the order to march was given. The order was as follows:

Chief of Police Bargren.
Platoon of police.
Battalion of Third Regiment, I. N. G., commanded by Lieut.-Col. Wildt.
G. L. Nevius Post No. 1, G. A. R.
Visiting G. A. R. Posts.
Rockford Military Band.
Columbia Post No. 706.
Escort of Department Commander Blodgett and staff in carriages.
Twelve hundred delegates to the encampment.
Commander-in-Chief Adams and staff in carriages.
Gen. Fairchild, Gen. Weissert, ex-Gov. Fifer, Corporal Tanner, Gen. McNulta, and other distinguished veterans in carriages.
Officers of W. R. C. in carriages.
Officers of Ladies of G. A. R. in carriages.
Rear guard.

The visiting posts, except those detailed as escorts, were arranged in their numerical order, so that there were no jealousies and no contentions for advantageous positions in the line. The streets were so thick with people from the center of the street to the house walls that when Columbia Post, eight abreast, swung into place it had difficulty in pressing through the throng. Each familiar old tattered battle flag was greeted with loud cheers, and the big men in the procession were made glad they were there by resounding cheers. The procession wound around sides of Haskell Park, whose terraced sides were covered with thousands of white dressed children, who arose when the head of the column reached them and cheered lustily as they waved flags. Then they struck up "Marching Through Georgia" and "Three Cheers for the Red, White, and Blue" in grand chorus, and the old men in the ranks were carried away by the unprecedented sight. Some of them let tears trickle down their cheeks, while others threw their hats in the air and shouted till they could shout no more.

At this point also Commander-in-Chief Adams and a few other dignitaries drew out of the ranks and reviewed the parade. The whole scene was inspiring, made the more so by the fact that the section of Rockford through which the Grand Army was passing is one great park. There are no dividing fences between the great lawns that surround the houses, and these green spots were covered, every foot of them, by men, women, and children. The morning was consumed in receiving visitors who arrived on all regular and some special trains. The Rockford Band traversed the streets between headquarters and the depots a dozen times, each time leading a fresh delegation to the Nelson Hotel. Portly Dr. McAfee was master of ceremonies on all these occasions, and though compelled by bountiful nature to push a heavy weight in front of him his step was as springy as that of any lithe youth of 20. In squads of from five to fifty the veterans dropped into town until Belvidere post, with its own band, came in, 100 strong.

Chicago Posts Take the Lead.

These old fellows brought out the first strong cheers of the day until the Chicago posts formed in line, with Columbia at the head. Then Rockford showed what it could do in the way of yelling, and the Chicago men were forced to doff their hats in recognition of their warm reception. Right up to the time of the parade, 3 o'clock, the old soldiers continued to come into town, and they are still coming, too late to take part in the spectacular part of the encampment, but anxious to participate in the fight for offices by casting votes for their favorites. Long before noon the hotels were filled to overflowing, five to a room being the rule, and then the excellent provisions made by the citizens became apparent. Whole delegations were given cards at a bureau of information and escorted to private houses, where they found accommodations at reasonable rates, money for board and lodging being refused in many instances. They were all comfortably lodged long before nightfall and left free to look over the beautiful little city on the picturesque banks of the Rock River at their own pleasure.

One of the conspicuous figures, both in the parade and in the hotel rotunda, was Jack Crawford, the poet scout. Simultaneously with his appearance books containing his poems, sonnets, and stories were offered for sale, and he probably managed to pay expenses while here. His buckskin coat, which he wore on parade, is a long affair cut in Prince Albert style, and it caught the fancy of the Rockford small boy. Next to Crawford, Hendershott, the drummer boy of Shiloh, occupied the public eye. Hendershott is getting a big boy now, and today he looked brave in a gorgeous pair of white corduroy trousers, a blue jacket, and a French military cap, all elaborately covered with designs in gold and black braid. Hendershott never drummed harder than he did today as he marched along in the ranks. A plumb line dropped from his head would have struck the ground two feet behind his heels. He had a fifer with him who is still young enough to be the piper boy of some future battle field, dressed in the same resonant way, and the two evoked more enthusiasm than all the brass bands put together. There were other minor celebrities, too, who attracted attention here and there, one being no less a person than "Rickety Dan," otherwise known as Bill Newby, who attained fame by getting into the courts and prison on account of his pension. A quarter of a hundred people swear that he is the original "Bill" Newby, while an equal number of people say positively that old Bill is dead and this man is an impostor omnipresent. Most of them were gray-bearded old fellows, with gold-braided hats, badge-covered coats, and tremendous lungs, who told their auditors how they had bled for their country from Bull Run to Appomattox and then sold war songs.

Politicians Fixing Up Fences.

The encampment attracted many politicians who are working for the votes of the veterans. Most of them were bent on fixing up the fences of local officers, but there were some big guns here, too. Gen. Smith D. Atkins of Freeport, who is a candidate for State Treasurer, was up at an early hour circulating among his friends, who are thick in these parts. Gen. Atkins is not wholly pleased at the way things were carried on in the Cook County Republican convention. He makes no complaint personally, but his supporters say they detect in the resolutions passed there a combination between Senator Cullom and Henry Wulff. They don't blame Wulff, but they think Cullom might have kept his hands off, all the more so since he had, tacitly at least, promised to remain neutral if he did not support Atkins. Henry Dement of Dixon, former Secretary of State and Warden of the penitentiary, is also here. He apparently has more business than one man can comfortably attend to during the busy times of a Grand Army encampment. Ex-Gov. Fifer, of course, was compelled to talk politics at times, but he confined himself principally to booming Bloomington for the next encampment. The ex-Governor's political friends are taking a deep interest in this matter because they say it would not hurt him to have the encampment at his home—should he care to enter the political field for Governor, for instance, next year.

There is no mistaking the feeling that exists in the fight for offices. It is warm and growing warmer all the time. A few days ago it appeared to be a walkover for Gen. Woods for Department Commander, and even tonight that gentleman said he was sure of victory; that he was gaining strength, not losing it. This does not accord with the statements of Gen. McDowell's adherents. The Pontiac man seems to be gaining votes every hour, and some of the Woods men are in a panic. They feel their strength ebbing away and say it is due to trading and combinations, which they do not seem to be able to prevent. They claim that by this trading Walcott of Chicago will be defeated for Senior Vice-Commander and Keeler elected. This would also prove a surprise to many, as a few days ago Walcott's election seemed to be assured. It would be strange, at any rate, if Chicago should be entirely ignored in the election. For Junior Vice-Commander John B. Inman of Springfield seems to have the whiphand over Barnum of Waukegan, several posts having declared for him tonight. He will poll many votes from Chicago that were counted as sure for the Waukegan candidate. Trading, however, may affect this race as it has that for Senior Vice, and the result will be in doubt until the vote is counted.

The Department Commander, Senior Vice-Commander, and Junior Vice-Commander are elected on the same ballot, so that if there are unkept pledges there will be surprises when the names of the winners are given out. The talk of a dark horse was not strong today and as Gen. Rinaker is not on the ground there are many who scout at his candidacy. He may be heard from, however, as his friends are suspiciously quiet and self-satisfied. The fight on Woods is due to the claim that he will remove the headquarters from Chicago to Joliet if elected.

Bloomington will probably get the next encampment without a contest, as the advocates of Quincy seem to have weakened since looking over the ground. Besides Quincy has already had the encampment, while Bloomington never had it.

Louisville has the best wishes of every man here for the national encampment. St. Paul's ice palace will be cracked up for mint juleps, so far as Illinois is concerned, if the Illinoisans continue in their present state of mind.

The encampment brought here more than twenty-five members of the Naval Veteran Association who live in Illinois. They took part in the parade today and subsequently held a meeting at which it was decided to meet again tomorrow and organize. The Court Street M. E. Church and the Opera-House were crowded tonight by citizens anxious to hear the campfire stories and songs. The programs were the same at both places. Charles A. Works delivered the welcoming speeches and the principal addresses were made by ex-Gov. Fifer and Gen. Fairchild, while Gen. McNulta and others spun yarns and recited. Tomorrow will be devoted to business of the order and the nomination of officers.

[Commander J. G. B. Adams' escort from the Auditorium Hotel to the Illinois Central Station yesterday consisted of 250 men of U. S. Grant Post No. 22, in full uniform. A special train left for Rockford with the party. America Post No. 708, G. A. R., will leave for Rockford this morning over the St. Paul road, Commander Humphrey J. Moynihan in charge. The post is supporting Lawler for Commander-in-Chief and Woods for Department Commander.]

DEPARTMENT OF OHIO ASSEMBLES.

Gov. McKinley and Col. Fred Grant Meet the Veterans.

CANTON, O., May 15.—[Special.]—The Ohio Department G. A. R. was visited by Indiana today. The visitors were Department Commander A. D. Marsh, his assistant, Adjutant-General R. M. Smook, and State Adjutant-General Robins. They all spoke at both the G. A. R. and W. R. C. conventions. The day was occupied in preliminaries and reports, and actual business opens tomorrow. Department Commander Williams' address was extensive and reviewed at length all the departments for the year. With a view to making the perpetuity of the order more secure he advocated closer relations with the Sons of Veterans, and would have the regulations so changed that sons may have the right of visitation to all G. A. R. meetings.

Gov. McKinley and staff arrived this evening and were given a rousing reception as he was driven behind a band to his headquarters. Col. Fred Grant arrived this evening, as did also Gen. Gibson. A reception was held at the opera-house tonight to all the visitors. Gov. McKinley and Mayor Cassidy delivered addresses of welcome, which were responded to by the presiding officers of the various societies in session here. The crowd is already large and the officers expect that of tomorrow will be the largest ever gathered at the Ohio encampment.

WANT TO ENFORCE THE SUNDAY LAWS.

Resolutions Passed and Speeches Made in the People's Institute.

Twenty-five hundred people gathered in the People's Institute last night and adopted resolutions to begin a movement to enforce the Sunday laws violated by saloons, theaters, dance-houses, ball players, and all other infractors. Speeches were made by leading ministers, a generous collection to aid the work was taken up, and many enrolled their names as members of the International Sunday Observance League, under whose auspices the meeting was held.

On the program were printed the questions which were to be discussed. They were: "Shall the Moral and Christian Element Govern, or the Immoral and Vicious?" "Which Shall Govern the State: the State or the City?" What those present thought of them after listening to speeches was expressed in the following resolutions, which were carried by a rising vote:

WHEREAS, The statutes of Illinois require a just and proper observance of Sunday in the city, and,

WHEREAS, The Sunday legislation is openly and shamelessly violated by thousands of open saloons, by crowded theaters, public dance halls, and similar places of amusement, by the unnecessary employment of thousands of men, women, and children in factories, stores, and other places of business by the prosecution of numberless enterprises where labor of all kinds is required, by the almost universal practice of ball playing by the youths of this city in its most public places with its attendant evils, and,

WHEREAS Such violation of Sunday laws is a menace to the peace and good order of society as well a danger to our government and its institutions; and,

WHEREAS, Such flagrant violations of statute law governing the observance of Sunday tend to breed a contempt for all laws and lead to lawlessness in general; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the members of the International Sunday Observance League and the people of the West Side in mass-meeting assembled, sincerely deplore the present condition of affairs in this city regarding the observance of Sunday and view with alarm the loss of respect and veneration for Sunday which such a condition of things as above described must necessarily entail. Be it further

Resolved, That we will individually and collectively use our utmost endeavor in every legitimate way to secure a legal and proper observance of Sunday.

Arnold Heap presided and the Rev. Dr. Withrow was the first speaker. "If the executive of the city would enforce the laws for the observance of the Sabbath there would be no need for further legislation for the next generation," he said. "We could dismiss legislation from the State so far as good order was concerned, and I don't know but we could get along without the City Council. The executive should enforce the laws."

The Rev. Dr. Painter, the Rev. Dr. E. P. Goodwin, the Rev. Kittredge Wheeler, and Chairman Heap made speeches urging unity.

SCARCITY OF COAL CLOSES A FACTORY.

Over Three Hundred People Are Consequently Thrown Out of Work.

The coal famine is at last felt in Chicago sufficiently to close one factory. The David Bradley Manufacturing company has been compelled to put out its fires and temporarily lay off its 350 employés. "We were compelled to suspend work," said J. Harley Bradley, yesterday, "because we could not get our usual supplies of coal. It is probable that we might have picked up occasional small lots, but even these were not certain, and at the prices asked our fuel would have cost us an advance of $30 per day. Considering the condition of business this additional expense was not justified, especially when we knew that a steady supply was not assured even at the figures quoted. As soon as commercial coal comes on the market again we shall resume."

CLEW TO INCENDIARY.

PROOF THAT THE TABERNACLE WAS SET ON FIRE.

Among the Organ Pipes an Unknown Man Was Seen, Shortly Before the Flames Broke Out, by the Organist and a Man in the Congregation—Police at Work on the Evidence Furnished Them—Director Barney of Northern Pacific Testifies of Chicago Terminals.

NEW YORK, May 15.—[Special.]—The belief that the destruction of the Brooklyn Tabernacle was caused by an incendiary is growing to an almost absolute certainty in Brooklyn. A son of Thomas G. Shearman, the lawyer, furnished a clew today. He informed the police that Charles Coogan, an insurance man in New York, had told him that his son, who had been with him at the morning service in the Tabernacle Sunday morning, had said he saw a man in the loft among the organ pipes during the service. Henry Browne, the organist of the Tabernacle, said today that he also heard somebody moving about the organ pipes while the service was in progress.

Another meeting of the trustees of the Tabernacle was held this evening at the residence of Dr. Talmage. The statement was made that after a complete financial settlement there would still remain about $30,000 to the credit of the tabernacle fund. No definite action was taken concerning the rebuilding of the Tabernacle.

BARNEY TELLS OF TERMINALS.

Believed Their Exemption from Elevation Made Them Valuable.

NEW YORK, May 15.—[Special.]—Director Charles T. Barney of the Northern Pacific was again a witness today before Special Master Alfred L. Cary, who is investigating the Villard management of the company, especially the deal by which the Chicago terminals were secured in 1890. One of the properties purchased by the Northern Pacific was the Rocky Fork and Cook City railroad company. Mr. Barney said he had purchased 400 certificates of this company in January, 1890. He did this against his judgment, but he said he was persuaded to buy the stock by Mr. Villard and other officers of the Northern Pacific, who insisted that it would be a good thing for the latter company to acquire that property.

Speaking of the value of the terminal properties acquired in Chicago Mr. Barney said the bonds set aside for the deficiency in interest for the first two or three years would, in his judgment, have been ample but for the fact that times since the acquirement of the properties had unfortunately not been normal. Another feature should not be ignored in estimating the values of the terminal properties, and that was that the Northern Pacific acquired terminal tracks in Chicago which it could not be required to elevate, and that exemption he considered at the time and still considered to be of inestimable value.

Mr. Barney was asked only a few questions by Mr. McNaught with reference to the cost of mining the coal by the Rocky Fort company and then gave way to Charles H. Leland, another former director of the Northern Pacific company. Before Mr. Leland was examined Mr. Edes produced the notes which he testified had been paid and mention of which has already been made. He also handed in a copy of the agreement of the Oregon and Transcontinental company with D. S. Wegg for the purchase of the three railroad properties. The account showed receipts (in round figures) of $8,730,946 and payments for a like amount, the items comprising those totals having already been published. Mr. Edes testified that the 766 Chicago and Northern Pacific bonds given to the Oregon and Transcontinental company for commissions and expenses in acting as the financial agents of the Wisconsin Central railroad company for the proposed purchase of the consolidated and terminal properties, realized $513,593. The proceeds of those bonds went into the treasury of the North American company, which was the successor of the Oregon and Transcontinental company. Lawyer Petty went over with Mr. Leland about the same ground covered in the examination of Mr. Barney.

John A. Stewart, President of the United States Trust company, was questioned relative to the relations of his company with the Northen Pacific railway. He said that Jan. 1, 1890, the Oregon and Transcontinental company deposited with the United States Trust company $2,415,458; June 2, 1890, $6,060,126; and June 12, $5,123. On this interest was allowed at the rate of 2¼ per cent, the total amount of interest paid being $1,121. Mr. Stewart submitted a paper showing a list of the parties to whom this money was paid, the payments in each case being made upon the order of the Oregon and Transcontinental company, of which Mr. Villard was President. The witness did not see Mr. Villard while the negotiations were being carried on. Mr. Oakes had nothing to do with the transaction.

C. C. Beaman of Evarts, Choate & Beaman said that he had made a report on the Chicago Great Western on the order of Mr. Villard, the latter having cabled his instructions from Europe. He told about the action of the Board of Directors in leasing the Wisconsin Central, and about the transfer of the Northern Pacific's terminal from St. Paul to Chicago. He did not remember the discussion of the Chicago terminals. He thought well of these properties.

PENNILESS ARTIST KILLS HIMSELF.

Henry Alexander, Failing to Earn a Living by His Brush, Takes His Life.

NEW YORK, May 15.—[Special.]—Despondent because of his inability to earn a living by his brush, penniless and friendless, Henry Alexander, a young painter well known in this city, as well as in Munich and San Francisco, gave up the struggle against an adverse fate and with a draught of carbolic acid ended all his troubles early this morning. With his last few pennies he had engaged a room in the Oriental Hotel at Broadway and Thirty-ninth street Sunday night and his only baggage was a satchel, two canes, and an umbrella. He carried with him a bottle of whisky and in his satchel he also had a bottle of carbolic acid. He drank both, was found early this morning unconscious, and died a half hour later. Alexander was born in San Francisco and was about 35 years old. He studied there in Virgil Williams' school and under "Toby" Rosenthal. He went to Munich in 1879, studied under Lefts and Raupp, and after three years he returned to the Pacific coast, where he made a specialty of the Chinese quarter. Three years ago he came to this city. He had exhibited at several academy exhibitions here.

RECEIVER FOR SIMONDS COMPANY.

Big Furnace Manufacturing Concern Is Forced to Suspend.

NEW YORK, May 15.—[Special.]—Justice Barrett of the Supreme Court today appointed Charles W. Richards receiver of the Simonds Manufacturing company, makers of furnaces and heaters at No. 50 Cliff street, with a bond of $150,000 of the Lawyers' Surety company, on the application of all the trustees of the company. The nominal liabilities are $445,513, of which $179,500 is capital stock, thus leaving actual liabilities of $266,213, consisting of notes payable, $157,041; mortgages, $94,850; open accounts, $14,322. Assets $335,008, consisting of factory plant and real estate. There are more than 100 creditors. The company lost $17,000 by a branch store in Chicago. Edward C. Moffatt, the Treasurer, in an affidavit said that the company is absolutely without any cash assets to carry on its business.

GENERAL NEWS OF NEW YORK.

Experiment Made of Shipping Raw Sugar from Hawaii.

NEW YORK, May 15.—[Special.]—The experiment of shipping raw Hawaiian sugar here by sailing vessels instead of refining it and sending it by rail from San Francisco is now being tried. The ship R. D. Rice from San Francisco came to its pier today after a trip of eighteen days around the Horn. It had on board the first consignment of raw Hawaiian sugar brought to New York by ship. There were 400 tons of it. The freight rate was only $2.50 a ton. If it is found that this plan is cheaper than the sending of refined sugar from San Francisco by rail the trade by the way of Cape Horn will be benefited.

Pugilists in a Lively Fight.

There was a lively scene in the café of the Coleman House, Broadway and Twenty-seventh street, early this morning. Jack McAuliffe, the pugilist, Mike Leonard, Young Griffo, and a crowd of sporting men were all in the place drinking. Leonard was showing his friends the place formerly occupied by two teeth, but which are now out. Griffo turned to a friend of his and said he had knocked Leonard's teeth out. This was denied by the latter. McAuliffe, who is a close friend of Leonard's, defended the latter and struck Griffo full in the face. A short fight followed in which the champion had all the best of it.

Contest in Republican League.

Some lively campaigning is in progress for the Presidency of the National Republican League. The election will take place at the annual convention, to be held in Denver in June. There is promise of a lively fight between the East and the West. W. W. Tracey of Illinois, who has been President since the retirement of Gen. James S. Clarkson, is a candidate for reëlection. Col. E. A. McAlpin of this city, who was President of the New York State League for several years, is a candidate. He is said to have the indorsement of New York, Connecticut, and New Jersey, and some vigorous work is in progress to secure the entire New England delegation for him.

Lillian to Seek Separation at Once.

Lillian Russell's attorney said today that he expected her to have the papers drawn up for a legal separation from Perugini at once. There will be no divorce, as there are no grounds for such an action. It was learned today that Miss Russell has terminated her contract with Messrs. Canary and Lederer of the Casino, and has signed contracts with Messrs. Abbey, Schoeffel, and Grau to enter their grand opera company.

"Sister Mary" Received with Favor.

A good old-fashioned melodrama, in which Messrs. Barrett and Scott put it on with a trowel, is "Sister Mary," yet it seemed to please the assemblage which gathered at the American Theater this evening. The story of "Sister Mary" is of the dreadfulest penny-dreadful order. The play is based on a sad and flimsy tale, but stirring enough for all. Fortunately it was well and charmingly told by the actors.

To Limit "Future" Purchases.

Henry Clews has made a suggestion to the New York Produce Exchange that all grain trading in distant months, such as September, December, and May, 1895, be abolished and all dealings be confined to a sixty days basis. The general opinion among the brokers seems to be in favor of adopting such a plan.

COXEY MUST ACCEPT HIS SENTENCE.

The Washington Police Court Denies the Motion for a New Trial.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 15.—The trio of commonweal leaders—"Gen." Coxey, Marshal Carl Browne, and Christopher Columbus Jones—met with another rebuff in the police court today. After six hours and a half spent in arguments on the motion for a new trial Judge Miller overruled the motion and notified the defendants to appear Thursday for sentence.

Mr. Pence gave notice that he would apply to the District Supreme Court for a writ of certiorari to restrain the police court from exercising jurisdiction in the premises. The writ will also ask that the United States Marshal be restrained from obeying the order of the lower court.

The long-expected carload of provisions for the army, sent by sympathizers at Springfield, Mo., arrived in this city today, and will be sent to the camp at Bladensburg. There were several recruits to the army during the day, but the number of men seem to be dwindling gradually. There were but few visitors at the camp during the day, and the interest of the public in the doings of the army also seems to be lagging.

QUINCY, Ill., May 15.—[Special.]—Quincy is Gen. Kelly's old home, but if the commonwealers who are floating down the Des Moines River with him expect a cordial reception here on that account they are going to be mistaken. The Council last night put up the bars against them by passing an ordinance prohibiting paupers and persons with contagious diseases from entering the city.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., May 15.—A commonweal army of nearly a hundred men under Gen. Bennett has started from Fairfield, Neb., intending to build rafts here and float down the Missouri River to join Kelly's division after it reaches the Missouri. If Sanders and his army is released at Leavenworth it is expected they will join Bennett's army here and proceed down the river with the Nebraska men.

ELDON, Ia., May 15.—Kelly's army started from Ottumwa promptly at noon. It found the worst river of the trip. Tonight 100 boats are tied up half a mile below the city. The rest are scattered on shoals, rocks, and sandbars ten miles above.

LATROBE, Pa., May 15.—Galvin's demoralized army marched into town today with 146 men by actual count.

RANDALL'S MEN FED AT MILFORD.

Unusually Hearty Reception Given the Army by the Hoosier Town.

MILFORD, Ind., May 15.—[Special.]—Not since Randall and his army left Chicago have they met with so much hospitality as here. They were given shelter in an abandoned carriage factory and provided with wholesome food. Shortly after their arrival 200 pounds of cooked meat and several gallons of steaming coffee were sent over to the barracks. The men were given permission to roam about the town at will. This was the first time that they had not been under police surveillance since they left Hammond, May 4. Milford has only 1,000 inhabitants, but Randall's army will not forget its kindness. Tomorrow the wealers go to Warsaw. Randall's Ohio route is as follows: Van Wert, Dolphos, Lima, Ada, Forest, Upper Sandusky, Bucyrus, Crestline, Mansfield, Ashland, Creston, Medina, Ravenna, Newton Falls, Youngstown. He expects to reach New Castle June 9.

GOSHEN, Ind., May 15.—A band of sixty-eight commonwealers under command of Gen. Sullivan, who split from Randall's army, broke camp at Ligonier, sixteen miles east of this city, early this morning and captured an east-bound Lake Shore freight train. They held possession until Butler was reached, fifty miles down the road, and there they were made to dismount.

PETERSON MATSON FALLS FOUR STORIES

Laborer Receives Fatal Injuries—Woman Dragged by Milwaukee Avenue Car.

Peterson Matson, a carpenter, 37 years old, No. 203 Indiana street, received injuries yesterday which will probably result in his death. He was at work on the third story of a building at Clinton and Lake streets, when he slipped and fell to the basement. He was unconscious when picked up and was taken to the County Hospital, where the physicians who attended him stated that he had received internal injuries and could not recover.

The body of a man supposed to be Charles Peterson was found crushed and mangled on the Pan-Handle railroad tracks near Eva and Kinzie streets at 2 o'clock yesterday morning and removed to the County Morgue by the police. From the injuries to the body it was evident the man had been struck by a train. A card was found in his pocket bearing the name of Charles Peterson.

Mary Engle, No. 1121 Milwaukee avenue, was badly injured yesterday afternoon by being dragged some distance by a Milwaukee avenue cable train. The woman was about to board the car at Center and Milwaukee avenues when the car started suddenly and she was dragged some distance before the train could be brought to a standstill.

An unidentified man fell over the railing around the basement entrance of a residence at No. 197 Aberdeen street yesterday afternoon and was instantly killed, the fall breaking his neck. He was dressed as a laborer.

CHIPPEWA FALLS FEARS A BIG FLOOD.

Bloomer Dam Bursts and Disastrous Consequences Are Looked For.

CHIPPEWA FALLS, Wis., May 15.—The Boomer dam, forty miles north, has gone out, and disastrous consequences are looked for when the water reaches here in the morning. People living along the bottoms of the Chippewa and Duncan Creek will not retire tonight. The storm is raging furiously in this city tonight, and much damage has resulted. Railroad bridges are being guarded by section men, but it is feared nothing can be done tomorrow to save the log booms and other property.

Cowardly Deed of Regulators.

BRISTOL, Tenn., May 15.—At Gate City, Va., last night a band of eleven masked men terming themselves regulators started out ostensibly for the purpose of ridding the town of a house of women. Coming to the house of Samuel Woods, an inoffensive colored man, they were refused admittance. The men, armed with Winchester rifles and revolvers, fired about thirty shots through the door of the cottage, killing Woods instantly. Three of the men, Jack Downey, R. T. Potter, and George Carr, are under arrest. The remainder of the band are in hiding.

KILLS IN HER RAGE.

CARRIE WENDELL MURDERS J. P. ROYAL ON CLARK STREET.

She Follows the Man from a Hotel and When the Pair Reaches the Sidewalk the Woman Fires Her Revolver—Her Victim Falls Dead and Then She Shoots Herself, but Not Fatally—Both Were Detectives and It Is Said the Man Owed the Woman Money.

Carrie Wendell shot and instantly killed John P. Royal and then fired a bullet into her own head without producing any dangerous injury yesterday afternoon in front of the National Hotel, No. 230 Clark street, the first building north of the Grand Pacific.

Royal was 40 or 45 years old and a detective. Until six weeks ago he was a special agent for the Rock Island railroad company, but he had been discharged. He called at the offices yesterday to settle up some of his work, and then started, it is said, to Seattle to visit a sick wife. Another report is that he was not married. It is said Miss Wendell also was a detective and that they worked together some time ago on the cutting of the telegraph wires during a strike. Both of them came originally from Maquoketa, Ia.

THE WOMAN WHO DID THE SHOOTING.

Royal, Miss Wendell, and her sister, Annie Wendell, registered at the hotel a week ago, Royal under the name of J. P. Smith. Royal went away after three days, but returned again yesterday, and the party left the hotel together at 3:30 p. m. Royal spent much time in the room of the women when he first came, and during his absence of a few days the women disclosed the fact that he had wronged Carrie Wendell in money matters and in a breach of promise to marry. Carrie Wendell made a confidant of the housekeeper in these matters, and acted in a manner indicating that her nervous system was disordered, if indeed she was not insane. At one time Annie took a revolver from Carrie and seemed almost distraught as her sister. As to Carrie, the proprietor of the hotel, D. A. Dooley, frequently pronounced her dangerously insane.

Story of the Shooting.

When Royal returned yesterday he went straight to the room occupied by the two women. Shortly after 3 o'clock he appeared at the office and presented checks for their baggage, saying he was going away. He shook hands with Dooley and started down the stairway leading to the street. Carrie Wendell came immediately after him, and, just as Royal reached the bottom of the stairs, the Wendell woman fired the first shot. The bullet struck Royal in the eye, entering the brain and killing him instantly. Royal fell on the sidewalk, and then, bracing the weapon against her knee, she sent another bullet into his prostrate form. She fired a third time, with the gun placed against her head, and was staggering about the sidewalk when Officer Dan Wannigan caught her before she fell. He carried her to the Grand Pacific drug store and called an ambulance. Royal's body was taken to Sigmund's morgue. The woman's wound was first thought to be dangerous and she was placed in a cab, along with her sister, and driven to the office of a physician on Adams street. There it was found she had received but a scalp wound, the bullet striking the skull and glancing off. She was removed to the County Hospital.

At the morgue papers were found on Royal's person indicating that he at some time was known by the name of John Riley. On a card on which the name of John Riley was inscribed instructions were given that in case of an accident the North American Accident Association should be notified. He also had a pass, however, made out to J. P. Royal on the Rock Island railroad. Royal's mother lives in the State of Washington, and is said to be wealthy.

The Sister's Story.

Miss Annie Wendel, the sister of the injured woman, made the following statement: "J. P. Royal became acquainted with my sister three or four years ago while traveling through our section of the country as a detective for a railway company. My sister was at the time engaged to be married to a man in our community, but this match was broken off because of Royal's persistent attention to her. He secured for her a position as detective for the railroad company by which he was employed. She accepted the position and for a time she was successful. While their relationship thus existed Royal borrowed money from her and when she afterwards urged him to repay it he promised in lieu of the money to deed over to her certain stocks in mines in Washington or to certain lands in that State. I knew my sister was coming to this city with a view to having a final understanding with him, but did not know she had any intention of taking his life. I rather suspected she contemplated killing herself, so grieved was she at the unfortunate turn affairs had taken. A short time ago both she and Royal lost their positions with the railroad company."

Find Health and Strength in Hood's Sarsaparilla

Mrs. David Bigger
Wilcox, Nebraska.

"I write to testify concerning what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for me. In December I had chills and fever, a very distressing cough day and night, raising nothing but corruption. I became very emaciated and had no appetite. A physician helped me some, but in the spring I began to go down again, suffered with pains in my chest, shoulder, under my arms, in my back and stomach. I felt bad,

I had very little appetite and what little I did eat distressed me so much that I did not care to eat. I procured a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and by the time I had taken all of it the pains had nearly all left me, my apetite also had much improved; I took four bottles and became much stronger. The past spring I have taken

EASTERN MUTUALS AND LLOYDS ENTER THE CHICAGO FIELD.

Agents of Old Line Stock Companies Admit These New Factors Are Capturing a Large Amount of Business—Story That the Travelers of Hartford Had Sold a Controlling Interest to New York Is Denied—Indiana State Auditor Opens an Anti-Lloyd Campaign.

It appears to be a great year for Eastern mutuals and the Lloyds. They are entering the Chicago field, and even agents of old line stock companies admit they are capturing a large amount of business. The present movement among mutuals is of much interest to underwriters, as the mutual idea in fire insurance has not heretofore been notably successful in this field. Rates on all classes of risks have been advanced materially throughout the country, and such an advance invariably causes a boom in the mutual business. The representatives of old line companies claim conditions in the insurance business have not materially changed and the stock companies will not be stampeded into a demoralization of rates by the inroads into their business.

"The New England Mutuals have succeeded in their home field because of the peculiar conditions there existing," said a prominent manager yesterday. "Factories representing enormous values are clustered closely about Boston and other cities in that vicinity and under the constant care and inspection of Mutual representatives. If there is any defect in hazard or in the fire extinguishing appliances it becomes known at once and must be and is remedied. The success of the Mutuals depends upon their close proximity to the risks they cover and upon the fact that they prevent fires by reason of their vigilant supervision. These companies, emboldened by their success, are pushing their enterprise into fields where the conditions are radically unlike those necessary to their prosperity. They are here insuring factories where the individual premium does not warrant the expense of frequent supervision and where the distance is so great that constant inspection is out of the question. The West will be their Waterloo and the companies that are being rattled by that kind of competition and are adopting its methods will share the fate of the blind leading the blind, they will all fall into the ditch together."

PUBLIC WARNED AGAINST LLOYDS

Indiana State Auditor Opens a Campaign Against These Associations.

The State Auditor of Indiana has issued a circular to the public warning it against Lloyds associations operating in the State in violation of the State law. It consists of an opinion of the Attorney-General of Indiana on the validity of the claim advanced by Lloyds associations that they are not amenable to the insurance laws of the State regarding fees and taxes. In this the following appears:

From the information before me Lloyds seem to be an association of individuals who seek to carry on the business ordinarily conducted by joint stock companies; to exercise all the powers of corporations; to enjoy all the benefits ordinarily accruing to aggregated capital, and, by the cunning employment of words, to escape responsibility and avoid compliance with the wise and wholesome regulations which are imposed upon all other legitimate foreign insurance companies doing business within the State.

This most uncertain and dangerous method of doing business is rendered impossible by our statute. Under the law of this State service may be had upon the company through the Auditor of State. Upon a policy issued by a Lloyds association a citizen of Indiana must go to the State of New York before proceedings can be instituted. An evasion of our statute so palpable and so dangerous as to require a citizen of Indiana to follow a delinquent underwriter into the courts of a foreign State is of itself sufficient to prohibit absolutely the doing of insurance business by a concern or an association of gentlemen which would lead to such a dilemma. The Lloyds exercise precisely the same functions and perform the same acts as do insurance corporations generally. Yet under the pretext that their liability is an individual one (which is the very evil characterizing their organizations) it is claimed that they are not subject to State supervision and control. This, in my opinion, is erroneous.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 15.—The State Insurance Superintendent today issued a permit for the incorporation under the laws of the State of Illinois and a license was granted by the Secretary of State to the Hotel Men's Mutual Benefit Association of the United States and Canada, located at Chicago, the object being to do a life and accident insurance business on the assessment plan. The incorporators are: Jewett Wilcox, Charles C. Hilton, Elijah S. Pinney, Henry J. Bohn, Frank Upman, Charles W. Dabb, and L. Everett Howard.

LIFE AGENTS HAVE A FESTIVAL.

Dinner at the Union League Club Preliminary to the Convention.

Preliminary to the national convention, which will be held in this city June 19, 20, and 21, the Life Underwriters' Association of Chicago had a May festival, including reception and dinner, at the Union League club last evening. John K. Stearns, President of the association, officiated as toastmaster. The speakers and the subjects discussed by them were: W. J. Janney, "Advantages and Disadvantages of National Topics"; John Knox Marshall, "Impressions"; Thomas L. Fausler, "Higher Plane"; Von Blitzen, "Dose Notes, Vorvurds und Backverds"; The Rev. Thomas C. Hall, "Life and a Higher Life." Thornton Chase read a paper, Nixon Waterman recited a few verses, Adlai T. Ewing gave an address, and Franklin Wyman made some good-night remarks. All interest in insurance circles just now, explained Charles B. Soule, is centered on the forthcoming national convention. Delegates to the number of 600 will be present from thirty States and as they are to be the guests of the local association, preparations are being made on a big scale for their entertainment. June 21 the visitors will be given a banquet at the Iriquois club. Some of the most prominent underwriters in the country will respond to the toasts.

IDLE RUMOR ABOUT THE TRAVELERS.

Story That a Controlling Interest Goes to New York Is Denied.

HARTFORD, Conn., May 15.—[Special.]—The story that a controlling interest in the Travelers' Insurance company of Hartford had been sold to New York financiers is simply an idle rumor. It probably grew out of a statement made in New York that a Hartford broker had agreed for a stipulated price (a big advance on the market quotation) to deliver a controlling block of stock to a New York syndicate. An officer of the company said today: "It is hardly necessary to add that so big a contract could not be carried out by a Hartford or any other broker." The company's capital is $1,000,000 and assets over $15,000,000.

Monopolizing Pacific Coast Business.

The Fireman's Fund Insurance company appears to be monopolizing the local insurance interest of other Pacific coast companies and seemingly thrives on a diet fatal to them. During the last four years the reinsurances by the Fireman's Fund are as follows: In 1890 it reinsured the marine business of the Anglo-Nevada; in 1891, the marine business of the Union of California; in 1892 bought the capital stock of the Home Mutual of California; in 1893 reinsured the entire Pacific coast business of the California Insurance company; and Saturday last did the same for the Oakland Home Insurance company. Aside from the Fireman's Fund and Home Mutual, owned and controlled by the Fireman's Fund, the only remaining California company is the Sun.

Bowers Denies Rumors of a Combine.

NEW YORK, May 15.—[Special.]—H. E. Bowers, General Manager of the Guardian Fire Insurance company, denied today that there was any truth in the rumor that the Guardian and the North British and Mercantile were to combine their business in the United States, or that the former was to reinsure its risks in the latter. He also denied that he was to be made general manager of the North British in place of Mr. Blagden, resigned. At the North British office it was said nothing was known of any arrangement, proposed or agreed upon, to enter into a working agreement as to United States business between the two companies.

Durfee Has a Lawsuit Promised.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 15.—[Special.]—Several days ago Insurance Superintendent Durfee revoked the license of the United States Mutual Accident Insurance company of New York on account of its contract with the United States Investment company of New Jersey, whose license was annulled some time ago. Today the former company, by its attorney, David Murray, asked the Insurance Superintendent to reconsider his action with reference to its license. This Mr. Durfee declined to do, and it is understood proceedings will be instituted to compel him by mandamus to restore the license of the company.

Successor to Mr. Tupper.

ATLANTA, Ga., May 14.—[Special.]—S. Y. Tupper, Secretary of the Southeastern Tariff Association, has resigned that office to accept the superintendency of the central and southern departments of the Queen Insurance company, covering twelve States. Mr. Dug Deane will most likely succeed to the Secretaryship of the Southeastern Tariff Association at an election to be held June 6.

Wachusett Has No License.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 15.—[Special.]—The Wachusett Mutual Fire Insurance company of Massachusetts has made no application to the Insurance Department for a license to do business in Illinois. Maj. Brinkerhoff, the actuary, said the Wachusett company might do business in Illinois by securing a license and complying with the law.

General Insurance Notes.

The Chicago members of the Excepted Cities committee will leave for Cincinnati tonight.

C. J. Herbold, Ohio State Agent of the Firemen's Fund Insurance company, was in the city yesterday.

It is said that J. H. M. Morris of Louisville will make an effort to secure the representation of some prominent company in place of the Queen and continue his general agency business.

The following nominations for officers of the New York Board of Fire Underwriters are announced: For President, John H. Washburn; for Vice-President, Mason A. Stone; for Secretary, W. D. Broughton; for Assistant Secretary, Alfred M. Thorburn; for Treasurer, Lindley Murray Jr.

George F. Reger, the Vice-President of the Franklin Insurance company of Philadelphia, was in the city yesterday. This company pulled out of the Chicago field at the time of the big fire and has never done anything here since except a dwelling-house business in the outlying portions of the city.

A call has been issued for a meeting of agents and managers for final action on the new board constitution, to be held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Practically all the people eligible for membership in classes No. 1 and No. 2 of the new board have signed the constitution, but it is conceded on all sides that certain alterations will have to be made. In the nature of things the constitution will finally have to be a compromise measure. An effort will be made to limit discussion to as few points as possible.

PREFERS TO GO BEFORE UNCLE SAM.

Cigarette Trust Would Rather Try Its Luck in the United States Court.

A petition for the removal to the Federal court of the proceedings begun by Attorney-General Moloney against the American Tobacco company in the State court was presented to Judge Windes yesterday by ex-Solicitor-General Aldrich. The petition was framed on almost identical lines with the one presented to the court a few days ago in the Chicago gas trust matter. The contention is that the matters in controversy arise under the Constitution of the United States and should be disposed of in the Federal courts. Mr. Aldrich's petition also says the acts done by the defendants, against which relief is sought, are acts of inter-State commerce, which, under the Constitution of the United States, Congress alone has the power to regulate. Judge Windes approved a bond of $5,000 which was presented with the petition, but did not enter any order transferring the cause.

Will Make Up the Deficit.

Arguments for and against the appointment of a receiver for the Continental Investment and Loan Society were heard by Judge McConnell yesterday. The officers admitted a depletion of $34,000, but said the stockholders had voted to replace it, each paying in proportion to his holdings. There are sufficient assets, too, now available, say the defendants, to go on securely with the business of the society. They deny any illegal manipulation of funds and show that the monthly expenses have been reduced from $1,700 to $350. A dismissal of the suit is asked. Robert H. McElwee is President of the society and Graham H. Harris Secretary.

Court Notes.

Judge Tuley yesterday named May 25 for the rehearing of arguments in the Farwell-Sturges arbitration.

Robert S. Maus, a Philadelphia merchant, has commenced suit for $50,000 against William L. Ralph, also a resident of Philadelphia. The attorney retained by the plaintiff says alienation of the affections of Mrs. Maus is the charge.

Silas A. Barton, owner of the building at Nos. 149-150 Michigan avenue, was granted an injunction yesterday by Judge Grosscup restraining Robert T. Martin, who bought the lease, from taking possession. He secured the lease without the consent of the owner.

The World's Columbian Exposition filed an answer yesterday in the United States Circuit Court to the bill of the Alabastine company of Chicago for $100,000 damages for alleged infringement of a patent on the process by which the big buildings at Jackson Park were painted. The answer sets up that a patent was issued for it to L. L. Curtis in 1881, eleven years before M. B. Church got his patent, which is said to have been infringed.

Iowa Supreme Court.

DES MOINES, Ia., May 15.—[Special.]—Decisions were handed down by the Supreme Court today as follows: I. N. Whittam, contestant, appellant, vs. J. E. Zahorik, incumbent, Linn District, reversed; Henry Kracke vs. William Homeyer et al., appellants, Adair District, affirmed; Elizabeth Harrington, appellant, vs. The Fidelity Loan and Trust company and S. J. Johnson, Cherokee District, affirmed; Charles Kennedy vs. J. J. Moore et al., appellants, Plymouth District, reversed; Eli Lishtenberger, appellant, vs. The Incorporated Town of Meridian; reversed; John H. McKelvey, administrator, appellant, vs. The Burlington, Cedar Rapids and Northern Railway Company, Lyon District, reversed; A. M. Garrett vs. The Western Union Telegraph Company, appellant, Louisa District, affirmed.

Third District Illinois Appellate Court.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 15.—[Special.]—Proceedings in the Appellate Court, Third District, today were as follows: Neal vs. Short et al., executors, etc., of R. A. Short; motion to dismiss the case as per stipulation. Shaw et al. vs. Camp, executor, etc.; motion by plaintiffs in error for leave to file briefs instanter, motion allowed. McLaflin et al. vs. Jones et al.; motion by defendants in error to postpone call until after May 18. City of Pana vs. Taylor; motion by appellant for leave to file briefs instanter, motion allowed. Taken on call—Nos. 2, 4, 5, 9, 10, and 11. Court adjourned to 9 o'clock a. m. tomorrow.

ELECTRICITY AS A MOTIVE POWER.

Western Railway Club Members Talk of a Substitute for Steam.

At the annual meeting of the Western Railway club yesterday the following were elected officers for the ensuing year:

President, George Gibbs of Milwaukee; First Vice-President, G. L. Potter of Fort Wayne, Ind.; Second Vice-President, David L. Barnes of Chicago; Secretary and Treasurer, W. D. Crossman of Chicago.

The session was largely taken up with discussions of papers. The chief of these was on the present utility of electric motors on railways by David L. Barnes, who made copious reference to the results achieved by the intramural road at the World's Fair, summing up his paper with the statement that the most rapid introduction of electric motors would be on elevated suburban roads. Mr. Baker gave figures concerning the intramural road, showing that the total cost for fuel in August was 4.3 cents a train mile. The many curves in the road necessitated cutting the speed down to ten miles per hour, but runs at a much higher rate had been made. Mr. Barnes said the Metropolitan and Northwestern Elevated roads would probably use electric motors. The Manhattan road of New York also was examining the subject.

Policemen in Disgrace.

The Police Trial Board held a six hours' session yesterday, in which thirty cases were disposed of, some being of considerable importance. Two children of the late Capt. John Harrington, nephews of John R. Walsh, were the complaining witnesses in one of these. Officer McGinn of the East Chicago Avenue Station was accused of malicious persecution of the boys and of insulting two women in their home, Rush and Oak streets. Friday afternoon they were playing in the neighborhood when the officer pursued them to their front door, where Mrs. Harrington was addressed by the officer, the witnesses said, in indecent language. No decisions were announced

REEKING WITH FILTH.

COUNTY BUILDING SO FOUL THE CITY MAY CLOSE IT.

Sanitary Inspectors Report to the Mayor That the Ventilation Is Bad, the Plumbing Worthless, and the Janitor Work So Neglected That the Health of Every-one in the Structure Is Menaced—All Defects Must Be Remedied at Once—Thirty-fourth Ward Citizens Complain.

Mayor Hopkins said yesterday if the City Law Department decided he had the power he would close up the County Building unless the County Board immediately put the structure in better sanitary condition. Yesterday he turned over to the Corporation Counsel reports of the officials of the Health Department with reference to the sanitary condition of the County Building, and instructed him to report as to what the city's powers in the premises were. Assistant Corporation Counsel Zeisler is working on the opinion, which he will have ready for delivery in a few days.

"All depends upon the opinion from the Law Department," said the Mayor. "If the city has power to close the County Building if the County Commissioners refuse to obey an order to put it in good repair, I shall close it and keep it shut as tightly as a quarantined residence. It is unreasonable that men should be required to work in such a structure, especially as a few dollars would put it in good repair."

The report of Andrew Young, Chief Sanitary Inspector of the Health Department, in regard to the condition of the building is as follows:

In general terms the ventilation is defective. The ventilation for the greater part of the building is by flues recessed in walls of different rooms ending at the attic. There not being sufficient provision for its exit to the outer air this foul air, finding its way from the different rooms, circulates in the attic and is forced back and down through the same channels into the rooms. To remedy this sufficient provision should be made for the escape of this contaminated air at the roof. Fans, if of sufficient capacity, would go far towards remedying the condition existing. Of the three fans now in the attic one only serves the purpose for which it is provided, that one being connected with a large sheet metal flue terminating above the roof. Two other fans serve no other purpose than to mix the air drawn through the ventilating flues, compressing it in the attic and forcing it back in its mixed condition.

The plumbing fixtures throughout the building are of a pattern condemned by this department years ago and are without exception defective and unfit for use. The entire drainage system was under test found leaking and in very poor condition, especially in the basement. The sewer air from the leaking drainage finds its way up the elevator shafts and is distributed impartially to every one having business in the building. On the fourth floor Rooms 423, 419, and also toilet-rooms in Clerk of Probate Court rooms, the floor and surroundings are extremely filthy by reason of defects enumerated and from lack of sufficient janitor service. In fact, general improvement could be made in the direction of better janitor service at all points examined by us. I can only characterize the plumbing and drainage of the building as unfit for use and dangerous to health. It should be torn out root and branch at once.

The report of Dr. Gehrman, City Chemist, in regard to the condition of the air, states that while pure air contains only four parts of carbon dioxide in each 10,000 parts, he found in the County Building in closets 18.36 parts, in a court-room 8.35 parts, in the attic 6.38 parts, and in a basement 25.52 parts; that while pure air in summer contains but 250 bacteria to each cubic meter, he found in the County Building in a closet 2,900, in a court-room 4,200, in the attic 2,700, and in the basement 2,500.

The investigation was made at the request of Judges Tuley, Clifford, Adams, Blanke, Sears, Tuthill, Hanecy, Payne, Brentano, Burke, Freeman, Ewing, Stein, Goggin, Chetlain, Baker, Windes, and McConnell.

STAGNANT WATER IN THE STREETS.

Thirty-fourth Ward People Make Complaint to the Mayor.

J. Campbell, Jacob Wolfe, D. S. Sullivan, and F. H. Teeple, the Executive committee of the Improvement Society of the Thirty-fourth Ward, called upon Mayor Hopkins yesterday morning and laid before him a complaint of the condition of the streets in that ward. They complain that the ditch on Kensington avenue, between Indiana avenue and Lake Calumet, is not so constructed as to carry off surface water, but is filled with stagnant water and is a menace to health; that Kensington avenue, from Michigan avenue to Front street; One Hundred and Fifteenth street, between the same points, and Howard street, from One Hundred and Fifteenth street to Kensington avenue, are impassable; that the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad company should be required to fence its right of way and lay suitable crossings properly protected; that the Illinois Central railroad company should improve Front street, and that the Calumet Electric railway should observe its ordinance and pave certain streets between their tracks. The Mayor referred the complaint to the proper officials with instructions to see that the improvements are made.

SOUTH TOWN'S FINANCIAL STANDING.

Supervisor Leindecker Makes His Annual Report—Day for Regular Meeting.

Justice White presided over the meeting of the South Town Board last evening. The last Monday in each month was fixed for regular meetings. Supervisor E. J. Leindecker presented his report for the year ending March 1, which had been approved by the town meeting. It was as follows:

| | |
|---|---|
| Received from former incumbent | $ 2,024 |
| Received from County Collector | 24,988 |
| Received from South Town Collector | 78,939 |
| Total | $105,952 |
| DISBURSEMENTS. | |
| Expenses of Assessor's office | $ 26,220 |
| Expenses of Collector's office | 39,255 |
| Salary of town officers | 25,400 |
| Printing and postage | 4,291 |
| Rent of offices | 2,400 |
| Miscellaneous | 470 |
| Lights and telephone | 947 |
| Interest on demand notes | 944 |
| Total | $ 99,928 |
| Balance on hand April 1 | 6,023 |

After instructing the Town Clerk and Supervisor to make and file an inventory of the town's personal property the board adjourned.

HOPKINS WILL SIFT THE CHARGES.

The Mayor in No Hurry to Sign the Special Assessment Ordinance.

Mayor Hopkins will make inquiries into the charges made in the Council Monday as to the ordinance for part payments for special assessments being drawn by the attorneys for the Barber Asphalt company before he signs it. It is notorious that all the improvement ordinances are engineered by the contractors' ring. The orders for ordinances are drafted by the contractors, who hand them to the Aldermen, who introduce them in the Council and rush them through, regardless of the wishes of the property-owners.

Slight Victory for Tugmen.

General Manager Sanborn and Attorney Pulver of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad company were in conference yesterday morning with Mayor Hopkins and Assistant Corporation Counsel Zeisler over the company's bridge across the river at Kinzie street, which, tugmen say, is always closed and used as a part of the switching yard. The railway officials denied this and promised to do all possible to keep the bridge clear.

Yerkes Files His Bonds.

Ex-Judge Jamieson, general counsel of the Yerkes system of street railroads in Chicago, yesterday morning filed with the Corporation Counsel two bonds of $50,000 each on behalf of the North and West Side lines, as required by the ordinance granting the right to use electric motive power. Mr. Jamieson said the contracts for making the changes have been let and the work would be started at once.

Probably Adverse to the Railroad.

Assistant Corporation Counsel Zeissler will present to the Mayor this morning his opinion on the question of lifting the tracks of the Illinois Central on Sixteenth street known as the St. Charles Air Line. It is believed it will be adverse to the railroad company and that it will hold that there is no authority for the maintenance of the double tracks on the street in question.

County Treasurer Cannot Pay It.

Secretary of the West Park Board Harry Wilkenson says in reference to an item concerning the 25 cents a foot special assessment on property-owners along Washington, Jackson, Ashland, and Twelfth street boulevards: "It is not correct that persons who have paid this tax can have it refunded by calling upon the County Treasurer. The usual voucher would have to be made."

Municipal Notes.

Mrs. Fanny Kavanagh and other labor leaders yesterday called upon Mayor Hopkins in the interests of Mrs. Bradley, whom they want appointed as a member of the Board of Education.

Chairman O'Neill of the Committee on Streets and Alleys South has called a meeting of the committee for today, presumably to discuss the trolley ordinances of the Cicago City railway.

City officials yesterday morning stopped the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago railroad company from laying more tracks on Stewart avenue, between Fifty-fifth and Fifty-ninth streets.

INTENT OF THE LAW.

EXPLANATION OF THE ACT AS REGARDS WORLD'S FAIR MEDALS.

Director-General Davis, Author of the Legislation, Says That the Truthful Reproduction of Diplomas and Awards for Advertising Purposes Is Not Counterfeiting Them—Official Correspondence on a Case in Point—District-Attorney Thinks the Act Cannot Be Enforced.

Director-General George R. Davis believes the law which provides a fine or imprisonment for counterfeiting the World's Fair medals and diplomas was not intended to prevent the use of fac-similes for advertising purposes. Col. Davis drafted the bill himself and there should be no higher authority on the question than himself.

"The intent of the law," said Col. Davis yesterday, "was not to prevent the proper use of medals and diplomas in advertising such articles as received awards at the World's Columbian Exposition. The design was to prevent counterfeiting so that those who did not receive awards should be prevented from using spurious diplomas or medals, claiming them as genuine. Exhibiters put in exhibits and went to great expense to obtain official recognition from the United States Government of the excellency of articles exhibited. It is due to these men that no one who failed of an award or did not advertise should be given the benefits to which successful exhibiters are entitled. The penalty was made severe to deter the unscrupulous from gaining these advantages. It is the same as for counterfeiting a note, and I believe in a strict enforcement of the law. This case, however, is different. It was simply a plan to gain an advantage by showing a reduced fac-simile of the evidences of the award made."

Capt. Porter of the United States Secret Service has not paid a second call to the proprietors of the Inland Printer to demand the plate of the accepted design for the diploma from which the printing was done and the copies of the publication which are still in the possession of the printers. If he had done so he would have been met with a second polite but firm refusal.

C. F. Whitmarsh, Secretary of the company which prints the publication, has secured a copy of the letter which gave the required permission. As this came from the Acting Secretary of the Treasury it gives the Inland Printer the right to use the cut in question. These letters are the request for permission and the answers giving permission to use the cut of the diploma:

Correspondence with Treasury Officials.

CHICAGO, July 21.—Secretary of the Treasury, Washington, D. C.: Dear Sir—We would like to secure a photograph of the diploma which is to be given exhibiters at the World's Fair with a view to making a half-tone plate of it to run in our magazine, the Inland Printer, a copy of which we send you today under separate cover. We understand that the diploma is a work of art, and as such would like to present it to our readers in the way mentioned.

Kindly let us know if you can furnish the photograph, and, if so, what charge there will be, and we will remit amount.

Awaiting your early reply, we remain, yours very truly, THE INLAND PRINTER COMPANY.
C. F. WHITMARSH.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 3.—Inland Printer Company, Chicago, Ill.—Gentlemen: Referring to your communication of the 21st ult. relative to your desire to make a half-tone plate of the World's Fair diploma for use in your magazine as a work of art, I have to advise you that this department cannot furnish you with a photograph of the diploma, but will permit a photograph to be made of it for the purpose indicated by you. In view of the restrictions contained in the law relative to any person having in his possession without lawful authority any plate or mold in steel, plaster, or other substance designed for striking the medals or diplomas, you will only be permitted to make a plate, such as described by you, on the condition that it be very materially reduced in size from the original.

If the foregoing conditions are satisfactory to you please advise this office, and the necessary permission will be given to such person as you may designate to make the photograph. Respectfully yours,
W. E. CURTIS, Acting Secretary.

At the time Capt. Porter made the demand for the plate the letter from Acting Secretary Curtis could not be found, but a copy was secured from the department in Washington. To be doubly sure, the Inland Printer has sent a second letter to the department, stating the case as it is and asking the Secretary to pass upon the question. The section of the Congressional act referred to is quoted and the letter continues:

What we would like a ruling on is this: 1. Has the law been violated in showing the plate as it appeared in the Inland Printer? 2. Can any cuts or plates be used in any way to show what the medals and diplomas are? Advertisers have used cuts of the Centennial medals, those of the Paris Exposition of 1889, of the Cotton Centennial, and of the various institute fairs held in different parts of the United States, and the medals of many other large expositions, but many are in doubt as to how the diploma and medal of the World's Fair can be used.

The Page Belting company and the W. W. Kimball Carriage company have used what are claimed to be the design of the medal to be issued to successful exhibiters. These differ from each other, however, and from the corrected design.

Penalties for Violating the Act.

The section which provides a penalty for counterfeiting the medal or diploma reads:

And every person who within the United States or any Territory thereof, without lawful authority makes, or willingly aids or assists in making, or causes or procures to be made, any dies, hub, plate, or mold either in steel or plaster, or any other substance whatever, in the likeness or similitude as to design or inscription thereon of any die, hub, plate, or mold designed for the striking of the medals and diplomas of award for the World's Columbian Exposition, as provided in Section 3 of the act approved Aug. 5, 1892, or conceals or shall have in his possession any such die, hub, plate, or mold hereinbefore mentioned, with intent to fraudulently or unlawfully use the same for counterfeiting the medals and diplomas hereinbefore mentioned, or who shall fraudulently or unlawfully have in his possession or cause to be circulated any duplicate or counterfeit medal or diploma not authorized by the Secretary of the Treasury, shall upon conviction thereof be punished by a fine of not more than $5,000, and be imprisoned at hard labor not more than ten years, or both, at the discretion of the court.

According to United States District-Attorney Milchrist the law cannot be enforced. In view of this Capt. Porter of the United States Secret Service has decided not to proceed against the merchants and others who are now publishing pictures of their awards as advertisements until he has received further instructions from Washington.

"The law as it was framed," said Mr. Milchrist yesterday afternoon, "provides for an appropriation of $103,000 for medals and diplomas to be awarded to exhibiters. These medals and diplomas were to be made by the Treasury Department and were to be furnished to the World's Fair for distribution. Then the law says any person who makes dies, plates or anything else necessary to imitate or reproduce the medals and diplomas and does it with the intent of reproducing them shall be punished in the same way practically that counterfeiters are punished. The term 'any person' does not exempt the owner of the medal himself, but I do not believe the law under a fair interpretation was intended to punish those who received the awards for using them in the way such awards have always been used. What Congress intended was to prevent the counterfeiting of the awards. I do not believe it was intended to prevent manufacturers from placing on their goods copies of the medals and diplomas for advertising purposes. That is what the awards were intended for. The law contains the phrase with intent to defraud, and that makes it more evident that it was designed only to punish those who counterfeit the medals and diplomas.

"There is a law to prevent the reproduction in any form, even as photographs, of the money, paper or coin, of the country. Some time ago a publisher named Woods made a school chart containing pictures of the coins of the country for the instruction of the school children. I began a proceeding against him under the law, but the case was dismissed by the court. I have no doubt that if the Treasury Department insists on proceeding against the exhibiters a test case will be made to test the validity of this law."

MERIT OF CHICAGO HIGH SCHOOLS.

Students from Them Accredited at the University of Michigan.

Chicago high schools are now on the accredited list of the University of Michigan as a result of an inspection made some time ago by several professors of the university. Superintendent of High Schools Nightingale received notice a few days ago from President Angell that all the twelve high schools had been placed on the accredited list of the university for three years for all courses except those schools where Greek is not taught. Graduates of the English High and Manual Training School are admitted to the technological and scientific courses, and those of the Northwest High to all courses except the classical, as no Greek classes have as yet been formed in that school.

ILLINOIS CROPS IN GOOD CONDITION.

Bulletin for the Week Ending May 14—Reports from Other States.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 15.—The weather crop bulletin of the Illinois Weather Service for the week ending May 14, 1894, says:

The temperature of the last seven days has been above the normal throughout the State. Wheat is advancing rapidly, is reported generally in fine condition, and in many sections is beginning to head. No damage is reported to this crop from insects as yet. There is little change reported in the condition of oats since last week. Some fields are improving, but the reports generally indicate that this crop is not coming along as well as was expected. Corn planting, except in some localities where the work has been retarded, is practically completed and much of it is already up and is reported generally in fine condition. Rye is also in fine condition and heading.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 15.—[Special.]—The Wisconsin weekly crop bulletin says:

Favorable weather continues and farm work has been rapidly pushed. Though there was a light frost May 11 no damage is thought to have been done. In most southern and central counties corn and potatoes are one-half planted and the work is in full progress. The work is farther ahead in central and western counties. In northern counties potatoes have been planted quite generally and corn in a few cases. A few fields of early corn are reported up and growing finely; potatoes are up in some cases. Oats, rye, wheat, barley, and tame grasses are making a healthy, vigorous growth. Grass is growing finely and dairy interests are running at full capacity. Clover is improving and the hay crop promises to be large. Fruit trees are in full bloom and the prospects were never better. Tobacco plants are still under the covers and growing well. The acreage probably will be smaller than usual.

DES MOINES, Ia., May 15.—The crop bulletin for the week says:

The last week has been favorable, with temperature and sunshine above the normal, and the rainfall generally sufficient for present needs. Corn planting is nearly completed in all districts of the State, except in a few localities where work has been delayed by excessive moisture. In early planted fields an excellent stand has been obtained and there is less than the usual complaint of poor seed. Small grain, potatoes, meadows, and pastures are doing notably well. The staple crops of this State have never been more promising in the middle of May. The outlook for fruit continues to be fairly good.

OMAHA, Neb., May 15.—The weekly crop bulletin for Nebraska says:

Owing to the continued drought in the southeastern portion of the State and the appearance of cut worms and bugs in some localities the reports this week are not altogether so favorable as the preceding two weeks, and, while it is hardly probable that any serious damage has thus far resulted from drought, seasonable rains would prove of great benefit.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., May 15.—[Special.]—The crop bulletin for the week is as follows:

The weather conditions in general have been favorable for all farm work and growing crops. The majority of the reports from the crop correspondents are encouraging. Seeding is finished and the fields are looking excellent. Fruit trees in general are in bloom, and the prospects for a crop are so far encouraging.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 15.—The Weather Bureau in its crop bulletin for the week ending May 14, says:

The week was warmer than usual in all districts east of the Rocky Mountains, except in Northern Texas and Indian Territory, where the temperature was about normal. The cool weather in California was helpful to late grain, but the crop is short. Frosts occurred in the States of the Upper Mississippi Valley, but the injury, if any, was slight. The weather during the week was generally favorable throughout the corn and wheat States of the central valleys, where the rainfall was less than usual. The ground is becoming dry and rain is needed in the States on the Eastern slope from Northern Texas to the Dakotas. The heavy rains in Texas interrupted farm work over a large portion of the State. On the Pacific coast showers proved injurious to early fruits in Northern California, but were insufficient to relieve drought in Southern Oregon.

NORWEGIANS CELEBRATE TOMORROW.

Interesting Program for Their National Festival at Kuhn's Park.

The officers of the day are: John Blegen, President; George Kramer, Vice-President; L. H. Steensohn, Secretary; W. Madsen, Financial Secretary; L. E. Olson, Treasurer.

COLUMBIA NATIONAL PAYS DIVIDENDS.

Bank Receiver Niblack Hands Creditors Another Good-Sized Share.

Receiver Niblack of the defunct Columbia National Bank commenced paying a second dividend of 30 per cent on claims aggregating $1,000,000 yesterday. This will divide among the 1,200 creditors something like $300,000. Mr. Niblack thinks he will be able to pay a third dividend of 15 or 20 per cent in a little while. Several of the shareholders have failed to liquidate their assessments and against all such proceedings will be commenced. Among the most prominent delinquents are Zimri Dwiggins and W. G. Bentley. Mr. Niblack has decided to abandon the Mecca Hotel, which was put in as one of the bank's assets at a valuation of $200,000. He cannot sell the property and thinks it inadvisable to try to maintain it at an expense of $25,000 a year.

This Boy Is Dead Now, Anyhow.

The mystery attending the disappearance of 17-year-old Joseph Ducastel was again recalled yesterday when Judge Kohlsaat was asked to correct the estate of Joseph's father, John A. Ducastel. The boy left his home six years ago to go to work and was never seen again. Judge Kohlsaat entered an order announcing the boy as dead.

Windermere Hotel Property Sold.

Judge Scales yesterday entered an order selling all the personal property and leasehold interests in the Windermere Hotel for $22,000 to Thomas W. Sprague. This was the amount of the bid made by Mr. Sprague for the property Tuesday, after a tussle with a representative of H. B. Claflin & Co., who bid up the property from $10,000.

MAY WHEAT 55 CENTS.

A DAY OF INTENSE WEAKNESS AND ALL-AROUND DECLINES.

Record of Low Prices Once More Broken—Long Wheat Deserted by Disheartened Holders and Bears Press Their Advantage—Foreign Markets All Materially Lower—The Old Story of Indifferent Demand at Bargain-Counter Prices—Cash Corn and Oats Wanted.

The disfigured and battle-scarred bull element in wheat is naturally sick and tired of the ever-recurring establishment of new "low price records," yet was obliged to face such yesterday. Without the aid of particularly new influences wheat underwent another serious decline, the May getting down to 55c and the July to 56⅝c, with latest prices practically at the bottom. Of course the severe decline in Liverpool quotations exerted no little effect, but after all this covered two days, and considering the course of the market here since late last week was perhaps but natural. But nobody could ignore the fact that wheat futures were quoted in Liverpool at a shade less than 71c per bu, and there seemed to be nothing in the character of the bull news to induce buying by anybody who did not have a profit in sight on the short side of the market. Considering the fairly good volume of business in the pit seldom are there so few buying orders. On the contrary, commission houses sold liberally, the bears pressed their advantage, and more or less long wheat came out around 37c to stop losses. Pardridge was on both sides, at one time affording much support by his purchases of July around 57⅛c. Foreigners were selling here and selling at the seaboard. Schwartz-Dupee, Linn-Cutler, McDougall, and Brosseau were sellers. Lester was a buyer, thought by some to represent Armour. Liverpool public cables were ⅛@1½d lower and private ones 2d lower over the holidays. The continent came in lower and outside home markets shared the general depression. The increase in the amount on ocean passage was small at 392,000 bu and the Indian shipments were but 120,000 bu for the week. Locally the receipts were again insignificant and the stocks of contract grades showed a net decrease for the week of 170,000 bu. Receipts at all Western points were 221,700 bu and shipments 349,400 bu. Clearances for the day were liberal at 422,000 bu. Bull influences counted for naught, however, in the face of continued perfect weather for the maturing winter wheat crop, the indifferent attitude of cash buyers and the depression abroad. July opened easy at 57⅜c, broke to 57c, rallied to 57¼c, and thence simply slid off to 56⅝c, resting at 56¾c with September 58½c. The Bradstreet, showing a big decrease in stocks at home, afloat, and in Europe and Australia of 4,664,000 bu, exerted but a feeble rallying influence. The seaboard engaged in some export business, but reports varied, one indicating twenty-three boatloads at New York and Baltimore. Locally 90,000 bu were reported, covering the business during the session and late the night before and not previously made known. Millers wanted the wheat and paid a good premium over the July. Scattered carlots sold to go to store at 55⅜c for No. 2 red winter and 51@51½c for No. 3 red. Free on board sales were at 50c for No. 4 red winter, 52@52½c for No. 3 do, and 56½c for No. 2 do.

Friends of corn cannot hold that market in the face of such depression elsewhere, and a fractional decline is the record. While the statistical position was, if anything, stronger, and while cash corn was on a workable basis, with the yellow grades at a substantial premium, the speculative end of the deal was depressed. July sold at 38⅜c, off to 37⅝c, and closed at 37¾@37⅞c, or ⅝c net loss, with September at 38⅜c. The amount on ocean passage decreased 464,000 bu during the week, and local stocks of the contract grades were 476,000 bu smaller, but cables were off ¾@1d over the English holidays and the seaboard weak. Pit traders who covered the night before put out fresh short lines and the market was such a small one that it did not require much selling to work the price lower. Baldwin-Farnum sold Snydacker-Fyffe 100,000 bu July, and Frazier sold early and later covered shorts. Receipts at all primary points were 290,000 bu and shipments 207,000 bu. Exports were larger at 123,600 bu. Cash corn was quiet and in fair demand at about ½c decline. Store sales were at 38⅜@38½c for No. 2 yellow, 36⅛@37c for No. 3, and 38c for No. 3 yellow. Free on board sales were at 37½c for No. 3, 38½@39c for do white, and 39@39½c for No. 2 do.

Oats were fairly active, and the interest centered mainly in the June. Prices ruled unsettled, and closed ¼@1c lower, in sympathy with wheat and corn. Schwartz-Dupee, Kennett-Hopkins, and Counselman bought the June, while Buckley and Pratt sold liberally. Receipts were fair at 280 cars, with 160 cars expected today. Local stocks of contract oats are 945,795 bu, against 771,631 bu the previous week. June ranged at 32⅜@33⅞c, and closed at 33⅛c, or ⅝c lower. July sold down to 29⅛c, and rested at 29⅝c, a decline of ⅝@¾c. September ruled quiet and steady. Samples were in fair supply and the demand good, with prices ¼@½c higher. Free-on-board sales were at 35@35½c for No. 3 white, 33¾@34½c for No. 2, and 36½@36¾c for do white.

Rye was dull and steady. No. 2 in store was again wanted at 45c, but not offered, while samples sold at 48@50c. July was 46c bid and 46½c sellers. September was quotably 48½c. Buyers of barley were scarce and receivers, while they had little to sell, experienced an easier market. Fair to choice malting ranged at 52@56½c.

Millstuffs were dull and values 25@50c lower. Bran sold at $11.25@11.50.

The meager speculative business in provisions was at the expense of prices. During much of the day the market was simply stagnant and nearly steady, but eventually with grains so weak there was enough pressure of product to leave quotations stranded at the bottom and 10@15c lower on lard and ribs and 22½c lower on pork. Wolff sold some of the last named and the Anglo at one time offered fair support to the list. Hogs were nearly steady under small receipts and cables dull to 6d lower, with packers here reporting a fair distributive demand on home account. July pork sold off to $12.00 and closed at $12.05 asked. July lard lost 10c and ribs 12½c, resting at $6.97½ and $6.22½ respectively. There was no particular pressure of offerings at the low prices current. Cash sales included 42,500 lbs lard at $7.10, 75,000 lbs green hams at $9.00@9.25, and 25,000 lbs sweet pickled hams at $6.25.

Flaxseed was strong but quiet, due to meager offerings. No. 1 Northwestern on track sold at $1.33½ sparingly, and that was bid at the close, an advance of ½c. Bids for May were 1½c higher at $1.34½, but none was offered. September was again offered at $1.10, with $1.09 bid. Receipts were 5 cars; shipments nothing. Timothy seed was in lighter supply, but the demand was tame and prices unchanged. The feature was a sale of October at $3.35. August was nominally $3.50. Prime was nominally $4.15 and common to fair went at $3.50@3.90. Clover was practically lifeless, with prime quotably $9.00.

Trade Talk on 'Change.

Cash sales of wheat were small, but there was considerable inquiry on the part of millers. Two lots of No. 2 spring were sold at prices 1¾@2c over the July. This was wheat brought here from the Northwest and was really the hard variety. Scattered transactions, including 50,000 bu sold the night before and made known yesterday, approximated 90,000 bu. There is a good demand for No. 2 hard winter. Bids have been advanced 1c over the latest trading price and holders have raised their figures 2c. The local stock of this is 530,000 bu.

Either the wheat crowd has lost confidence in the approximate correctness of the Bradstreet figures on available stocks or else bearishness has so permeated the pit that the average operator is unable to distinguish bull news when he sees it. The report wired yesterday showed a decrease in American stocks of 2,626,000 bu during the week, in Europe and afloat 1,738,000 bu, and in Australia 300,000 bu, an aggregate decrease of 1,464,000 bu. The figures rallied the market barely ¼c.

Europe has been selling short the deferred wheat futures both here and at New York. Logan's correspondent wired from the seaboard: "They are principally short the December, which is a favorite month with them to sell at this season of the year. Their short lines should make buying December against September at present differences pay a fair profit."

J. F. Harris & Co.'s Lincoln correspondent wired that damage reports are beginning to come in from certain parts of Nebraska, that the weather is especially severe on growing crops owing to hot south winds, and that unless rains come this week serious damage to wheat and oats may be expected.

Holders of No. 3 corn granted ⅜c concession in the price, and this enabled them to move out possibly 250,000 bu. Spear worked a cargo of 200,000 bu this grade at 36¼c in store, to be at once shipped down the lakes. The local stock of No. 2 corn last week decreased 408,000 bu and of all contract grades 476,000 bu.

"There is a big demand for cash oats East and South," said Ernst Hess. "Furthermore, feed dealers in this city are not depending upon current arrivals, but are buying oats from store. Today I sold them 20,000 bu."

The Board of Directors passed a resolution thanking Secretary Stone for his efficient work as found in the annual report, and also for richly bound copies of the same presented by him to each director.

The stocks of grain in private elevators at Chicago are reported at 2,352,000 bu wheat, 440,000 corn, 299,000 bu oats, and 180,000 bu barley.

The latest official quotation from Liverpool placed red American wheat for delivery May to September inclusive at the one figure 4s 6d, equal to 70.8c per bu.

President Dee of the Chicago Packing company says the shipping demand for hog product is rather better, especially at Western packing points, which are favored with relatively low rates of freight to the Southeast.

A good many bets have hinged on the question of May wheat selling down to 55c, and that figure being touched yesterday decides these.

Puts on July wheat sold at 56⅜c and later at 56⅛c, and calls at 57¼c early and subsequently at 57@57⅛c. Puts on July corn sold at 37⅜c and calls at 37⅞c.

Estimated receipts for today: Wheat, 47 cars; corn, 175 cars; oats, 160 cars; and 24,000 hogs.

Lake freights were dull, on the basis of 1¼c for wheat and 1c for corn to Buffalo. Charters were made for 195,000 bu corn.

Local stocks of flaxseed in regular houses at the close of last week were 226,000 bu, against 243,592 bu the previous week and 766,593 bu a year ago.

STREET PRODUCE MARKETS.

Butter Advances 1½c—Cheese Easier—Vegetables in Good Demand.

Owing to the fact that stocks of butter have been well cleaned up and receipts only fair dealers succeeded in securing an advance of 1½c, but sales at that were small in volume, and late in the day values were somewhat unsettled. Old cheese is about closed out and cuts but a small figure. New makes were not plentiful, but the inquiry was tame and prices easier. Choice eggs were somewhat scarce, while poor stock was abundant. Fancy fresh laid sold readily at 9¾@10c. Poultry was dull and heavy. Few changes were noted elsewhere.

The following quotations are for round lots of merchantable quality and usually from first hands:

BUTTER—Fancy separator goods, 17c; fine, 16@16½c; fair to good, 14@15c; fancy dairies, Cooley's, 15½@16½c; medium to good, 12@13c; packing stock, fresh, 9@9½c.

BUTTERINE—Extra fancy creamery, 15c per lb; fancy creamery, 14c; best dairy grades, 11½@12½c; roll and small pails, ½c additional.

COOPERAGE—Pork barrels, 75c; lard tierces, 92½c.

CHEESE—Finest full cream cheddars, old, 11@12½c per lb; twins, 11@11½c; Young America, 11½@12c; slightly skimmed, 9@9½c; Swiss cheese, 12@12½c; brick cheese, 9½@10c. New makes—Full cream cheddars, 8@8½c per lb; twins, 8@9c; Young Americas, 8@8½c.

DRIED FRUITS—Evaporated apples, 12c per lb; Southern sun-dried apples, 6@7½c; peaches, 9@10c; blackberries, 7@8c; raspberries, 21c. California dried fruits—Raisins, $1.10@1.50 per box; loose, 4@5c per lb; prunes, 6@8¾c, according to size; apricots, 14@15c.

EGGS—Fine to fancy fresh-laid stock, 9@10c per doz.

GREEN FRUITS—Apples, fine to choice, $5.00@7.00 per brl, and fair to good, $3.75@4.75; bananas, select, $1.50@1.75 per bunch; common to choice, $1.00@1.25 per bunch; lemons, $2.25@3.75 per box; Florida oranges, according to count, $1.75@4.00; navels, $2.00@3.50; strawberries, 24-quart cases, $1.25@2.25; California cherries, $1.00@1.75 per 10-lb box.

HAY—Offerings were large and the demand light. Sales were: On track—3 cars No. 1 timothy at $10.00@10.50; 7 cars upland prairie at $6.00@8.50. Receipts were 1,020 tons; shipments, 62 tons.

HIDES—No. 1 green salted, 3¼@3¾c per lb; No. 2 do, 2¼@2¾c; No. 1 calfskin, 6½c; No. 2 do, 5c; No. 1 country tallow, 4¾@5c per lb; No. 2 do, 4@4¼c.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 15.—WHEAT—Lower today, mainly caused by sympathy with lower prices at other places. The demand for cash wheat and for near futures was good and on that account the prices would have remained firm only that they were affected by the low prices ruling generally in other markets. Crop reports were good from all sources, with the exception of places in the Northwest, where heavy winds had blown out the seed on sandy land within the last week. In all other respects the weather and the prospects were excellent in the Northwest and there was a general improvement reported in the winter wheat country. The large stocks of wheat on hand in this country and in Europe and afloat for Europe were the chief cause of general weakness. Receipts were 114,000 bu and shipments, 28,080 bu. The mills are grinding at the rate of 140,000 bu in 24 hours, which would make a reduction of local stocks of near 50,000 bu for the day. But if there should be no greater decrease than 50,000 bu for each 24 hours from now until Sept. 1, when the new crop will be fit to use, there would still remain some 4,000,000 bu of old wheat in this city to go into the new crop year. Sales of cash wheat today were about ¼@½c lower on the average than yesterday and prices closed ½c lower for cash wheat. May closed at 60¼c; July, 59⅝@59¾c; September, 56⅜c. On track, 62⅜c hard; 61¼c No. 1 Northern; 59⅜c for No. 2. The flour market was quiet and patents quoted at $3.50 and bakers' at $2.00@2.30. Shipments of flour were 30,214 brls, which about equaled the production.

St. Louis, Mo., May 15.—GRAIN—Wheat bearish from the start and with no bull news whatever closed 1c below yesterday. No. 2 red cash 52c; May, 52½c; July 52⅞@53c; August, 53⅜c; September, 54⅜c. Corn—Weak throughout, losing ⅝@¾c. No. 2 mixed cash 37½c; May, 36⅛c; July 36c; September, 36⅜c. Oats—Lower; No. 2 cash, 35¾c; May, 35½c; July, 27½c; August, 23½c. Rye—No. 2, this side, 50c bid. The receipts of American corn for the last week were 37,700 quarters.

MONETARY MATTERS AT LONDON.

Speculative Stocks Depressed by Rise in the Argentina Gold Premium.

LONDON, May 15.—There was a semi-holiday tone to the market today. It was irregular, with speculative stocks depressed by the rise of 15 points in the Argentina gold premium to 301. No satisfactory explanation of the state of affairs in Argentina has been received, but the advance in the gold premium is mainly due to speculation at Buenos Ayres in exchange. The Argentina Government probably has been premature in resuming gold payments on the Rothschild scheme. Silver was 28 9-16d. India is buying, but the tone is rather weak. Two hundred and thirty-six thousand pounds in gold and United States coin were purchased by the bank.

PARIS, May 15.—Three per cent rentes 100f 70c for the account.

WEST SIDE TRAFFIC.

EARNINGS FOR APRIL ARE $4,000 LESS THAN APRIL, 1892.

North Side Earnings Are Slightly Ahead of the Business Two Years Ago—All Fall Off Heavily as Compared with Last Year, However—Diamond Match and Paper Car-Wheel Dividends—Further Salary Cuts on the Alley L—Weak Stock Market—Exports for April.

The gross earnings of the West Chicago Street railway company for April were $4,000 less than for April, 1892. Earnings since May 1 have been slightly ahead of the same period in 1892. That record is not particularly satisfactory, perhaps, when looked at by itself and when it is remembered that the capital stock of the company has been increased $3,189,000 in the last year. But on the other hand, if this decrease is compared with the decrease shown by the City railway company the West Side corporation makes a fair showing. The West Side company, of course, has the advantage of an increased mileage of cable line and an additional tunnel, while both companies work under the disadvantage of elevated competition which takes off perhaps 40,000 passengers a day from their earnings. Last Sunday the earnings of the West Chicago Street railroad were $13,750, and the income last Monday was over $13,000. The earnings for the last week or ten days have been extremely satisfactory, showing a much smaller decline as compared with a year ago than has been the rule.

The trouble with the West Side situation is that earnings must be far more this year than in 1892 if the present dividend rate is kept up. Nine per cent on the present capital requires $1,187,000, while earnings in 1892 were but $1,037,000, or $150,000 less than will be required to meet this year's dividend. In 1892 the company paid interest on a heavy floating debt, which is now supposed to have been extinguished, so there will be some gain in net earnings from that fact.

North Side earnings show up more satisfactorily than do the earnings of either of the other companies. The North Side record is slightly ahead of 1892 in gross, while the net shows considerably better.

Some currency has been given to a statement that the Milwaukee breweries will pay a dividend on the common stock this spring. A director of the company yesterday said that any one making such a statement as that is misinformed as to the situation. There is no intention of paying any dividend before fall. He thought, however, that if the summer trade is as good as is hoped for a dividend may be paid on common stock after the close of the fiscal year, but there is no prospect of any interim dividend this spring.

Directors of the Diamond Match company yesterday declared the regular quarterly dividend of 2½ per cent. The directors of the Allen Paper Car Wheel company yesterday declared the regular qurterly dividend of 2 per cent.

A correspondent asks for information regarding past dividends of the London and Chicago Contract company. The company has paid dividends at the rate of 10 per cent, 8 per cent, and 6 per cent, the last one being a year ago in June. Officers of the company expect that another dividend will be paid this coming June.

The various Bell Telephone companies throughout the country are at work on a new system of charges. A great amount of data has been collected, from which it is hoped that a system can be established that will be on a thoroughly scientific basis. Telephone men have about all come to the conclusion that the unit of cost in telephone economy is the single call and it is on this idea that the new plan will undoubtedly be based. When the plan has been thoroughly formulated it is the intention that concerted action will be taken on the part of all the telephone exchanges in the United States.

Sterling rates continue firm, but only small gold engagements have been reported for export this week. While the supply of bills is decidedly small, the demand has also been small for the last few days. Rates are still so high, however, there is no assurance against heavy gold shipments before the week is over.

Further reductions have recently been made in Alley Elevated expenses. Even some of the officials have had their salaries cut down sharply, one being reduced from $3,500 to $2,000, and in every other direction the managers of the property are endeavoring to bring expenses down to the lowest point possible. A heavy holder of Alley Elevated securities yesterday spoke of the situation as follows:

"The statement has been made that City Railway Company failed to earn its dividend for the first quarter of this year by $75,000 to $100,000. That fact is not denied, but City Railway stockholders are not at all alarmed about the value of their securities and no one has a doubt but the company will earn its dividends and much more before the year is over. The same reasoning ought to apply to railroads, but apparently it does not. I belive that the traffic of the elevated railroads is as small today as it ever will be in the future. Street railway companies admit that their earnings are made in eight months of the year, and that they count on the four winter months as not likely to do much more than furnish operating expenses. If that is true with surface railroads it should be equally true with the elevated roads. I think that you will see that the earnings of the last few months are by no means the correct indication of the average for the year.

"In a discussion of the elevated railroad situation it should not be forgotten either how tremendous a scaling down has been going on in these securities. Take the $7,500,000 first mortgage bonds of the Alley Elevated at 70, the $3,000,000 second section bonds at 50, and the $7,500,000 of stock at 16 and you have a valuation of $5,250,000 for the first mortgage bonds; $1,500,000 for second section and $1,200,000 for the stock, or a total of $7,950,000, against an original capitalization at par of $18,000,000. This is such a squeezing out of water as a corporation seldom goes through. It would seem, if there is any good at all in elevated properties, that at present quotations there ought to be something in the securities. It is not to be forgotten, either, that the securities of the Alley company are in the strongest possible hands. One of the great banks holds over $300,000 of the bonds and other blocks are equally well placed. Of course, if the company cannot earn interest charges there will be defaults, no matter who holds the securities, but if there is to be reorganization the fact that the securities are in good hands is an important feature."

The total exports of breadstuffs for April were $11,973,000, against $13,026,000 for April, 1893. For the ten months ending with April the total exports of breadstuffs were $143,256,000, against $163,130,000 for the corresponding ten months of the preceding year. Exports of cotton for the month were $11,545,000, against $13,021,000 in April, 1893. For the ten months ending with April exports of cotton were $187,723,000, against $164,097,000 for the preceding ten months. Exports of provisions for April were $15,211,000, against $10,044,000 in 1893, and for the ten months exports of provisions have been $141,779,000, against $134,085,000.

A quotation of 10 on 100 shares of International Packing stock was one of the startling features of a weak stock market yesterday. Calumet Dock lost its recent advance, and about the whole list was lower. Sales were as follows:

GOTHAM STOCK MARKET STILL DULL.

Railway Share List Weaker and Lower, Pressure Being Against the West.

NEW YORK, May 15.—[Special.]—The installation of officers of the Stock Exchange and the opening of the racing season at the East combined to bring about a dull condition of affairs in the stock market today. The railway situation had a brighter look at the outset when it was announced that through the efforts of President Hughitt the Northwestern, the St. Paul, the Burlington and Quincy, the Rock Island, and the Chicago Great Western had agreed to advance rates to the former tariff schedule May 26. The fact that the rates for foreign exchange were maintained at the exporting point revived discussion about gold shipments and this also operated against speculation. The outflow this week was variously estimated at $3,000,000 to $4,000,000 against $6,000,000 last year. The steamers appointed to sail tomorrow and the next day will not leave until a late hour, hence bankers were in no hurry about making engagements.

The railway share list was weak and lower, with a pressure against the Western shares, which increased somewhat in the last hour. Missouri Pacific and Atchison were sold quite freely, the latter on rumors from Boston that there was likely to be an assessment of $15 to $20. Missouri Pacific declined 2, Atchison 1⅞. Wheeling and Lake Erie preferred fell off 1, and the general run of prominent stocks ⅛ to ⅝. The grangers, New England, and Union Pacific were under the hammer late in the day. The selling, however, was generally in moderate amounts. Boston houses were heavy sellers of Atchison, one house putting out 3,000 shares shortly after noon, and Boston dispatches said New York houses were sellers there.

Whisky certificates were sold by traders and operators that have been selling it steadily several weeks. The President of the company authorized a statement denying that the company had abandoned its rebate system, but the publication of this statement had no effect on the stock. In the industrial group American Sugar Refining was the most active stock and figured for a fair amount of trading, although the total sales fell considerably below the daily average of late. The stock was weak on the developments at Washington and the prices declined 1½ below last night's closing. Chicago Gas was dealt in to a moderate extent, and after advancing ⅛ declined ⅜. Other stocks in this class were dull. General Electric receded ⅜, rose ½, and fell back ¼. Distilling reacted ⅝. Cordage sold down 1, then recovered, and later reacted ½. Sugar preferred and Lead common were each a point lower. Tobacco reacted fractionally. Washington houses that have been active on the bull side of Sugar certificates were sellers of the certificates today. The impression prevailed that the pool fears that the publication of the various sensational stories will have an unfavorable effect in Congress and prevent the passing of the sugar tariff in its present shape.

Government bonds steady; State bonds quiet.

Railway and miscellaneous bonds—Declines: Flint and Pere Marquette 6s and Erie 2d consol trust receipts, each 2; Peoria and Eastern, Tacoma and Seattle, Lake Shore and Eastern 1sts trust receipts, each 1⅜; Lake Shore coupon 1sts and Oregon Navigation 1sts, each 1⅜; Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic 5s, Houston and Texas Central general 4s, and People's Gas Chicago 1sts consol 6s, each 1½; Northern Pacific coupon 1sts, do registered and Oregon Improvement 1sts, each 1¼; St. Paul consols, do M. & M., Montana Centrals, St. Louis Southwestern 2ds, Peoria and Pekin Union 1sts, Oregon Short Line collateral trust 5s, and Atchison 2ds, each 1 per cent. Advances: Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Iowa division 4s and General Electric debenture 5s, each 1 per cent. Erie funded 5s coupon sold at 70 against 78 March 31; C., C., C. & I. consols sold at 122 against 126 Dec. 5.

Money on call easy at 1 per cent, last loan 1, closed 1 per cent. Prime mercantile paper 2½@5 per cent. Sterling exchange dull, with actual business in bankers' bills 488¾@489 for demand and at 487¼@487½ for sixty days; posted rates, 488½@489; commercial bills, 486¼@486½; silver certificates, 64@65. The total sales of stocks today, 138,204 shares.

WAR NEARING AN END

WESTERN ROADS LIKELY TO AGREE ON IMMIGRANT RATES.

The Prospect Now Is for a Restoration of the Old Schedule at an Early Date—Pool May Be Formed Also—Strong Efforts Being Made to Bring About Uniformity in Western Freight Charges—If the Fight Continues Much Longer Weak Lines Must Go to the Wall.

Indications are that the Western immigrant rate war will be settled today, the $16.10 rate from the Missouri River to California points withdrawn, and old tariff rates substituted on or before next Monday. Advices were received yesterday from President Reinhart that he would stand by the proposition made by him last week to President Hughitt of the Chicago and Northwestern. There is one slight change, however, from the original proposition under which the Union Pacific was to get 33⅓ per cent of the California business, the Rio Grande and its connections 40 per cent, and the Santa Fé 26⅔ per cent. The Union Pacific refused to let the Rio Grande have more than 33⅓ per cent and the Southern Pacific also demanded some of the business via the El Paso route. To overcome these objections it has been agreed to give the Union Pacific 33⅓ per cent, the Rio Grande 33⅓ per cent, the Santa Fé 26⅔ per cent, and the Southern Pacific via El Paso 6⅔ per cent. All the roads, it is understood, are willing to accept this proposition, and it is expected that the passenger representation of the Santa Fé and the Union Pacific railroads will meet with the General Passenger Agents of the other roads at Chairman Caldwell's office this morning and perfect arrangements for pooling the immigrant business on the basis set forth above.

As regards the propositions to reorganize the Western Passenger association and to effect an agreement as to special excursion rates for meetings and conventions, probably nothing can be done at present. The Union Pacific having no interest east of the Missouri declines to join an association of lines east of the river but declares its willingness to join a Transcontinental association from the Missouri River west, provided the Canadian and the other northern lines become parties to such agreement. As there is no possible chance to get the Canadian Pacific to join such an association at this time and as the Santa Fé will not join an association east of the river unless one is formed at the same time west of the river, the adoption of a new general agreement is not probable for some time to come.

As far as excursion rates are concerned an immediate agreement to prevent the manipulation of round-trip tickets and secure uniformity in dates of sale and limitation of tickets is earnestly desired by many of the roads. A rate of $15 for the round trip has been granted from the Missouri River to Denver for a number of meetings and conventions during the summer. The demoralization in this business is continually spreading. It was learned yesterday that the Union Pacific had made arrangement to allow those attending the meetings of the homeopathists, shriners, wheelmen, and Republican National League at Denver this summer a free side trip over its Clear Creek cañon road up to Silver Plume and return. To meet this competition the Rock Island gave notice yesterday that those attending these meetings and going over the Rock Island route would be given a free trip to the summit of Pike's Peak and return, which will include a ride from Colorado Springs to Manitou and return. These rates and arrangements cannot be withdrawn, but it is desired to effect an agreement that will prevent further demoralization.

ALL LINES MAY AGREE.

Western Presidents Still at Work to Stop the Freight War.

Some progress was made yesterday by the Presidents of the Western roads in their efforts to bring about a restoration of freight rates by all lines. President Hughitt of the Chicago and Northwestern, who had been authorized to wire the Presidents of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé, Missouri Pacific, Union Pacific, and Wabash railroad companies who were not represented at the meeting held Monday, announcing the action of the Presidents of the other roads and requesting them to coöperate, announced at yesterday's meeting that replies had been received from President George J. Gould of the Missouri Pacific, Receiver J. W. Reinhart of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé, Receiver S. H. H. Clark of the Union Pacific and Vice-President C. M. Hays of the Wabash. They all promised coöperation in the restoration of authorized tariffs of May 1, provided such action was unanimous and measures were taken to insure maintenance of the rates. President Reinhart says he is willing to join provided the Missouri Pacific does, and President Gould says that before joining he would require an agreement that would insure the maintenance of agreed rates in the future. Accordingly President Hughitt was authorized to wire Messrs. Gould, Reinhart, Clark, Hays, and Vice-President Purdy of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas, inviting them to a conference in this city May 23 to adopt the measure necessary to insure the maintenance of the authorized tariffs to and from all territory west of Chicago and St. Louis. Those approving of the action were the executive officers of the Northwestern, Alton, Burlington, St. Paul, Great Western, Rock Island, and Illinois Central.

The Presidents meet again at 11 o'clock this morning, when it is expected replies from the four Presidents not represented at the meeting will be at hand.

DENVER, Colo., May 15.—Today a cut from the 15-cent rate to 12½ cents on cereals and other products from Kansas and Nebraska was announced. The freight war if continued will probably result in receiverships for the weaker lines. It is estimated that the earnings of the roads will show a falling off of $3,000,000 for May.

INCOME TAX MENACED

RAILWAY MAGNATES SAID TO BE COMBINED AGAINST IT.

Efforts Also Making to Secure Southern Opposition to the Obnoxious Scheme—Democrats Now Talking of Closure to Aid the Tariff Bill—Action of the Republican Senators Alarms Them—The Party Torn by Dissensions—Mr. Hopkins' Row with Farmer Hatch.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 15.—[Special.]—"I would not be surprised," said a Democratic Senator today, "if we should have a proposition from a Senator from the South to strike the income tax from the tariff bill within a short time. The fact is, opposition to the tariff bill is becoming stronger than ever, and it is on account of the income tax, which is odious to the people of the country who have the most influence."

Democrats in the Senate do not take kindly to the action of the Republican Senatorial caucus of last night. A member of the majority of the Finance committee said this morning that it was fully expected the caucus would discourage a dilatory policy, but the fact that this policy was indirectly indorsed does not give comfort to the managers of the bill. Before the Senate met this morning there was a conference of a few of the Democratic Senators. The action of the caucus was looked upon as a challenge and the best means of meeting it were discussed. There has been a revival of the talk of closure; not a general rule, but a rule applicable to this bill alone. A prominent Democrat said this morning they could get fifty votes to such a rule fixing a time for taking the vote after reasonable debate. The only obstacle to this procedure would be the almost endless debate that would follow the introduction of such a rule.

There is a universal desire among the Republicans to defeat the bill, but it is questioned by many whether the prospects of defeating it by a filibuster are favorable enough to warrant the risk of such a course, but the failure of the Republicans to take the action expected of them has greatly alarmed the Democrats, and there are many who are saying the bill will be defeated. The view taken by many Republicans is that if they prevent a vote being reached in a reasonable time on the protection bill now proposed the Democrats, finding themselves pocketed, may turn and, resorting to desperate means, force some sort of bill through and make it as near a free trade bill in conference as possible. Failing in this they might select some particular industries of the North and East for sacrifice in single bills. Democrats talking of closure appear to have no doubt of the cooperation of the Vice-President. If driven to this their aim will be to make the bill as objectionable to the Republicans as possible.

A story was in circulation at the Capitol today to the effect that a combination has been formed among railroad magnates of the country to defeat the income tax. This combination includes, it is said, every material railroad interest in the United States, and in that way bring to bear an enormous force from every section. An effort is also being made among opponents of the income tax to fight the proposition more because of its sectional feature than upon what is regarded as its unfairness as class legislation. In this way Southern Democrats are being worked on, and they are being appealed to on this ground as the most effective. It is argued that pressing the point that four-fifths of the income tax will come from New England and the Middle States, will be more effective in bringing the Southerners to time than anything else, and this argument will be backed up by the influence quietly wielded by the combination of railroad men. It is said that some Southerners will be more ready to back down from their claims for the income tax as a measure for raising the national finances if they are appealed to on the ground of fairness and desire to eliminate anything that has the color of favoring sections than on any other ground.

PUZZLING QUESTIONS FOR CARLISLE.

Allen Asks for Statistical Information Touching Protected Industries.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 15.—At the opening of the session of the Senate today Mr. Allen (Pop., Neb.) introduced a resolution calling upon the Secretary of the Treasury for information as to the total number of persons engaged in protected industries; the number of such persons whose wages are claimed to be affected by protection; the number whose wages are not affected; also the proportion of the population of the United States dependent upon the foreign market for the sale of their products; also the number of persons engaged in protected industries who are native citizens; the number naturalized, and the number who are aliens; also the proportion of native or naturalized citizens who are being displaced by aliens. The resolution went over.

The Vice-President announced the following committee appointments: Mr. Patton on Claims, Indian Affairs, Epidemic Diseases, Agriculture, and Forestry, Mr. Proctor on Fisheries, Mr. Davis on Census, Mr. McMillan on Naval Affairs.

A bill to place Dunbar Ransom on the retired list of the army as a Captain was passed.

The tariff bill was taken up at noon. Mr. Aldrich's amendment placing a duty of 15 per cent on coal tar preparations not provided for in the bill was defeated.

Report by Voorhees Warmly Debated.

Discussion arose over a report presented by Mr. Voorhees showing the revenue which would be raised under the bill as it passed the House and also as modified by the pending Senate amendments, based upon last year's importations.

Mr. Allison complained that the report presented by Mr. Voorhees was not an estimate at all. It was, he said, an exact computation of the revenue to be raised under a proposed bill based upon a former law.

Mr. Aldrich declared that Senators on the other side, responsible for legislation, must have some idea of the revenue to be raised by this bill. If they had it was clearly their duty to present their ideas on this subject to the Senate.

"O," said Mr. Vest, "we do not propose to go into the domain of conjecture to allow Senators on the other side to filibuster."

"We are not filibustering," shouted half a dozen Republicans in chorus.

"You are not filibustering?" said Mr. Vest, with a temper. "Then what do you call it? You spend hours here in alleged debate on the most insectiferous and insignificant matters. We want to dispose of this bill. Your tactics will not prevail," said Mr. Vest, raising his hand impressively. "We intend to pass this bill if it takes until the snow flies next winter."

Mr. Aldrich protested that the Republicans had no disposition to interpose factious opposition. They would debate it fairly and properly, but they would not filibuster.

Mr. Quay asked that 25 cents specific be substituted for 20 per cent on oxide of cobalt. Mr. Jones accepted the substitute.

Amendments Adopted.

The amendment for restoring the rate on coloring for brandy, wine, beer, and other liquors (50 per cent) was adopted; also the Jones amendment transferring from the free list and making dutiable at 10 per cent drugs, such as barks, beans, berries, balsams, buds, bulbs, bulbous roots, excrescenses, fruits, flowers, dried fibers, dried insects, grains, gums and gum resin, herbs, leaves, lichens, mosses, nuts, roots and stems, spices, vegetables, seeds aromatic, seeds of morbid growth, weeds and woods used expressly for dyeing.

The Jones amendments increasing the duty on sulphuric ether from 35 to 40 cents, nitrous ether from 20 to 25 cents, and fruit ethers of oil or essences from $1 to $2 were agreed to.

Mr. Aldrich moved to increase the duty on crude glycerine from 1 cent to 1¾ cents. Lost—18 to 37.

Mr. Lodge moved to increase the duty on refined glycerine from 3 to 4 cents. Lost—24 to 32.

Mr. Aldrich moved to transfer indigo and its extracts from the free list to the dutiable list at ¾ of a cent per pound. Lost—19 to 28.

Mr. Gallinger moved to increase the duty on ink, ink powders, printers' ink, etc., from 30 to 30 per cent ad valorem. Lost—21 to 34.

Mr. Allison moved to transfer iodine from the free list and to place it on the dutiable list at 20 cents per pound. Lost.

The Jones amendment placing a duty of 5 cents a pound on licorice was agreed to. The following Jones amendments, placing an additional duty of 30 per cent on calcined magnesia; placing a duty on Epsom salts of one-fifth of one cent, and reducing the duty on morphia from 75 to 50 cents per ounce was agreed to.

In the next paragraph (castor oil) Mr. Chandler moved to strike out 35 per cent and substitute 65 cents per gallon. Lost. Mr. Aldrich moved to substitute 15 cents per gallon for 20 per cent ad valorem on cod liver oil. Lost. Then the Senate went into executive session.

TREASURY ESTIMATE OF DUTIES.

Figures on Revenue to Be Raised Under the Present Senate Bill.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 15.—Senator Voorhees, Chairman of the Finance committee, today submitted to the Senate the Treasury estimate of the duties which will be derived under the rates proposed by the latest Senate revision of the tariff bill as compared with the rates under the McKinley law and those under the House bill, basing estimates upon the importations for last year. The estimate shows that if the pending bill becomes a law $4,853,353 will be collected in duty on chemicals, drugs, etc., as against $5,096,316 under the House bill and $6,284,659 under the McKinley law. On earths, earthenware and glassware—Senate bill, $8,832,694; House bill, $8,078,228; McKinley, $12,132,637. Metals and manufactures—Senate, $15,852,576; House, $15,769,653; McKinley, $27,034,637. Wood and manufactures of—Senate, $653,710; House, $648,451; McKinley, $935,381. Sugar—Senate, $43,478,957; House, $16,832; McKinley, $193,294. Tobacco—Senate, $13,337,977; House, $11,528,783; McKinley, $14,831,989; Agricultural products and provisions—Senate, $9,444,973; House, $7,969,748; McKinley, $12,433,855. The rates of duties fixed on the various schedules reduced to ad valorem rates show the following comparisons:

Chemicals—Senate, 24.40; House, 25.09; McKinley, 31.61. Earthenware and glassware—Senate, 37.31; House, 34.37; McKinley, 51.25. Metals and manufactures—Senate, 34.38; House, 35.06; McKinley, 58.43. Wood and manufactures of—Senate, 22.82; House, 22.64; McKinley, 32.66. Sugar and manufactures of—Senate, 39.59; House, 28.43; McKinley, 14.55. Tobacco—Senate, 105.95; House, 91.58; McKinley, 117.82. Agricultural products—Senate, 23.62; House, 21.58; McKinley, 33.21.

HOPKINS AND HATCH HAVE A ROW.

The Illinois Member Greatly Angers the Anti-Option Apostle.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 15.—Speaker Crisp was not in the chair when the House met today, having been called away by the death of Mrs. Crisp's mother. In a letter he designated Mr. Dockery of Missouri as Speaker pro tem.

Among the bills presented was one from the Committee on Labor, reported by Mr. McGann, making labor day a holiday. It was placed on the calendar.

The naval appropriation bills were then taken up. Mr. Cummings' substitute providing that hereafter no cadet should be appointed who was not a resident of the Congressional district he is appointed to represent was agreed to.

When the paragraph relative to armor plate and armament was reached Mr. Meiklejohn offered an amendment providing for the appointment of a select committee of nine members with full power to investigate the alleged armor frauds by the Carnegie Steel company or Carnegie, Phipps & Co., and the assessments made against the company by the President. Mr. Cummings made a point of order against the amendment which the Chair sustained. The construction of three torpedo boats was authorized, and then the bill was passed.

The House next went into committee on the agricultural appropriation bill. During the reading of the bill Mr. Reed took occasion to make a criticism on the evils of reading bills at a railroad rate of speed. A triangular discussion between Mr. Reed, Mr. Hopkins of Illinois, and Mr. Hatch was started as an amusing, friendly debate, but it soon degenerated into an angry personal dispute. Mr. Hopkins accused Mr. Hatch of "juggling" salaries in the Department of Agriculture, when Hatch angrily retorted he would not allow any such imputation on his action, and he assured Mr. Hopkins that if he had made any such remark outside the House he would have had the words rammed down his throat.

Mr. Hatch was shaking his fist in the direction of Mr. Hopkins as he uttered these words, and his excitement was very evident. Some of the Republicans gave vent to derisive noises, but on the Democratic side, and, indeed, generally throughout the House, the threat of the Missouri member had been marked by too much earnestness to make it a laughing matter.

Mr. Hopkins was on his feet as soon as the words were out of Mr. Hatch's mouth. "I do not know," he said, "whether I will need a bodyguard to escort me from the Capitol or not, but I want to say to the gentleman from Missouri that he can take my words in any sense he pleases. I shall neither withdraw nor modify them, and he cannot frighten any one with his blustering manners here."

"I have never been discourteous to any member," replied Mr. Hatch, "except where I have found it necessary to resent an imputation such as was just cast upon me."

It was some time before the angry storm cloud rolled away from the horizon, and the House adjourned.

DISCORD AMONG THE DEMOCRATS.

Facts That Have a Bearing in the Blocking of the Tariff Bill.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 15.—[Special.]—Mr. Voorhees is greatly offended because he was not consulted on the formulation of the new tariff rules, which struck into entirely new paths and left him standing alone at one of the mile stones. Senator Coke has been scored by his Texas constituents for yielding even tacitly to the demands of the "conservatives." Mr. Harris, although in command of the stalwart forces in favor of the tariff, has heard from the Democrats of his State. Brice is tired of being pointed out as the champion of all the trusts. The Ohio Senator is said to have Presidential aspirations and thinks he cannot afford to occupy the position of a trust advocate much longer. He is anxious to unload some of his burden on the shoulders of his associates. Mr. Voorhees, for example, is said to stand between the whisky trust and any legislation interfering with its interest. In this category also is reckoned Senator Blackburn. Mills' position is well known and the feelings of Smith and McPherson are not hidden under a bushel.

These instances of the discordant condition of the Democrats by no means exhaust the list, but they serve to illustrate what is keeping the tariff bill from being pushed to an early vote. If the Democrats were really united, or any six of them had a policy on which they could agree, they could secure enough votes among the Western Republicans to force a vote after a reasonable time had been given to debate.

Mr. Hill is working with indefatigable energy to sow discord, for as long as he can keep the party from agreeing on a tariff bill he is doing his duty by his constituents. Besides disorder and confusion naturally appeal to his nature. He likes to be raising a rumpus all the time. In the meantime the sugar men are doing what they can to prevent harmony. No one has been more industrious in the lobbies than Henry T. Oxnard, the beet sugar producer of Nebraska and California. He took an excursion party to Mississippi and at a reception made a speech in which he told the Mississippians that the world did not contain soil adapted to the raising of sugar beets like the bottoms of Mississippi. It was not long after this that the Mississippi Senators began to hear from their constituents. They were told to stand pat on sugar for the well-being of the State. This is one example of Oxnard's cleverness.

Senator Peffer has a son who has never been the ornament to the House of Peffer. Oxnard made court to the Peffer family and was soon a welcome guest in their circle. There was talk of the son, when was heard the sterner judgment of the elder Peffer, and the milder judgment of the fond mother. Oxnard took the mother's view of the boy's qualities and offered to prove that the father's opinions were based on prejudice by engaging him for one of his sugar factories at a salary of $100 a month. Senator George also has a son, who has just graduated from college and a law school. Oxnard employed him in some law business in which the beet sugar industry is interested. Thus Oxnard sweeps like a besom over the field and picks up whatever is worth garnering with the painstaking scrutiny of a cyclone.

These are some of the instances that are talked about beneath the dome of the Capitol that would go to make up interesting chapters in the secret history of the tariff bill in the Senate.

CHICAGO INDIAN WAREHOUSE FIGHT.

New York's Board of Trade and Transportation Sends Out a Buncombe Circular.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 15.—[Special.]—Congressman Aldrich and other Representatives have received a printed petition from the New York Board of Trade and Transportation asking them to aid in striking out of the Indian appropriation bill the provision for the establishment of the principal depot for Indian supplies at Chicago. Among the reasons advanced why the depot should not be taken from New York are briefly:

It is unprecedented and opposed to the best interests of the government to hamper the free action of the Secretary of any department; that the government makes special freight contracts in New York on supplies for delivery to the agencies; that New York is the recognized established market for these classes of supplies; that this requires and demands that the bids and samples for the offering of goods, which are products of the East, be received at the Eastern warehouse; and that it appears certain claims and erroneous conclusions were presented to the Honorable Secretary of the Interior by those favoring the closing of the New York warehouse.

An attempt is also made to show that the warehouse can be run in New York more economically than in Chicago. The circular concludes with a letter from Secretary Smith, under date of March 31, to Commissioner Browning, giving his reasons why a supply depot should be kept in New York and another in Chicago.

NOTES FROM THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

Populist Boen Wants Another United States Judge Investigated.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 15.—Representative Boen (Pop., Minn.) introduced a resolution today to investigate the conduct of United States courts in his State in a matter which has stirred up much feeling. It is charged in the resolution that the law has been annulled by Judge R. R. Nelson adjourning the court at Fergus Falls before completing business, by not calling the juries as provided by law, and by taking to St. Paul, a distance of 200 miles, for trial a large number of laboring men charged with offenses against the United States who live within thirty miles of Fergus Falls, thereby putting them and the government to useless expense. The Committee on Judiciary is empowered by the resolution to investigate the conduct of the Judge of the court and the Marshal regarding all of these matters.

Confirmed by the Senate.

The Senate in executive session made the following confirmations: George Keman of Wisconsin, now Consul at Kehl, to be Consul at Bremen. Herbert H. D. Price of Massachusetts, to be Secretary of Legation at St. Petersburg, Russia. Postmasters: Iowa—James H. Woodstock at Clear Lake, Augustus C. Tupper at Osage. Kansas—Alfred B. Erick at Baxter Springs. Enos L. Stephenson at Garden City. Illinois—William A. Davidson at Eureka. North Dakota—Willis A. Joy at Grand Forks.

Farewell Dinner to Prof. Holmes.

Associates of Prof. W. H. Holmes in the Bureau of Ethnology, the National Museum, the Smithsonian Institution, and the Geological Survey will give a farewell dinner to him at Willard's Hotel tomorrow evening. Prof. Holmes has accepted an important position in the Columbian Museum at Chicago. He is also a lecturer in the Chicago University.

Chairman Wilson Warmly Welcomed.

The entrance of Chairman Wilson of the Ways and Means committee into the House today for the first time after his long illness was the signal for a spontaneous outburst of applause. In an instant business was suspended and members flocked around the West Virginian to welcome him back to Congress and congratulate him on his recovery.

Wants an Armor-Plate Investigation.

Representative Dunphy of New York today introduced a resolution providing for a joint committee of three members of the House and two Senators, who shall investigate the condition of all armor-plates and bolts furnished to the government by the Carnegie Steel company during the entire period of the contract.

Marshal Arnold Gratified.

Marshal John W. Arnold, who has been here on business connected with the duties of his office, has been gratified by a decision of the Attorney-General to allow an estimate made for new furniture for the Federal courts at Chicago.

Washington Briefs.

Commissioner Lamoreux of the General Land Office has returned from Wisconsin.

The House Committee on Pensions today voted to report a bill increasing the rates of all pensioners of the Mexican war and Indian wars from $8 to $12 a month.

Representatives Curtis and Maddox, a subcommittee on Indian affairs, will report a bill this week to enable treaties to be ratified so that the Wichita, Kiowa, Comanche, and Apache Reservations may be opened up next spring.

The legislative, judicial, and executive appropriation bill, completed today, omits the item for sugar inspectors, heretofore carried in the bill, as the committee evidently believe there will be an abolition of sugar bounties. The whole amount recommended in the bill is $21,101,823.

In the agricultural bill there is an item providing for the maintenance of telegraphic or telephonic communication between Middle and Thunder Bon Islands and Alpena, Mich. By the same bill there is appropriated $130,000 for the purchase, propagation, and distribution as required by law of seeds, bulbs, trees, vines, cuttings, and plants to be distributed in localities adapted to their culture.

BIDS FOR INDIAN-SUPPLY CONTRACTS.

Commissioner Browning Supervises the Details of the Operation.

The first opening of sealed bids for furnishing the government with Indian supplies took place yesterday at the new government warehouse, Nos. 130 and 132 West Washington street. D. M. Browning supervised the opening of the bids. DeWitt C. Cregier, the new Superintendent of the warehouse, was present looking after details. There were 400 bids for the different contracts, and, with few exceptions, the bidders were Chicago men. The bids first opened were those for transportation of the supplies to the 130 different points from which they are distributed to the Indians. Then the bids to furnish flour were opened and then for beef. It will be two or three days before the first contract is let. Over $1,000,000 worth of supplies is to be purchased.

Women and Women Only

Are most competent to fully appreciate the purity, sweetness, and delicacy of CUTICURA SOAP, and to discover new uses for it daily.

For annoying irritations, chafings and excoriations of the skin and mucous membrane or too free or offensive perspiration it has proved most grateful.

In the preparation of curative washes, solutions, etc., it is most valuable; possessing, by means of its combination with CUTICURA, peculiarly purifying, cleansing and soothing properties. It is thus enabled to heal mucous irritations, the cause of many annoying and debilitating weaknesses, while it imparts strength to the membrane.

CUTICURA SOAP possesses antiseptic properties and is capable of destroying microscopic life in many forms.

There is no difference between the skin and the mucous membrane except that one is dry the other moist. Hence CUTICURA SOAP exerts the same purifying, soothing, and healing influence in one case as in the other.

Like all others of the CUTICURA REMEDIES the CUTICURA SOAP appeals to the refined and cultivated everywhere as the most effective skin purifying and beautifying soap as well as the purest and sweetest for toilet and nursery.

Sale greater than the combined sales of all other skin and complexion soaps.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 16, 1894.

O SUGAR, what Senatorial reputations have been wrecked in thy name!

THE inevitableness of Congressman Bland grows more and more fatiguing.

UNCLE SAM'S armor-plated cruisers are invincible and invulnerable so long as there is no enemy to fire a gun at them.

IT is mentioned as a mitigating circumstance that the latest Kansas lynching was an "orderly affair." That is to say, nobody was hurt except the lynchee.

THE New York stock market was heavy. The local market was also weak. New York exchange sold at 30 to 35 cents premium. Sterling rates continue strong.—The leading produce markets exhibited general declines. This was most marked in wheat, which was depressed through lower cables, liquidation, and selling by aggressive bears. As compared with the latest prices of the previous day July wheat closed 1 cent lower, placing it at the lowest figures in the history of the trade, corn ⅝ cent lower, oats ¼ cent lower, cash rye steady, barley easy, flaxseed ½ cent higher, July pork 22½ cents lower, lard 10 cents lower, and ribs 12½ cents lower.

THE French Government is seriously considering the decline of the population over which it rules, and is disposed to lighten the tax burdens of large families. One of the propositions in the budget recently submitted by M. Burdeau is that the house tax shall be reduced by 25 per cent in the case of persons having three, 50 per cent to those having five, and 80 per cent for those who have seven children under 16 years of age. The last named class already has enjoyed exemption from the personal tax since 1890, and this, with the door and window tax, is to be merged into the house duty. It is estimated that a million parents, having four million children, will be benefited by the proposed enactment.

THE burglary industry, though not an infant one, seems to enjoy the enthusiastic protection of the Democratic Aldermen, but it is not often that the Democratic city father extends his guardianship over the burglar who makes a fellow Democratic city father his victim. It is common enough to find Aldermen going on the bail bonds of burglars who break into the houses of merchants, professional men, and unofficial persons generally, but it is a new development of the Aldermanic-Democratic protection idea for one of the Democratic Aldermen to bail out the burglar who got away with his Democratic colleague's diamond star. Ald. Martin, the burglar-bailer in question, is a new man in the Council. His fellow Aldermen may look for important further developements in his part of the Council chamber.

AT the last meeting of the Council one of the Aldermen introduced a series of orders which were passed revoking the permits of several curbstone dealers for fruit stands on the street corners and sidewalks. Those revoked orders never ought to have been passed. The sidewalk space is insufficient in the business district of the city and should not be limited further by the encroachments of the curbstone peddlers. But it is to be feared that the Alderman who presented the revocations will soon introduce another crop of permit orders into the Council, and that they will be passed. It has been suggested by some of his colleagues that the revocations were but a preliminary to a "reassessment" of the curbstone dealers. The Mayor, who will have something to do with the new permits, ought to remember that.

MR. MUNDELLA will doubtless be reëlected in the division of Sheffield, which he has represented in Parliament since 1885, and to whose voters he has appealed for "vindication" against the criticisms of the London press. He had a majority of 1,277 there in 1892, and even in 1886 had a majority of 846. But it may be a different story with Sir James Fergusson, the Tory ex-Postmaster-General, who has been as badly smirched by the investigations into the operations of the New Zealand Land company as Mundella, should he appeal to his constituents. He had a majority of only 110 at the last election, and this majority was obtained by means that would hardly stand investigation. If Fergusson seeks "vindication" he will hardly be vindicated. Sir John Gorst, his Tory companion in misfortune, need have no fears on that score. He is one of the members for Cambridge University—not Oxford University, as erroneously stated yesterday—and the dons of that institution are so stoutly Tory that they will have no hesitation in indorsing the stock-jobbing gentleman who represents them as long as he sticks by his Toryism.

ALD. MADDEN boldly charged in the Council Monday evening that the special assessment ordinance which he had passed two years ago and which provided that assessments should be based on the contract price of work as ascertained by bids received in reply to advertisements for that work had failed through a conspiracy between the contractors and the engineers and other officials of the Public Works Department. They had contrived to make the ordinance odious because it left nothing for "extras." Nothing to divide between the contractors and the officials who "stand in" with them. When the ordinance was repealed THE TRIBUNE suggested that these were the reasons for the repeal. The contractors lobbied for it and swarmed on the floor of the Council the evening of the repeal. They were active Monday and last week in securing the passage of the partial payment assessment ordinances, which, as Ald. Hepburn charged, were drawn up by the attorney of the Barber Asphalt company, which keeps a string of lobbyists in the Council ante-room at every meeting. Under all the circumstances the Mayor should carefully examine those ordinances before he approves them. It appears that interest on the proposed bonds begins on the date of their issue, though the work may not be completed for a year after. This seems an injustice. No provision is made either for the redemption of the bonds before their maturity by a property owner who may prefer to redeem them rather than continue paying interest on them. These features will bear examination and probably amendment also.

THE SHAME OF CHICAGO.

At no time in its history has Chicago been so filthy as it is at present, and that is saying a good deal. At no time in its history have the authorities been as inefficient and negligent as they are now in enforcing the ordinances which make for municipal cleanliness. At no time in its history has the street-cleaning department been such an utter miserable failure. At no time before in its history have streets remained uncleaned for weeks and alleys been left untouched for months until garbage boxes are overrunning with their long-accumulated filth, and yet the taxpayers of Chicago are paying large sums of money to contractors for work which is either shamefully slighted or not done at all.

A reporter for THE TRIBUNE the other day made a tour of Clark street from Madison to Twelfth and stated in its last issue what he saw on that street, as well as on eastern parallel avenues. Had he gone farther south, even to Thirty-ninth street, he would have found the same disgraceful, if not a worse, condition of things. The streets and alleys all over the city are reeking with filth which has accumulated for months. No effort is made to remove it. Either the street-cleaning department has abandoned its work or it does not know filth and garbage when it sees them. Paper of all kinds is thrown into the streets and not a policeman on his beat stops it, though it is his duty to do so. Wagon loads of filthy waste paper have been dumped on vacant lots, and the first wind blows it all over the vicinity. Flower sellers on the street corners throw their withered blooms into the gutters and fruit sellers dump their rotton bananas and oranges into the same convenient receptacle. Shopkeepers sweep all their refuse directly into the street and saloons deposit their stinking filth in the alleys. Cheap restaurant keepers throw loads of rotton stuff where they please because they are in no danger of prosecution. There is not a street in the City of Chicago except the southern part of Michigan boulevard and some of the finer residence streets of the North Division, east of Clark, cleaned by private contract, which is not a disgrace to the authorities as well as to the people, for the filth is not confined to the slums and poorer sections of the city. It is everywhere and it is increasing every day because no effort is made to remove it. The streets are left untouched. The alley garbage boxes have not been emptied for months. The sewers are choked up, and as a result the water stands in the streets in filthy puddles, into which all this refuse is dumped. Thus they are converted into cesspools endangering the health of the city. What with the streets and alleys thus reeking with filth and decaying matter under foot, with the air choked with soot and smoke overhead, with people throwing their refuse directly into alleys and street gutters, with policemen who apparently do not know dirt when they see it or stench when they smell it, with tons of fetid stuff dumped directly into the lake, with contractors taking thousands of dollars out of the City Treasury for unfulfilled contracts and city officials sitting idly by doing nothing, it is little wonder that fevers of all kinds are breaking out and smallpox is raging. Smallpox is born of filth. The city authorities have ordered wholesale vaccination. That will do no good so long as the present conditions exist. If the Mayor would order the vaccination of contractors for dishonesty and laziness, or both, of his policemen for open and defiant violation of ordinances, of the Health Department for public spirit, sanitary knowledge, and common sense, then there might be some hope.

Will the Mayor give this matter his personal attention? Will he compel contractors to live up to their contracts? Will he instruct his policemen to enforce ordinances upon pain of dismissal? Will he stir up the Health and the Street-Cleaning Departments? And will he do it at once? The hot season is rapidly coming, and if a radical change is not effected at once Chicago will stand in danger of a pestilence. Or will he go on shutting his eyes to the condition of the city and make it a byword all over the country? In the name of cleanliness and common decency, Mr. Mayor, wake up and clean the city. It is the most important duty that confronts you. Give us clean air to breathe, clean water to drink, clean streets and alleys, and a clean bill of health. You can do it if you will.

THE UNCONSTITUTIONAL GERRYMANDER

The Democrats want to lug in a mass of extraneous matter at Danville simply for the purpose of delay. That is the sole object of the attempt to file a new answer, get new people into the suit, and raise new issues. They wish to get in some more questions of fact and get up a controversy over them. The Democrats have a case of their own at Springfield, but nothing more will be heard of that if they are able to stop the progress of the Danville one and keep it from reaching the Supreme Court at the June term. Judge Bookwalter will be justified in refusing to grant the Democrats what they ask for. If there are any points they think are not raised in their Danville suit let them raise them in their own Springfield one.

The Danville case is based on the allegation that the apportionment law of 1893 is not constitutional, because a number of the districts made by it are not "formed of contiguous and compact territory" and do not "contain, as nearly as practicable, an equal number of inhabitants." Do the districts which are objected to comply with the constitutional requirements or not? If they do the law is valid. If they do not, it is not. The power to decide is vested in the Supreme Court, which can compare with the supreme law—the Constitution—any law the Legislature may pass. If it does not accord with that supreme law it is not the law but a nullity.

The Democrats in the Legislature have taken the Counties of Lee, De Kalb, Kendall, and Grundy, have tacked them together, and call them the Twenty-ninth District. He must have odd ideas of contiguity and compactness who can claim that this shapeless geographical abortion, which runs north and then runs west, and the distance from whose southeastern to whose northwestern corner measures two-thirds of the width of the State of Illinois, is the kind of district which the Constitution calls for. The Legislature has no authority to repeal or nullify the Constitution and substitute methods which please it for those prescribed by the organic law.

The total population of the so-called Twenty-ninth District is 86,383. Will, which has a population of 62,007, is made a district by itself. The difference in population between these two districts is 24,376, or nearly one-third of a ratio. If Grundy had been attached to Will the two counties would have had 83,031 inhabitants, as against 65,359 in Lee, Kendall, and De Kalb. There would have been a difference in population still of 17,672, but the districts would have been more nearly equal than before, while the taking of Grundy from the Twenty-ninth District and attaching it to Will would have made the Twenty-ninth District less violative of the requirements concerning compactness and contiguity.

Why did not the Legislature make these changes? For partisan reasons alone. Those reasons do not appear in the record which will go to the Supreme Court, for the Judges cannot ask why a bill was passed but whether it conforms with the Constitution. An unconstitutional law passed with the best of motives must go. A constitutional one passed with the worst of motives has to stand till the people repeal it. But the reasons which actuated the Democrats in the Legislature can be set out fully in the record which is made up for the information and guidance of the people.

De Kalb gives a heavy Republican majority. Lee, Kendall, and Grundy give smaller but trustworthy ones. Will is a county which the Democrats hope to carry by a scratch in off years. If Grundy, with its small but reliable Republican majority, were attached to Will it is quite possible the Democrats never would carry such a district while the conditions are what they are now. Therefore, while the transfer of Grundy would make two districts which would be more nearly equal in population than now and more nearly compact and contiguous the Democrats would not make the change because it would have deprived them of the contingent possibility of carrying a district. That possibility weighed more with them than constitutional requirements.

The grossly partisan nature of the apportionment is as apparent in the Cook County districts as in those made in other parts of the State. Nothing is easier than to make symmetrical, compact districts in this county, and yet compactness and contiguity have been disregarded. Said Capt. Hunt, in the course of his argument:

> Here is a map representing what is known as the Seventh Senatorial District, which comprises that part of the County of Cook outside the City of Chicago, except the Town of Calumet. A glance is all the discussion that district requires. A district that runs from the extreme southeast—from the Indiana line—to the northwest corner of the county, and from the southwest corner around down to the lake and to Lake County on the north. Does that conform to the mandate of the Constitution? I submit not, your Honor, and no argument, no ingenuity, can make a fact of that kind conform to constitutional requirements.

So dense is the population of Chicago that it is easy to make districts which are nearly equal in population as well as compact. Yet while the ratio in this county is 79,461 two districts have an average population of 86,687. They are over 7,000 in excess of the ratio, while they could have been made to conform exactly to it. That conformity was not sought for by the Democrats, for what they were aiming at was the making of an apportionment which would give them the Legislature though beaten in the State at large by 30,000 votes.

That was the motive which actuated the Democrats. In their effort to carry it out they have violated the Constitution repeatedly and defiantly. If such violations are to be tolerated by a court whose duty it is to enforce the mandates of the Constitution against Legislatures or executive officers as well as against private citizens the right to equal representation will be nullified and the government, ceasing to be that of the whole people, will become that of a party which can so gerrymander the State as to retain the control of the Legislature though in a hopeless minority of the total vote.

LINCOLN ON LABOR AND CAPITAL.

In one of his messages to Congress President Lincoln spoke of the true relations of labor and capital. To the language then used by him he added a few sentences in March, 1864, when he replied to a workingman's association that had made him an honorary member. The following is that part of the message bearing most directly on the subject, with its later addendum:

> It is assumed that labor is available only in connection with capital; that nobody labors unless somebody else, owning capital, somehow by the use of it induces him to labor. Now there is no such relation between labor and capital as assumed; nor is there any such thing as a free man being fixed for life in the condition of a hired laborer. Labor is prior to and independent of capital. Capital is only the fruit of labor, and could never have existed if labor had not first existed. Capital has its rights, which are as worthy of protection as any other rights. Nor is it denied that there is, and probably always will be, a relation between capital and labor, producing mutual benefits. The error is in assuming that the whole labor of the community exists within that relation. A large majority neither work for others nor have others working for them. A considerable number mingle their own labor with capital; that is, they labor with their own hands, and also buy or hire others to labor for them; but this is only a mixed and not a distinct class. Property is the fruit of labor; property is desirable; is a positive good in the world. That some should be rich shows that others may become rich, and hence is just encouragement to industry and enterprise. Let not him that is houseless pull down the house of another, but let him work diligently and build one for himself; thus by example assuring that his own shall be safe from violence when built.

These are words of wisdom that should be taken up and read from every one of those pulpits in the land the occupants of which have taken to discoursing on the topics of socialism and political economy. The quotation ought to be published in all the journals which professedly are devoted to advocating the cause of labor. It should be read by every employer and wageworker in the United States, for it would help them to think in the right direction on one of the most important topics of the time. Abraham Lincoln was the most thoughtful and perhaps the most original of the distinguished men who have occupied the Presidential chair, and this utterance is one of the most philosophically truthful that ever was made by him. It covers the whole situation in a few short sentences.

Conditions have changed some since the death of President Lincoln. Capital, which is the accumulation of the surplus fruits of labor, is more abundant and more of it is used to increase the productivity of labor in the present than was the case thirty years ago. But there is no change in the principle. No free man is fixed for life in the position of a hired laborer. If he saves, as others have done before him, he may become an employer. The fact that many thousands of others in the United States have graduated in that way from poverty to riches shows that he too may become rich, and the certainty that he would be secure in the possession of the capital thus acquired is the best possible incentive to the industry and enterprise of individuals which is for the best good of the community as a whole. If the men who do not own their homes should pull down the residences of persons better circumstanced than themselves, as suggested by a cranky Kansas official, they would discourage the building of new houses and the thrift which renders such building possible. But if the men who pay rent save enough to build homes for themselves and families and invest their savings in that way they become interested in the preservation of property rights, "which are as worthy of protection as any other rights," and their example and influence will stimulate others to "go and do likewise." No small part of the necessary encouragement to this course is a reasonable assurance to the saver that his home shall be free from violence when built.

WILD DEMANDS OF THE PULLMAN MEN.

The Pullman strikers have drawn up a petition which they are going to submit to Congress. It contains their scheme of social regeneration and higher wages. They want the referendum as far as the more important laws are concerned. They want the President, Senators, Cabinet officers, Postmasters, and other Federal officials and all United States Judges except those of the Supreme Court chosen by direct vote. They want boards of mining, agriculture, law, and labor, whose heads must be chosen by direct popular vote, it being their duty to furnish "reliable statistics" when desired. They also want boards of arbitration established to fix employés' wages. In short they want to remodel the Constitution of the United States.

This interesting list of demands is prefaced by an attack on Congress for "contracting the volume of the money of the people by law so that its volume will not equal the annual taxation"—which is an amazing falsehood—and for "permitting fifty millions in gold bonds to be issued." Those bonds were sold to get gold to protect the currency of the country, whose depreciation and instability harms the wageworker more than any one else. Congress is abused also for allowing "a money oligarchy" to grow up and for following the dictates of "the gold monopolists of the world."

Evidently this petition is the work of some Populist-Socialist who has strayed here from the West or the South and who has persuaded the Pullman strikers that compliance with these crazy demands will get them steady work at good wages. These men have not found out yet what hurt them, or if they have found it out they are unwilling to confess it because their votes helped to bring it about. They complain in their petition of "iniquitous laws which have permitted a system to develop which makes the rich richer and the poor poorer." There have been no such laws. The system which was developing up to last year was a protection one, which made both rich and poor richer. Under that system the wages of the workingmen practically doubled between 1860 and 1893. The old system did not harm the Pullman strikers.

The intention of the Democrats to introduce a new free trade system has made both rich and poor poorer. That has hurt the workingman most of all. That has cut down wages at Pullman—that and that alone. What is needed to stop the scaling down of wages and of profits is to go back to the old system. The way to do it is to stop meddling with the tariff. But instead of asking Congress to do that which is perfectly feasible the men at Pullman ask for remedies, or what they consider such, many of which it is not in the power of Congress to grant and which the people of the United States never will consent to. The strikers had bad advisers when they quit work and have equally bad advisers now when they are clamoring for a remodeling of the Federal Constitution.

THE latest estimate of the effect of the tariff bill, as finally amended, is that it will produce a surplus of nearly $70,000,000 during the first year and of $50,000,000 for each of the four following years during which the income tax will be in force. The surplus will be larger than previous estimates because it is anticipated that the income tax collections will amount to $30,000,000 from corporations alone and $10,000,000 from other source, while it has been assumed hitherto that the total revenue from that tax would not exceed thirty millions. The surplus for the first year will be larger than for subsequent ones because of the great inrush of goods immediately after the duties are lowered.

Thus at the close of the five years there will be a surplus of $265,000,000 in the Treasury, provided it is not squandered in the meantime. The probabilities are it will be. A dispatch says:

> Members of Congress who are fighting for public buildings, river and harbor improvements, and private claims are already looking forward hopefully to the opportunity of seizing upon this surplus in the next Congress, if not at the short session of the present Congress next winter.

This is what might be expected. When there is a surplus the temptation is strong to expend it. The greater the surplus the wilder the schemes devised for getting rid of it. A surplus generally means extravagance. Why do the Democrats, who used to object to surpluses as long as there were any, go to work now to make a surplus to lead Congressmen into temptation? Why do they retain an offensive income tax which will provide most of the surplus? Is it their intention to take millions from the pockets of those who manage Northern industries and use the money to build dirt walls along the Mississippi to protect Southern planters? Very probably.

A BOOK recently issued, entitled "Common Sense Currency," written by John Phin, contains the following exposure of a blunder made by Bland, which seems otherwise to have escaped notice: "What can be expected from American legislation relating to scientific subjects when our system of politics places at the head of a committee dealing almost wholly with scientific questions—that on Coinage, Weights, and Measures—a man who is so ignorant of the very elements of one of the fundamental sciences as to be capable of writing and publishing the following: 'a gold dollar being by the ratio then and now established sixteen times lighter than the silver dollar, and hence the gold eagle, or ten dollar piece, being one hundred and sixty times per weight lighter than ten dollars of silver'?" This is quoted from Bland's article in the North American Review for April, 1893, page 486. Such a mistake hardly can excite wonder in the minds of those who know that the whole course of Bland on the silver question is a huge blunder, possible only to one who is laboring under a bad confusion of ideas, if nothing worse. Another statement made in the same book is worthy of wide circulation: "Some of the most ardent advocates of the use of silver as money claim as a strong point in its favor that the portion of the population of the globe which uses silver as a standard is larger than that which uses gold. This is very likely true, but our impression is that the financial methods of nations in which the average rate of wages is less than 15 cents a day are not good models for the American mechanic and farmer."

DURING the last two months gold has been exported to the amount of $22,000,000 and the Treasury reserve has fallen to ninety millions. If the Democratic tariff policy as regards sugar is carried out the exportation of gold will continue on a larger scale, and it will be necessary to sell more bonds to replenish the Treasury. As it is the intention of the Democrats that the sugar duty shall not go into force until Jan. 1, the sugar trust has made contracts for the entire crop of the West India Islands, intending to import it all before the end of the year. Much of this sugar will have to be paid for in gold, and that gold will be drawn from the Treasury. Of the gold shipped during the last two months much went in payment for sugar. And yet the Democratic President and Secretary of the Treasury are the ones who have recommended this policy in regard to sugar and the sugar trust—a policy which will deplete the Treasury of gold and endanger the stability of the currency. To replace that gold more bonds will have to be sold and the national debt will be increased in order that the Democratic sugar trust may rake in fifty millions.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

Miss Charity Insley, a Chicago member of the Schiller opera company, made her first appearance at that theater last evening in the rôle of Laura in "The Beggar Student," a part in which she is to alternate with Miss Delaport. Somewhat nervous at the outset, Miss Insley gained in animation with the progression of the opera, and clearly evidenced her natural ability. From the close of the first act, in which she won an encore, Miss Insley, who promises to be an excellent addition to the company, demonstrated more fully the capacity of her voice, clear and agreeable in quality, and was well received on the part of the audience. The humor of Mr. Wolff as General Ollendorf was even more insinuating in its dryness than upon the occasion of the first performance, while the comedy work of Beaumont Smith, somewhat toned down, proved much more acceptable. The naive and vivacious Bronaslave of Miss Jane Stuart and the work of Mr. Libbey and Mr. Stevens went to make an enjoyable presentation in which there is increased smoothness in performance and genuineness of animation. The first matinée of the company will take place at the Schiller Theater this afternoon, when "The Beggar Student" will be presented.

Charles H. Hoyt returned from New York yesterday to take personal charge of his farce, "A Milk White Flag," now in its seventh week at the Grand Opera-House. His coming will bring about a number of marked changes in company and play. J. C. Miron, the bass singer who has appeared in the rôle of Gen. Hurley Burleigh since the beginning of the engagement, will retire from the company, as he is under contract to sing in Francis Wilson's company. His place will be filled by either Newton Chisnell or Robert Roberts. The rôle of the bandmaster, Steele Ayres, will be pushed forward and given more importance. It will be played after next week by William Hatter, who has come on from the East for the purpose. Frank Baldwin, who has played the bandmaster since the beginning of the engagement, will not leave the cast, but will probably be given the rôle of the Lieutenant, Shed Gore, which was taken out before the Chicago production. These changes will necessitate altering the apportionment of singing parts, as Mr. Hatter, the new bandmaster, will sing bass. In such an event the newcomer in the rôle of the General will play the part "legitimately"—that is, without singing. It is more than likely Mr. Hoyt's return will lead to the introduction of much new "business" and perhaps new songs.

The difficulty between the manager and members of the Edwards Athletic and Specialty company at the Academy of Music, which prevented the regular performance being given Monday night, was temporarily patched up yesterday and the house was open as usual last night. Several members of the company, among them Harry P. Keily, the stage manager, refused to continue unless salaries, which were badly in arrears, were paid up. W. A. Edwards, who is chiefly interested in matching Steve O'Donnell for a fight, although he is the proprietor of the organization, drew out, and the members, directed by Mr. Keily, will continue to work on the coöperative plan and attempt to retrieve their fortunes. Several members withdrew and their places were filled by local variety performers. Last night's bill included Patti Henri, Florence Townsend, the Murray twin sisters, Lottie West Symonds, Perry and Tenbrooke, Harrigan and Black, Rossley Brothers, the Imperial Quartet, Steve O'Donnell, Billy Woods, and Harry P. Keily. A creditable variety performance was given.

The Columbia Theater will be closed for one week following the withdrawal of "Venus" next Sunday evening and pending the first production of Sydney Grundy's drama "Sowing the Wind" Monday evening, May 28, when Charles Frohman's stock company begins a long engagement. Manager Davis will utilize the "off" week renovating the theater and preparing for the summer run. The offices of the theater will be rearranged and newly decorated. Manager Davis says he is not closing the theater because he wishes to, but for the reason that he is unable to find a creditable company to play during the week.

Decorators and painters will begin work upon the interior of Hooley's Theater next week. The house will undergo its summer cleaning and the mural decorations will be renewed. It will in no way conflict with the regular performances at the house, however. Hooley's will not be closed during the summer season.

The fourth annual concert of the Tomaso Mandolin Orchestra took place in Central Music Hall last evening. The orchestra was assisted in the performance of a popular program by Miss Alida Varena, Sig. Carpi, and William S. Baxter.

After next week the Haymarket will close its doors for the summer, not to open again until Sept. 1. Extensive repairs and redecoration will be undertaken during the summer.

MUDDLES THE COURT.

WILLIAM J. STRONG GIVES JUDGE CHETLAIN LAW POINTS.

Kansas City Lawyer Appears as a "Friend of the Court" and Befuddles Judge and Counsel in Election Commissioners' Contempt Case—Decision Delayed—Sam B. Raymond for County Treasurer—City Hall Bosses Will Choose Democratic Candidates and Save Voters Trouble.

Contrary to expectations, the argument was not completed yesterday in the contempt proceedings before Judge Chetlain growing out of the refusal of the Election Commissioners to produce before the special grand jury the ballots cast at the April election in the Twenty-second Precinct of the Twenty-ninth Ward. In the forenoon Levy Mayer, one of the attorneys for the Election Commissioners, made a long argument, in which he practically asked the court to adjudge his clients guilty of contempt, indicating that it was the desire of the Election Commissioners to get a decision from the Supreme Court as early as possible on the questions involved.

This argument consumed the morning session, and at noon Assistant State's-Attorney Morrison and John N. Jewett had a conference and concluded not to make a reply, as Mr. Mayer had ingenuously avoided bringing the real issue before the court.

It was their intention to make a brief statement and then let Judge Chetlain render his decision, but one William J. Strong put in an appearance and spoke "as a friend of the court," and managed to stir up both sides pretty thoroughly and apparently embarrass the court by taking the position that the court was without jurisdiction. He urged that the grand jury be recalled and that a new charge be delivered. This, he said, should be done because the point had been raised that the court had charged the jury to investigate the December election when the contempt case was based on a subpœna for ballots cast at the April election. Before he came in all parties had agreed that if the case did go to the upper court it would be purely on its merits.

The Strong Man Appears.

When Mr. Morrison introduced Mr. Strong he did so by request and said that Mr. Strong would speak as a "friend of the court." The fact of the matter seems to have been that Mr. Strong worked what some people about the Criminal Court Building were unkind enough to term a confidence game on Judge Chetlain. It seems that a few days ago Strong, who is a newcomer in town, called on the Judge with a number of letters of introduction. These letters expatiated upon Strong's prolific knowledge of contempt proceedings and cases where ballots were wanted. As the Judge had stated in the former proceedings he would recognize any members of the bar desiring to be heard, he concluded to give Strong a chance. When he had talked for half an hour the attorneys were kept busy figuring out which side the young legal light, recently from Kansas City, was arguing. Finally, after a shift or two, he took the tack that the court was without jurisdiction. "I want it understood," shouted Mr. Morrison, "that Mr. Jewett and myself take exactly the opposite position. We do not want the court to understand Mr. Strong is voicing our sentiments." Mr. Morrison said "the friend of the court" was badly off as to the facts as to the case at bar and he placed a great deal of emphasis on the words "friend of the court."

"The Friend" Quotes Law.

Mr. Strong then proceeded to read decisions by the Supreme Court of California and Mississippi and Justice Field. Levy Mayer, who had been attempting to conceal his merriment, finally laughed outright and then proceeded to put questions to Mr. Strong, whereupon Mr. Strong became somewhat mixed in his replies.

Had it not been for Mr. Strong the court would no doubt have rendered a decision and the fight to keep the Election Commissioners out of jail would have commenced. The attorneys for the Election Commissioners have confidence in their ability to get the case on the way to the upper court without the Commissioners being actually thrown in jail but refuse to make their program known.

Mr. Mayer and Mr. Boyle made an attempt when court opened to throw the burden of proof upon the State and force the prosecution to make the first argument. This was knocked out by Judge Chetlain. Mr. Mayer in his opening argument referred to the case of Dichey against the people, in which the Supreme Court had reversed the order of the lower court and adjudged the plaintiff free from contempt. After a long discussion of the election law and the summing up of his conclusions on that point Mr. Mayer said: "We are not arguing in the hope nor do we desire to change your Honor's prior opinion. We ask the court to rule as this court deems right, but we say to the court that the Election Commissioners appear here as public functionaries; they are anxious with this Court to arrive at the proper conclusion. How is that to be done? The Supreme Court of this State is not in session, your Honor. It does not convene until June. The Supreme Court, therefore, can issue no writ, because the court is in vacation and no member of that court has the right to issue on behalf of that court a writ of habeas corpus, and that is the court to which both sides in this controversy must look for an authoritative and final decision, and the question, in my humble judgment, which should animate the court and counsel for both sides is how can this question in the most expeditious manner possible get before the court whose opinion is the law of this State?"

Mr. Morrison spoke briefly at the afternoon session, but was interrupted on account of the court requesting an adjournment. He will resume this morning.

The grand jury heard jail cases yesterday, but will take up election frauds today. Some forty subpœnas were issued for witnesses in the Twenty-ninth and Eighteenth and Nineteenth Wards.

SAM B. RAYMOND FOR TREASURER.

Republican and Democratic Candidates for County Officers Are Becoming Plentiful.

Though the Democrats are going to hold their county convention within the next four weeks they are not quite so active as the Republicans, whose county convention to nominate county officers has not yet been called. The appearance of Sam B. Raymond as a candidate for County Treasurer is responsible for this. That has upset all the calculations of the slatemakers, and there is a general changing around. Raymond has certainly made remarkable headway. He has secured the support of some of the men most influential in the party conventions. John M. Smyth, the Chairman of the Republican County committee, has declared for him. So has Graeme Stewart, who is strong in the West as well as in the North Division, where he resides. George B. Swift has also announced himself for Mr. Raymond and W. T. Ball has decided to withdraw his own claims for a nomination this fall in behalf of Mr. Raymond's candidacy for County Treasurer.

But this does not mean that the other candidates have given up the fight. Mr. Kochersperger has redoubled his efforts, and yet expresses himself confident of success. The appearance of Mr. Raymond, too, has encouraged several others to enter the fight for the lesser offices. County Commissioner Nelson A. Cool was announced as a candidate for Probate Clerk yesterday, also Jacob Horn of the Sixteenth Ward. The latter was a candidate for West Town Collector last month and ran ahead of his ticket. He is a popular German-American furniture dealer who has never held an office. Commissioner Kunstman is also mentioned, but it is believed he will give way for Ald. Joseph Bidwill if the latter concludes to be a candidate for the Probate Clerkship. In the meantime there is but one candidate for the Shrievalty, James Pease of Lake View, but there will be others before long.

In some quarters an unwise attempt is being made to mix up the Mayoralty contest of next spring with the contest for the nominations this fall. Thus an attempt is being made to make it appear that because George B. Swift is for Sam Raymond for Treasurer this time there is some sort of a combination to make Mr. Swift the candidate for Mayor in the spring. There is, of course, nothing in this; there is no more of a combination between Mr. Raymond and Mr. Swift than there is of a combination between Mr. Raymond and Mr. Smyth and Mr. Raymond and Mr. Stewart. The fact is that the candidates are all trying to steer clear of entangling alliances that may bother them in the future.

The Democrats are quiet just now because they know very well that the slate will be made by the City Hall bosses, and that the Democratic workers will have little or nothing to do with it. More than 75 per cent of the Democratic committeemen are City Hall employés. They select the delegates to the convention and they select them to suit their superior officers. No slate will be made that does not meet the approval of Mayor Hopkins. In fact, Mayor Hopkins will have a slate to submit to the convention for its indorsement and the slate will be indorsed. The candidates, therefore, are more eager to get the Mayor's support than the support of the voters. The City Hall slate is already outlined, but it is subject to change. The Treasurership is not settled. Mr. Wecker will not accept. Mr. Dreyer expects to be the candidate for Treasurer, but the City Hall combination do not care to "turn down" young Mr. Harrison, who is in the field and whose friends insist on fair play. The City Hall people are rather disposed to think that it will be wiser in them to nominate the young man.

McGann's Candidacy Falls Flat.

Mr. McGann's candidacy for Sheriff has fallen flat. It was vetoed by the slate makers. Another matter which gives the slatemakers trouble is the candidacy of Judge Scales for a renomination. The Mayor and all his subordinates are willing to admit that Scales will be a weak candidate, and they would gladly pick up somebody else. But they dare not do so as long as the election contest is pending before Scales. They want to retain the County Judgeship so as to give them control of the election machinery. They fear that Scales' nomination will bring defeat, even though the rest of the ticket should win. But there is Scales, and there is the election contest, and there is no means of escaping Scales.

While the principal bosses are thus perturbed about the slate the smaller fry are fighting over the committeeships. William C. Asay wants to succeed J. P. Leiendecker, who has moved out of the First Ward. So does John Coughlin. Asay is now a Congressional committeeman, but the redistricting put four of these men into one district—A. T. Powers, Asay, Henry Carroll, and John O'Brien. Asay knows there is no chance to hold over as a Congressional committeeman. He wants to be a ward committeeman. Coughlin thinks he is entitled to it and has appealed to the Mayor to support him. Joe Schofield wants to be committeeman from the Eleventh Ward instead of M. C. McDonald. But McDonald is not ready to give way for him. There is likely to be trouble over the affair.

There is much talk of Egbert Jamieson as a candidate for Congress in the Sixth District to succeed Congressman Goldzier. It is believed he will accept a nomination if tendered to him. Mr. Goldzier is a candidate for reëlection. He has written to his friend Joseph Sarsfield Martin asking him to undertake the management of his campaign, and Mr. Martin is willing. Fred Griesheimer is also a candidate, it is said, but his candidacy is not taken seriously.

PERSONALS.

Maj. Halford, formerly President Harrison's private secretary, teaches the biggest Bible class in Omaha and helps to get out a religious paper.

Vice-President Stevenson was entertained in New York by Col. John C. Calhoun. Adlai takes kindly to these good old Southern Democratic names.

The Hon. Robert C. Winthrop of Boston celebrated his 85th birthday last Saturday. He is now the oldest surviving ex-United States Senator of Massachusetts.

Ex-President William Henry Harrison's grave, at North Bend, O., is in a wretched condition. The masonry is decaying, the woodwork has almost rotted away, and the whole place bears a look of desolation.

Miss Olive Schreiner, since marriage, has become, it seems, simply Mrs. Olive Schreiner. Her husband, sharing his wife's advanced and progressive views, has added her name to his and become Mr. Cronwright Schreiner.

Gov. Greenhalge of Massachusetts has been directed by his physician to abstain for the present from attendance at any public function. This comes of four months of public dinners. It is his Excellency's stomach that is on strike.

When Galusha A. Grow was vigorously supporting the emancipation proposition in the war Congress, George Washington Murray, who sits beside him in the present House, was a barefooted slave boy on a South Carolina plantation.

Rider Haggard has acquired a large proprietary interest in the African Review, published in London to develop an interest in South Africa. The Review believes in the principle, "Africa for the English," and so does Mr. Haggard.

Abraham Green, the oldest resident of Boone County, Mo., died a few days ago at Raton, N. M., where he was visiting a son. He was 94 years old, had used tobacco and whisky for eighty years, and was a veteran of the Mexican War, the Blackhawk War, and the Confederate service.

John Burns, the English labor leader and member of Parliament, has declined an invitation to come to America at the expense of the American Federation of Labor. He wrote to President Gompers that he would like to come, but was too busy. He said he could not possibly visit this country until after the next election in England.

The Second Cruise of the Violet.

New York Sun: Under cover of darkness and secrecy the President of the United States has again seized upon the lighthouse tender Violet and converted that now celebrated vessel to his private use and convenience.

This is a practical application of the principles and doctrines of communism. Reduced to the last analysis it is difficult to see in what manner the act of President Cleveland, aided and abetted by Secretary Carlisle and Fighting Bob Evans, differs from the seizure of freight trains on the Great Northern railroad by the organized Coxeyites. In the latter case United States troops were called out to prevent the outrage and to restore the property to the control of the Federal Government.

Morally and legally it makes no difference whether the party taking possession of a freight train or a lighthouse tender and converting the same to its personal use is bound for Washington or for the Dismal Swamp.

So jealously does the law guard against the misuse of the public machinery for private advantage that the penalty is not less than $300 for employing the official envelope of one of the departments to save two cents on private correspondence.

The law of July 12, 1882, contains the subjoined provision:

> Every person, his aiders, abettors, and counselors, who shall either in the day or night break into and enter, or who shall in the night enter without breaking into any vessel, canal boat, or other water craft or any railroad car in the District of Columbia, with intent to commit any misdemeanor therein, shall be imprisoned not more than ten years.

The last Democratic President before Mr. Cleveland's time persistently refused to employ government vessels for his pleasure excursions by water. If he wanted a steamboat for a week or an afternoon he chartered one and paid for it. If James Buchanan were now President he would undoubtedly send a gunboat down the Potomac to capture and bring back the Violet and restore her to the public uses for which she is maintained at the Nation's expense. And if Fighting Bob should resist capture, Fighting Bob would find himself, were Buchanan alive and in office, in conflict with the entire military and naval resources of the United States.

Beguiled with a Mirage.

Baltimore Sun (Dem.): The people cannot afford to trust any longer the specious promises that come from the Capitol. The country cannot fill its stomach on promises. For months it has been beguiled with the mirage of tariff reform. For months it has heard of "compromises," "arrangements," and "agreements" that have led it on from one false hope to another only to dissolve into thin air, and to be succeeded by other equally flattering and empty assurances. Almost any action would have been better than the agony of suspense and disappointment in which the country has been kept by the Senate. With open Republican opposition to tariff reform on the one hand and secret "Conservative" scheming on the other, a nation of gigantic enterprise, of almost infinite resources, and of world-wide commercial and trade connections has been kept all these months in a state of semi-paralysis. The people have gotten tired of this petty juggling, this Senatorial playing for points, this interminable political game of chess.

The Senate a Peril to the Country.

Richmond Times: The Senate of the United States has come to be a body in all respects the very opposite of what it was expected to be when our government was formed, and we do not hesitate to say that as it now exists it is the most serious peril to which our institutions are subjected. It is corrupting them from their foundations upwards.

HUNDREDS OF PEOPLE AT BLUEFIELDS SEEK SAFETY IN FLIGHT.

The Natives Reported to Be Preparing to Go to War, While the Officials Are Said to Be Plotting to Turn the Mosquito Reservation Over to the Spaniards—Brazilian Charge d'Affaires at Lisbon Ordered to Paris—Battle Expected on the Frontier of Rio Grande do Sul.

BLUEFIELDS, Nicaragua, April 28, via New Orleans, La., May 15.—Within forty-eight hours over 100 inhabitants, mostly creoles, have left this place for San Andreas and other islands to await the result of the revolution which appears imminent. In all about 800 people have fled. Business is almost at a standstill.

Complaints are pouring in from every direction regarding abuse at the hands of Nicaraguan officials. Advices from the coast are that the Indians are sharpening their weapons and preparing for war.

Minister Madrid, Gen. Lebezas, Police Gov. Renting, Col. Larse, and many other officials have suddenly disappeared and no one seems to know their whereabouts. The belief among the Americans is that they are engaged in hatching a plot to put the Spaniards in possession of the reservation.

COLON, May 15.—The British cruiser Magicienne has arrived here from Bluefields for coal. The Mosquito chief who ruled at Bluefields is now under the protection of the British Consulate. The Nicaraguan authorities at Bluefields have increased the taxation, thus causing much additional dissatisfaction. United States Minister Baker is expected here on board the next Royal Mail steamer.

WASHINGTON, D. C. May 15.—If the Nicaraguan Government carries out its agreement with Minister Baker the incident growing out of the murder of William Wilson, an American citizen living at Rama, will be peaceably and satisfactorily settled. Minister Baker reports to the Department of State that the Nicaraguan Government has met his demands in a friendly spirit and promised to bring the guilty men to prompt trial.

CHARGE D'AFFAIRES SENT TO PARIS.

Portugal Makes Public the Cause of the Rupture with Brazil.

LISBON, May 15.—The Brazilian Chargé d'Affaires has been ordered to go to Paris as soon as the legation is closed, in accordance with orders from Rio Janeiro to sever diplomatic relations between Brazil and Portugal. The documents relating to the rupture will be gazetted tomorrow and will declare the cause of the trouble was the fact that Admiral da Gama and other insurgent officers were accorded an asylum on board Portuguese war vessels in Brazilian waters. Negotiations on this subject began March 14.

The King presided at a Cabinet Council today, at which the action of Brazil was considered.

BATTLE AT RIO GRANDE LOOKED FOR

Gov. Castilhos Moves His Army to Meet the Loyal Forces.

[SPECIAL CABLE.]

BUENOS AYRES, Via Galveston, Tex., May 15.—[Copyright, 1894, by James Gordon Bennett.]—Gen. Saraiva, with 300 men, accompanied by Lorena and a French engineer named Bultie, has arrived at the frontier of Rio Grande do Sul, Brazil. Gov. Castilhos, with 400 men, has gone to meet Saraiva and his followers, and news is momentarily expected of a desperate battle.

The correspondent at Rio Janeiro sends word that President Peixoto's official organ, commenting on the death of Dr. Do Couto, a surgeon in the navy who was thrown into jail March 14 by order of Minister of War Costallat, declares that Dr. Do Couto was loyal to the government throughout the revolt and that his arrest was unwarranted. The imprisonment of this man leads the newspaper to assert that it is quite probable many other persons were lodged in jail unknown to President Peixoto and without his authority and the intimation is that several of these arrests were outrages. An investigation of the conduct of the Minister of War is demanded.

The Brazilian Government has again asserted censorship over all cable dispatches, especially press reports.

SPAIN BARS OUT PROTESTANTS.

Only Catholic Missionaries Allowed to Work Among the Natives at Ponape.

LONDON, May 16.—The Standard's correspondent at Madrid, referring to the decision of the Spanish Government to pay $17,000 indemnity to an American minister who was unlawfully expelled from the Caroline Islands, says: "Spain still refuses to allow Protestant missionaries to return to Ponape on the pretext that they aided the natives to resist the Spanish occupation and the Augustine Catholic Missions from Manilla."

High Officials to Honor Americans.

The banquet which is to be tendered May 24, the Queen's birthday, to Admiral Erben, Capt. Mahan, and the other officers of the United States cruiser Chicago, will be attended by Prince Louis of Battenberg, Lord Rosebery, Earl Spencer, Lord George Hamilton, Lord Brassey, Sir Charles Dilke, Admiral Sir John E. Commerell, Admiral Sir William Dowell, Admiral Sir G. T. Phipps-Hornby, Admiral the Hon. Sir Henry Keppel, and many distinguished naval men.

SPECULATION RUINING THE COUNTRY

Proposition to Restrict This Class of Operations in Argentina.

[SPECIAL CABLE.]

BUENOS AYRES, Argentina, via Galveston, Tex., May 15.—[Copyright, 1894, by James Gordon Bennett.]—The uncertainty which has prevailed in commercial circles here has decided several of the Deputies to urge upon the Minister of Finance the need of restricting the extent of the speculative operations which have been carried on to such length that they are held responsible for no small share of the present disturbed financial condition of the country. Gold is now quoted at 400. The Minister of Finance gives assurance that the finances of the country are not in the slightest danger. Argentina, he said, resembled the United States in its recuperative power.

SALVADOR HARD UP FOR CASH.

Government Likely to Force Merchants to Lend It $500,000.

[SPECIAL CABLE.]

SAN SALVADOR, May 15.—[Copyright, 1894, by the Press Publishing Company, New York World.]—Much uneasiness is caused by rumors that the government will demand a loan of $500,000 from merchants and the prospect of an increase of tariff duties and international taxation. Military rule is growing intolerable.

[SPECIAL CABLE.]

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, May 15.—[Copyright, 1894, by the Press Publishing Company, New York World.]—Reports from the Salvador frontier are that a battle took place near Tejutla. The rebels forced back the government troops. President Ezeta left the Capital for the scene of action.

ARMY BUDGET IS NOT REDUCED.

Italian Chamber Rejects a Motion to Cut Off 50,000 Lire.

ROME, May 15.—The Chamber of Deputies today rejected by a vote of 149 to 113 Sig. Prinetti's petition in favor of a retrenchment of 50,000 lire in the army budget. The motion of Sig. Torraca that the government undertake to reduce the cost of the personnel of the War Office for 1895 by 200,000 lire was agreed to unanimously on the advice of Premier Crispi. The above vote indicates the majority which the government may generally expect, and the budget may be regarded as secure.

French Brigantine Lost.

[SPECIAL CABLE.]

ST. PIERRE MIQUELON, May 15.—[Copyright, 1894, by James Gordon Bennett.]—The French brigantine L'Ete, bound for this port with a cargo of coal, was wrecked at Savoyard Cove at the western part of St. Pierre this morning. All the crew were saved.

Beautiful Weather at Paris.

[SPECIAL CABLE.]

PARIS May 15.—[Copyright, 1894, by James Gordon Bennett.]—The weather today was beautiful. The temperature ranged from 50° to 78.8°; barometer, 29.84 inches; wind, east.

United States Squadron to Visit Antwerp.

ANTWERP, May 15.—It is announced that a United States squadron will visit this port June 1 and will remain until June 15.

INVESTIGATION WILL BE SECRET.

County Board Begins Its Work of Unearthing Frauds in Letting Contracts.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 15.—[Special.]—Star chamber methods were adopted by the Investigating committee of the County Board, which met today and began the work of unearthing the alleged boodle methods used by the old County Board in the letting of county contracts. Chairman Isenring summoned in as an expert on blank books and stationery Henry Miller, the bookbinder, to show that the contract with H. Razell & Co. for books and stationery is too high. They also took up the matter of the county jail sidewalk, for which the county paid Contractor Joseph Meyer nearly $5,000. The committee will finish the examination of the contracts for furnishing the blank books and stationery and will then take up the almshouse and other contracts, including that by which Schlenstedt & Goodhue will receive $22,500 for a sewage filter plant which Supervisor Mason says cost about one-tenth of that amount.

The holders of the Milwaukee Street railway company's bonds have agreed to waive the interest to which they are entitled for a period of eighteen months, or until June 1, 1895. The interest is already six months in arrears. The bonds outstanding amount to $10,000,000.

The body of Myrtle Woods is at the morgue awaiting a post-mortem and an inquest. She died last night, apparently from the effects of some drugs. William Thompson, who was with her during her sickness, is being held as a witness. Both are colored and came here from Chicago a few weeks ago.

Illinois Medical Society in Session.

DECATUR, Ill., May 15.—[Special.]—The forty-fourth annual meeting of the Illinois Medical Society convened at the Grand Opera-House today with President Will of Peoria in the chair. Papers were read by Dr. N. S. Davis Jr. of Chicago and several other physicians. This evening the opera-house was crowded at the open meeting. President Will delivered the annual address. This afternoon the society adopted a resolution protesting against the proposed reduction of assistant United States surgeons below ninety and all Congressmen and Senators are urged to prevent the passage of the bill. Daniel R. Brower of Chicago will probably be elected President tomorrow.

Sunday-School Convention at Peoria, Ill.

PEORIA, Ill., May 15.—[Special.]—The thirty-sixth annual State Sunday-School Association is now in session in this city and three important meetings were held today. There are 800 delegates in attendance. The meetings are held in the Calvary Presbyterian Church. At the afternoon session the following officers were elected for the year: President, Henry Augustine, Normal; General Secretary, W. B. Jacobs, Chicago; Assistant General Secretary, Mary Bragg; Recording Secretary, Edith Burnham; Treasurer, R. H. Hare, Chicago. At the evening session O. J. Bailey welcomed the delegates and W. B. Jacobs of Chicago responded for the Executive committee.

Pay Their Respects to the A. P. A.

SHEBOYGAN, Wis., May 15.—[Special.]—Archbishop Katzer of Milwaukee celebrated Pontifical high mass this morning and afterward the convention of the Catholic Benevolent Society was called to order. President Kaiser in his opening address referred to the A. P. A. briefly and stated that all good Catholics would pay no attention to its attacks. Archbishop Katzer's remarks were also in the same line. The convention will conclude its work tomorrow by an election of officers. A banquet will be given in the evening.

Meeting of Illinois Homeopathists.

QUINCY, Ill., May 15.—[Special.]—The Illinois Homeopathic Medical Association met here today in its thirty-ninth annual convention. There is a fair attendance, nearly 100 physicians being here from various parts of the State. The convention was opened with an address of welcome by Mayor Mikesell, to which President A. K. Crawford of Chicago responded. The day was devoted mostly to the reading of papers on obstetrical practices. The convention will last three days.

Tramps Shoot an Officer.

FOND DU LAC, Wis., May 15.—Five tramps were camped around a keg of beer near the city limits today. When Officer Fontana ordered them to move they opened fire on him. A bullet passed through his hand. A party of citizens took up the chase, which was kept up until dark. John McEssey, a farmer, joined the party and was mistaken in the dark for one of the tramps and when ordered to stop refused. He was seriously wounded by a volley of bullets from the posse.

Killed by a Tunnel Caving In.

BEDFORD, Ind., May 15.—[Special.]—J. A. Trusty and O. Jackson were killed and William Hurst fatally injured today by the caving in of the Owensburg tunnel on the Monon, eighteen miles west of here. The wounded man and the bodies of the two dead were brought to this city tonight and will be sent to New Albany, where the men lived, in the morning.

Northwest Notes.

Dr. E. A. Stone has resigned as pastor of the Baptist Church at Champaign, Ill.

The convention of Michigan Homeopathists opened yesterday at Battle Creek. Following the official reports was a series of medical papers read by the leading practitioners of the State.

Henry Davis, 11 years old, was drowned while swimming in the Wabash River at Vincennes, Ind.

The Michigan Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias, will begin a two-days' reunion today at Benton Harbor.

Henry R. Sloan, grocer, assigned at Crawfordsville, Ind. His liabilities are about $12,000; assets $10,000.

Mrs. Kerr and Her Fortune.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 15.—[Special.]—Mrs. H. M. Kerr, to whom Hiram Brendlinger of Denver left a portion of his fortune, is a widow residing at Fifteenth street and Fairmount avenue. She is in moderate circumstances and declares that she always knew her brother was wealthy, but she will not get $500,000.

BEGINS WITH A ROW.

TEN PITTSBURG OPERATORS NOT IN THE CLEVELAND CONFERENCE.

Credentials Committee Throws Them Out on the Proposition That They Would Not Abide by a Decision—Scheme to Raise Millions to Fight Pennsylvania Operators, if Necessary—Scarcity of Coal Embarrassing Railroad and Steamboat Companies.

CLEVELAND, O., May 15.—The conference of the coal operators and miners opened late this afternoon with a fight. An organization was effected by the election of J. E. Zerbe, an operator of this city, as President, and Patrick McBryde of the Miners' Union as Secretary, with Frank Brooks, an operator of Columbus, as his assistant. A Committee on Credentials was appointed, and to it were referred the credentials of all the miners and operators who sought seats in the conference. The report of the committee aroused a stormy discussion. It favored the seating of all the miners and the operators from Ohio, Indiana, and West Virginia, and all of those from Pennsylvania who had expressed willingness to abide by the decision of the conference. The report, however, was against the seating of the ten Pittsburg operators who had declared that they would not abide by the decision of the majority. A. H. Dempster led the fight in favor of giving the kickers seats. He said the call for the conference had been sent to all the operators and miners, and they were entitled to seats under the call. John McBride, President, and Vice-President Penna of the Miners' Union made the principal speeches against seating these operators. The Indiana operators were admitted on the understanding that they would abide by the decision of the conference. The conference was composed after the adoption of the report of the Committee on Credentials of 195 miners and 144 operators. Eighty-two of the operators are from Ohio, fifty-three from Pennsylvania, seven from Indiana, as a committee for all the operators in that State, and two from West Virginia. After the adoption of the report the conference adjourned until tomorrow morning, it being announced that the operators would hold a caucus in the evening.

COLUMBUS, O., May 15.—[Special.]—It is given out at National Mining headquarters that if the Pennsylvania River and other operators spoil the Cleveland conference and no agreement be reached the national organization will make provision for a big strike fund to support the strikers at those mines until the river operators come to terms. Statistics for 1890 show the total tonnage of bituminous coal mined was 95,200,000 tons. A levy of 5 cents a ton on each ton for the strike fund would collect $4,760,000 a year, over $396,000 a month. It has also been suggested that the operators organize and fix their scale of prices for coal on board cars at different ports and cities. Then the operators could have an Executive Board, which could hear grievances of operators, confer with the miners' national officials, and settle minor matters that way. This might eventually run into a coöperative plan to keep prices to consumers at certain figures, where the boards of both operators and miners would watch the market and force everybody to maintain a certain selling price.

THEY'RE IN A SCRAMBLE FOR COAL.

Railroads and Steamship Lines at Buffalo Feeling the Scarcity.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 15.—[Special.]—Unless the coal strike speedily is settled Buffalo factories and steamship and railroad lines centering here will be crippled seriously. The supply of soft coal will last only a few days at most. Some concerns will use hard coal, among them the Union Steamboat company. Its soft coal supply will be exhausted tomorrow. The railroads are some better off, having laid an embargo on all soft coal in transit here. The New York Central and the Erie supply will last several weeks. The Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg railroad is shutting down. Three hundred men have been laid off. Its supply is nearly exhausted.

NEW YORK, May 15.—There have been 50,000 tons of English and Nova Scotia coal sold to arrive in New York, a portion of which has already been shipped from Cardiff, Liverpool, and Glasgow, and from Sidney, Nova Scotia. The cost is within 45 and 50 cents a ton of the ordinary price of soft steamer coal delivered alongside New York. The bulk of this has been taken by the companies supplying steamers to fill their contracts. There are negotiations on foot for the purchase of 100,000 tons more to be delivered here between June 1 and 10 by the same people and for the same purpose. From this fact it is inferred that the coal companies intend fighting the strike to the finish.

DES MOINES, Ia., May 15.—The miners' strike here will close the electric light works and leave the city in darkness in the course of a few days. Much damage is also threatened to brick factories. Mine operators are determined to hold out and so are the miners.

RESTIVE UNDER EASTERN DICTATION.

Brazil Operators Threaten to Close the Mines for Two Years.

BRAZIL, Ind., May 15.—[Special.]—It seems that the miners' strike will not be alleviated in this locality, no matter what action is made by the convention at Cleveland, as the operators here say they do not belong to the operators' union and will settle with their miners personally or not settle at all. They claim the Eastern operators have used every influence in their power to freeze the Indiana operators out. The local operators say they will close their mines down for two years in preference to being dictated to by Eastern operators.

MASSILLON, O., May 15.—[Special.]—By reporting in favor of demanding a scale rate of 70 and 80 cents in Ohio, the miners now in conference at Cleveland have opened up a new contention. The 85 cent rate is applicable to the Massillon district only where a local strike has been on since February, concerning the differential of 15 cents. It has been believed all along that the miners and operators at Cleveland would consider base scales only, leaving the matter of district differentials for local adjustment. The Massillon operators are unanimous in insisting upon the abolition of the differential and the miners are equally firm in their demand that it be paid.

ALLIANCE, O., May 15.—[Special.]—About seventy-five miners employed at different mines on Lake Erie, Alliance, and Southern railroad between here and Bergholz, who continued at work since the inauguration strike today, yielded to delegations and decided to quit work until the strike was settled. In this district the shut-down is complete.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 15.—[Special.]—The Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company opened up its mines with negroes this morning. It increased the output of the Blue Creek region to nearly 200 tons. Altogether 1,000 tons of coal was mined today. The strikers, it appears, will hang on for a week or ten days, and then a break will be made in their ranks.

FROSTBURG, Md., May 15.—Fully 1,800 men are idle and a large number of families are on the verge of suffering on account of the coal strike.

RUSSELLVILLE, Ky., May 15.—Fifteen hundred miners employed in the coal fields of Ohio and Muhlenberg counties have struck. This district represents 37½ per cent of the output of the entire Western field.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., May 15.—[Special.]—About 150 miners employed at the Hill Top and Ohio Valley mines at Toronto, operated by the Great Western Enterprise and Francis sewer pipe works, went out this morning.

BARBOURVILLE, Ky., May 12.—The miners at Jellico and Mingo will return to work this week.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., May 15.—[Special.]—Because drunken miners at Grant blew up the Grant Coal company's powder magazine last night, and because there have been alleged attempts to burn the property, a supply of rifles was secured and last night pickets were on duty. There is a good deal of complaint that the brewery people are supplying the men with free beer to enlist their good will when they again are able to patronize the saloons.

GREAT NORTHERN TROUBLE ENDED.

Arbitration Committee Reaches a Report Agreeable to All Concerned.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., May 15.—All differences existing between the Great Northern railway company and its employés, growing out of the recent strike and connected in its latest phase with certain interpretations of the terms of settlement as arranged by the committee on arbitration, were adjusted tonight in a manner thoroughly satisfactory to all parties concerned. The questions at issue were left for the committee on arbitration which handled the matter previously. The report, unanimously adopted, provided for the restoration of the salaries of certain employés of the company in accordance with the original proposition, and also that all classes of employés should be taken back to work, except those charged with the destruction of property or who are in the hands of the law. Mr. Debs and Mr. Howard return to Chicago tomorrow to look after the interests of the American Railway Union in connection with the Pullman strike.

Workmen Discharged with Millen.

NORWALK, O., May 15.—[Special.]—Master Carpenter James B. Millen of the Lake Shore shops here was removed today by Master Car-builder Reniff. The 150 workmen refused to work unless Millen was reinstated, which Reniff refused to do, and the men were discharged. H. G. McMasters of the Chicago Lake Shore shops will take charge of the Norwalk shops. The men who quit will not be reëmployed.

Detroit May Have a Tie-Up.

DETROIT, Mich., May 15.—[Special.]—If the Citizens' Street railway company does not sign the agreement of 1893 with its men before 4 a. m. Thursday every line in the city, except the Fort Street, will be tied up, so say 700 street car employés. The company asked the men to submit to a 5 per cent wage reduction. The company has as yet refused to indicate its intention.

Indorse Cigamakers' Label.

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 15.—The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers today indorsed by a unanimous vote the cigarmakers' blue label as a mark for union goods. The consideration of the Lehigh strike was concluded, but no decision was reached.

LAKE SHIPPING NEWS.

Freights and Charters.

CHICAGO—Business was brightened a little just before the close of 'Change on account of altered conditions of the grain market, and three charters were made for outside boats in addition to the grain taken by the lines. This business done on a basis of 1¼ cents for corn to Buffalo, which was probably the cut rate, although some vessel brokers insisted that the actual rate was still 1 cent. Charters—To Buffalo, Germanic, Hutchinson, corn, 1¼; to Kingston, Escanaba, corn, 2½.

OSWEGO, N. Y.—Coal—Charters—Coffinberry, Paige, Hill, Chicago, 65.

BUFFALO, N. Y.—Coal freights quiet on the strength of yesterday's heavy takings. Charters—Fassett, Sheboygan, 35; Itasca, Home, Senator, Port Huron, 30. Canal freights active at 3 cents, wheat to New York.

CLEVELAND, O.—Shippers today succeeded in getting boats to go for ore to Escanaba at 45 cents. The Marquette rate is steady at 65, and the Ashland and Duluth rate is strong at 75. More season tonnage was taken today at 80 cents from the head of Lake Superior and 65 from Marquette. Charters—Coal—Raleigh, Tokio, Erie to Chicago or Milwaukee, 35. Ore—Flint—Schooner Genoa, Cormorant, Wail, Marquette, to Ohio ports, 65; Rust, John Hutchinson, Escanaba to Ohio ports, 45.

Around the Lakes.

CLEVELAND, O., May 15.—The repairs on the steamer Curry were begun today. About fifteen frames and as many plates are bent and broken. The stem is also bent some. A few of the plates can be rolled and put back again. The work will take two weeks.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., May 15.—Joseph Walker, in charge of a scow for dredges at the head of the canal, was drowned this morning. The scow was towed away by the tug Spalpeen, but filled and sank before Walker could dump the load. He tried to swim to the tug, but sank before reaching it.

CLEVELAND, O., May 15.—The fuel docks are receiving coal a little more freely, but the supply is far short of the demand, and steamers are delayed at all Ohio ports waiting for enough fuel to take them up the lakes. Coal is furnished at Ashland at $2.75, which is cheaper than it is here.

AMHERSTBURG, Ont., May 15.—Capt. Dunn of the steamer Petrel today received from the Dominion Fisheries and Marine Department, a statement in writing from the Dayton club in reference to the steamer Visitor, which was seized recently, but saying nothing about the Leroy Brooks. A full and immediate report was asked by the department.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 15.—The Lake Line managers have been summoned to a conference at New York to discuss east-bound rates. It is thought that an agreement will be reached to abandon the ruinously low rates prevailing and to restore them to the spring basis. The 6,500 bushels of wet wheat, all No. 1 hard, in the cargo of the whaleback Hundred and Nine was sold at auction today at 35 cents a bushel. There is a large amount of damaged in the winter cargo of the steamer John B. Lyon, from Chicago, but the amount is not yet known.

CAN STAND A SIEGE.

PULLMAN CAR COMPANY IS IN CONDITION TO HOLD OUT.

Manager Middleton Says if the American Railway Union Should Succeed in Closing All the Pullman Shops the Company Would Not Be Inconvenienced in the Least—Contracts on Cars Are Off in a Strike—Facts About the Dividend from an Official.

The Pullman Palace Car company is in excellent condition to stand a strike at its Pullman shops for several years if need be, so Manager Middleton says. "So far as repairs are concerned," he said, "if the American Railway Union should succeed in closing all our shops that would not inconvenience the company in the least. Many a railroad shop would do our repair work on contract and be glad of the chance. And as there are 400 cars standing in the yards the increase in business for several years to come could be provided for, I think. The contracts for cars the company is filling are void in case of a strike, so it seems to me the company can stand the strike quite as long and with as little inconvenience as the men."

"If the strikers should desire to go into negotiations with the company to whom would they be referred?"

"To me."

"What would you have to say to them?"

"It would be better to wait until the time comes. I cannot anticipate my policy."

Mr. Middleton could give do idea when Mr. Pullman would return. The shops are closed, and as the machinery is always kept in order and the tools in place the property would suffer none if it stood idle four years, he said. The company will take advantage of the quiet to take stock.

All the officials of the company at Pullman say the men used bad judgment in striking so hastily. They say none of their grievances was of a nature that could not have been adjusted and the company would have adjusted them. If any of the foremen had been proved guilty of petty tyranny they would have been disciplined. They say the piece work system is in use in nearly every car shop in the country and the prices paid at Pullman are slightly higher than those paid elsewhere. They say if the strikers will appoint a committee of cool-headed men to investigate this they can readily satisfy themselves on this point. It was said it was not at all probable any girl was unable to earn over five cents an hour as charged. On the other hand, Miss Lynn, No. 436 Watt avenue, declares she was one of those who earned but five cents an hour and she did it making pillow-cases at 35 cents a hundred, the former price being $1.25, seven hours being required to make 100. That another girl beside her made four times that amount she declares a physical impossibility, since no one could make 400 cases in seven hours.

Position of the Railway Union.

While the American Railway Union has promised to help the strikers, its officers admit the Pullman conductors and porters do not belong to the organization, and it does not appear how they will be able to stop the running of cars. The union was formed June 20, 1893. In regard to its strength Grand Secretary Keliher said:

"We have now 287 unions and a total membership of about 75,000. This includes men from all lines of railroad work—engineers, firemen, conductors, brakemen, switchmen, carmen, boilermakers, machinists, section men, bridgemen, freight handlers, all laborers, clerks, shopmen, yardmen, in fact everyone in the railway service except the conductors and porters on sleeping cars. We will organize them, but we have not done so yet. They are not organized in any union. The union is organized on the following roads: Great Northern, Northern Pacific, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Denver and Rio Grande, Rio Grande Western, Santa Fé, Chicago Great Western, Montana Union, C. and E. I., Monon, Evansville and Terre Haute, Big Four, Erie, Illinois Central, and Rock Island. We have a few strong unions in Eastern cities, such as Boston and Baltimore, and in several other large railroad centers, but the strength of the organization is on the roads I have named. We are extending our order as rapidly as possible and will so continue to do until we have covered the entire railway system of the United States, Canada, and Mexico, but it takes time. Seven new unions were organized yesterday, two of them at Pullman and one at West Fortieth street."

Petition to Congress.

A petition to Congress was started in quest of signatures yesterday. The petition is the product of Lawyer Lucius Wilson of Gano, and recites that Congress has failed to do its duty to the people, has given millions of acres of land and millions of money to railroads, and by class legislation has forced the workingmen to go on expensive strikes, and gives the national legislative body a dig regarding the arrest of Coxey for walking on the grass on the Capitol grounds. Then the petitioners express their lack of confidence in Congress and demand that Presidents be elected by direct vote and for one term only; that United States Senators, Cabinet officers, Postmasters, Judges of the United States courts, including the Supreme Court, be elected by direct vote; and that boards of arbitration be established to fix wages.

The shopgirls are arranging to give a ball for the benefit of families in want. The date has not yet been decided upon, but railroad men have undertaken to sell 1,000 tickets at $1 each. Miss Jennie Curtis, President of the Women's Union, is Chairman of the Committee on Arrangements. She is also a member of the General Relief committee. This committee has not yet taken any active measures.

A circular was posted in strike headquarters yesterday signed by the Flour Packers' and Nailers' Benevolent Association of Minneapolis calling for a boycott on the product of the Washburn-Crosby flour mills.

The Pullman company is issuing pay checks to all who call for them, but not over a dozen men asked for their money yesterday.

Didn't Press the Button.

The "little button" that Vice-President Howard of the union promised to press at Pullman yesterday failed to work. The "little button" was to have been a strike of the brickmakers, ninety-four in number, in the southern part of Pullman. This was owing to a diversity of opinion among the men. They are of several nationalities, and there are as many opinions as nationalities. The matter is by no means settled and the men may yet go out. A delegation from the strikers is expected to visit them today. Vice-President Howard is expected in Kensington this evening or tomorrow morning, and the strikers throw out intimations of stirring events to come when he gets back.

The largest crowd that has gathered in Turner Hall since last Friday was present last night to listen to an impromptu musical and literary entertainment. This evening the entertainment is to be repeated with the promised addition of talent from Chicago.

Chairman Heathcote created something of a sensation by announcing that Manager Middleton had made an effort to get the laundry girls to meet him at the Hotel Florence to negotiate for a return to work. Manager Middleton told a reporter that he had done nothing of the kind.

FACTS ABOUT PULLMAN DIVIDEND.

Sympathizers with the Strikers Draw False Deductions.

The fact that the Pullman Palace Car company yesterday paid its regular quarterly dividend of 2 per cent has been made much capital of by sympathizers with the strikers. The argument has been made that the statements of Mr. Pullman regarding the profits of the manufacturing business are proved false on their face because the company continues to pay a dividend, and it is said this distribution of $720,000 proves the company's profits are enormous and the justice of the claims of the strikers therefore follows as a natural consequence. Several of these deductions have been made with but small knowledge of the company's financial situation. The most cursory analysis of the company's position will show that the profits at the Town of Pullman might be wiped out altogether without interfering with the regular dividend rate.

The last annual statement of the Pullman Palace Car company was for the year ending July 31, 1893. It showed a balance sheet at that date with total assets as $61,791,000. In that total the car works at Pullman and the whole Town of Pullman investment was scheduled at only $7,845,000. This shows about the proportion which the Town of Pullman bears to the whole Pullman enterprise. In its report of earnings there is no separation of income from the operation of the cars and the manufacturing business, so it is not possible to say just what the profit has been from the Town of Pullman, but it is fair to estimate from the foregoing figures that not much over one-eighth of the total income of the company comes from profit at the Pullman works. The total revenue for the year was $11,389,000. Dividend payments were but $2,520,000, from which it is easy to see that income from the manufacturing plant at Pullman is in nowise necessary for the continuance of Pullman dividends, and the statement that the Pullman works have been run at a loss is not proved false by a continuance of dividends.

"There has been a great deal of misinformation in the discussion of the financial position of the Pullman company," said an officer of that company yesterday. "For instance, a newspaper stated this morning that the capitalization of the company is largely water and that the fact of the stock having been increased three times in five years showed that. Now, this is simply willful lying. There is perhaps no company in the country the capital of which so certainly represents a dollar of investment for every dollar of capitalization. There has never been a stock dividend, never any capitalization of surplus; in fact the company has never resorted to any of those plans for increasing capital without having the money actually paid in. Every dollar of the company's capital represents a dollar actually paid into the treasury by the stockholders. Among the ridiculous statements which the present labor difficulties have brought out is one that has been given a good deal of currency to the effect that the business of the Pullman palace cars has fallen off half since the strike was started. That is simply nonsense. Returns show no decrease whatever. This whole country is not sitting up nights watching the strike of a small body of men because it happened that they were employed by the same company that runs the sleeping cars."

Sympathy with the Strikers.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 15.—[Special.]—The West Milwaukee shopmen of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road organized a branch of the American Railway Union tonight. It includes over half the employés of the shop. Resolutions were passed indorsing the action of the Pullman strikers and promising them assistance in their fight against the sleeping-car magnate. The men say the average wages of the men at the West Milwaukee shops now amounts to about $30 a month, and if any attempt is made to cut on this there will be trouble.

Labor Notes.

The reduction of 10 per cent in wages of the employés of the Monon road went into effect yesterday. There was no trouble developed.

The striking longshoremen forgot about their strike yesterday in worrying over the Brooklyn Handicap race. They had a ticker put in their hall at No. 104 Randolph street, and the 500 strikers, two-thirds of whom are colored men, assembled early. They all had money on the race.

DEATH OF PLYMMON SANFORD HAYES.

Complications Render an Attack of Pleurisy Fatal—Mortuary Matters.

The funeral of Dr. Plymmon Sanford Hayes, who died at his residence, No. 159 East Forty-sixth street, Monday, of a pleurisy contracted Jan. 9, aggravated by a severe attack of grip and other complications, will take place tomorrow at noon from the Kenwood Evangelical Church, Greenwood avenue and Forty-sixth street. The interment will be at Graceland Cemetery.

[Dr. Hayes was a native of Ohio, where he was born forty-three years ago, and came to Chicago in 1862. He graduated in the West Division High School in 1869 and entered Rush Medical College. There he completed his medical course in 1872, and there also he was from 1872 to 1877 assistant to Dr. H. M. Lyman, occupying the chair of Chemistry and Physics. He was Professor of Chemistry at the Owens Medical College for ten years and also occupied the Chair of Chemistry at the Chicago College of Pharmacy during three years. At the time of his death he was connected with but one college—the Chicago Policlinic—at which he was Professor of Electro-Therapeutics. He was a member of the State Medical Society, American Society of Electro-Therapeutics, American Medical Association, and the Chicago Doctors' club. Dr. Hayes was a writer of many text books on chemistry and on urinalysis, and was an authority on electro-therapeutics. He was the first Medical Examiner of the National Union in Chicago. He was medical examiner for the Royal Arcanum, and for the last five years medical examiner-in-chief to the Royal League. He had been identified for many years with religious and charitable works in the city and was a deacon in the Immanuel Baptist Church for six years. He was married in Washington, D. C., in 1876 to Miss Hattie Hayden, and leaves a widow and three children.]

Funeral of N. M. Letts.

COLUMBUS JUNCTION, Ia., May 15.—[Special.]—The funeral of N. M. Letts, aged 76, took place in Louisa County today. He owned 3,000 acres of land in Iowa and 17,000 in Texas. His wealth was estimated at $500,000.

Obituary Notes.

Henry F. Miller, a wealthy landowner, expired at Princeton, Ill.

Chauncey Schaffer, a well-known New York lawyer, died yesterday.

Dr. A. I. Hobbs, Dean of Drake University, Des moines, Ia., died yesterday at the age of 60 years.

John Sample died at Kirkwood, Ill., last night, aged 71 years. He was quite a traveler, having encircled the globe twice.

Martin Ballou, the first Judge of the Bureau County Judicial Circuit, was buried at Princeton, Ill. In ante-bellum days he was one of the abolition guards.

The funeral of Steve Sealey, who in his day was called king of gamblers, occurred from his home, No. 372 South Paulina street, yesterday afternoon. The Rev. J. W. Ingram of the Garfield Park Church officiated. A quartette sang "Rock of Ages" and "Beyond the River." The pallbearers were William H. Stridiron, William J. Gallagher, John H. Rouse, William E. Dorgan, James Duffy, and John Dee.

Jacksonville Southeastern to Cut Wages.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 15.—[Special.]—The receivers of the Jacksonville Southeastern lines have decided to make a general cut in the wages of all employés who receive more than $50 a month. Those whose salaries exceed $100 a month, from the receivers down, will be cut 20 per cent, and those receiving from $50 to $100 will be cut 10 per cent. These reductions will go into effect June 1 and probably will be accepted by the employés without protest.

FOR AN "L" BELT LINE.

LATEST PLAN IS WORKED OUT AND IS SATISFACTORY.

Officials of the Elevated Roads and the City Practically Agree on a Route Mapped Out—Property-Owners Said to Favor the Idea Developed—Sad Sequel to the Ambitions of a Young Man Who Wanted a Wife with Money—Newspaper-Man Arrested.

The latest plan for a down-town belt line for the joint accommodation of the elevated railroads was arrived at a few days ago, as the result of a conference of officials of the various roads, and the result reached was later confirmed in conference of the roads' officials and city officials, the project being approved by the last named, provided the city is relieved of expense.

Vesselmen will also be relieved of the necessity of fighting another bridge across the river. The project is for a belt line about the business center of the city on Wabash avenue, Lake street, Fifth avenue, and either Jackson or Van Buren street. It is designed to construct the belt line at the joint expense of the elevated railroad companies, and the road will be maintained in the same way. The expense will be enormous, of which the matter of construction will be perhaps the smallest item. The total cost may reach $5,000,000. The Lake street "L" will enter the belt at Lake street and Fifth avenue. East-bound cars will turn south on Fifth avenue and continue around the line, leaving it again at Fifth avenue. The Lake street road will have another shorter line, if it cares to use it, but it will be maintained as an emergency line. From Fifth avenue it will build on Madison street to connect with the present terminus at Market street. The Alley "L" will turn into Congress street, east to Wabash avenue, and thence into the belt line at Jackson or Van Buren street and around the belt back to its own tracks on Wabash avenue. The Metropolitan "L" will enter the belt at Jackson street and Fifth avenue and will again take its own tracks at the same point, after completing the circuit. The proposed Northwestern "L" will cross the Wells street bridge and will enter the belt at Lake street and Fifth avenue. The information is also given out in this connection that the Northwestern will build to Evanston.

A union station is to be established at Lake street and Fifth avenue. Agents of the companies have concluded terms with owners of property, including the Chicago & Northwestern railroad company and the large building on the southeast corner. It is the intention of the engineers to make the elevated tracks on the single pillar plan, instead of planting the uprights at the curb. Plans for the union station at Lake street and Fifth avenue are not completed.

George Lanz of Lanz, Owen & Co., Lake street and Fifth avenue, said yesterday: "I have signed documents with representatives of the 'L' roads as representing the owner of this building, Mr. Reynolds of Utica, N. Y., giving the roads the right to make such improvements as are necessary to the construction of their belt line. I also understand other property-owners on the route have agreed to terms in sufficient numbers to make the belt a matter of certainty. When the Lake street 'L' first proposed to go down Lake street there was almost unanimous objection from property-owners in this neighborhood. We held a meeting and each subscribed $500 to be used in keeping the road out of the street. We have changed our minds since then and now we want it."

MARRIES A WOMAN WITH MONEY.

Then He Takes Her Cash and Is Arrested While Running Away.

Four years of hard work in Schoonmaker's grocery store at Pullman convinced Victor Berglund that the only road to wealth was to marry a woman possessed of wealth. So last August he went to the proprietor of the grocery and told him it was his intention to go back to Sweden, his native land, to find and win the affection of such a woman. He succeeded, but yesterday his ambition for wealth resulted in his arrest. Just as he stepped to the cashier's desk in the State Bank of Illinois and presented a draft for $1,890 Detective Thompson of the Central Station informed him he was a prisoner. After leaving the Pullman grocery store Berglund departed for Stockholm, Sweden. He was there but a short time when he met Clara Holmstrum. She was not beautiful and she was 40 years of age, but she possessed property. After a short acquaintance they were married Feb. 3 last. Berglund then began to tell her of America and of the advantages here. He induced her to convert her property into money, which in the American denomination amounted to more than $15,000. With this he told her a great fortune awaited them in the New World and she consented to come. They left Stockholm April 20 for New York City. Berglund, it is claimed, set about to gain possession of his wife's money. To do this he bought an interest in a New York enterprise, and, with full confidence in her husband, Mrs. Berglund gave over her small fortune for his use. Later she found she had been deceived. The morning of May 6 Berglund left his wife, saying he would return in the evening, but he did not come. She grew suspicious and reported the matter to the New York police. She had heard him talk of Chicago and concluded that he might have come here. Inspector Shea received a telegram to look for him and detectives were detailed for the purpose. He will be taken back to New York to stand trial for grand larceny.

SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE FLOURISHES

But Owing to Increasing Demands More Money Is Needed.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Illinois School of Agriculture and Manual Training for Boys was held at the Sherman House yesterday. Directors Edward B. Butler, Andrew Crawford, and A. N. Waterman were reëlected to terms of three years each. The board organized by electing John T. Chumasero President; Edward B. Butler, Vice-President; Frederick T. Haskell, Treasurer; Oscar L. Dudley, Secretary and General Manager; and Mrs. Ursula L. Harrison, Superintendent. In the report of the Secretary and General Manager, Oscar L. Dudley, he said:

During the last year we have added $1,500 worth of machinery and furniture to our plant and today our net indebtedness is only $10,790. The average cost of the care of each boy has been about $100. During the year 248 new inmates were received, and sixteen boys who had previously been placed in homes were returned, making a total of 467 boys cared for during the year. Of this number 232 were placed in homes or restored to friends. Our farm has flourished. In addition to the hay and coarse forage used for the stock the value of the farm products was $4,555. The estimated cost of caring for the boys during the year is $26,000 and at least $1,000 should be expended in repairs to keep our buildings in proper shape. This necessitates the raising of at least $10,000 by voluntary contributions.

W. S. TUPPER CHARGED WITH LIBEL.

Business Manager of an A. P. A. Paper Placed Under Arrest.

Wilbur S. Tupper, Business Manager of the Loyal American, was arrested at his office, No. 84 Adams street, yesterday morning on a charge of criminal libel preferred by John R. O'Connor. The charge was based on a clipping from an afternoon paper which was reprinted in Tupper's paper. The story recounted how a Roman Catholic priest and two attorneys, John R. O'Connor and Benjamin Wolf, had been restrained by Judge Smith from interfering in the business affairs of Mary L. Ladner. It said while temporarily ill the woman, who is a widow, had been intimidated by the priest to make the attorneys her wards and to settle her property upon charities. Editorially the Loyal American took occasion to say it had investigated the charges and it appeared the woman's attorneys were acting in good faith and the priest had not used undue influence. Tupper was admitted to $500 bail by Justice Foster and the hearing of the case will be had May 25.

WESTERN UNITARIANS IN SESSION.

Celebration of Two Anniversaries and Discussion of Important Topics.

The Western Unitarian anniversaries, including the fortieth anniversary of the Western Unitarian Conference, the twenty-first anniversary of the Western Unitarian Sunday-School Society, and the thirteenth anniversary of the Women's Western Unitarian Conference, began last night at the First Unitarian Church, Michigan avenue and Thirty-third street. The opening sermon was preached by the Rev. Arthur M. Judy of Davenport. This morning will be devoted to the anniversary of the Western Unitarian conference, beginning at 9 o'clock, at the same place. After devotional exercises there will be an opening address by the President, D. L. Shorey. The rest of the exercises will consist of reports. The afternoon session at 2 o'clock will be devoted to the anniversary of the Women's Western Unitarian Conference. The evening session at 8 o'clock will consider the liberal movement and theology. But Kinza Riuge M. Hirai of Japan, who was to have read a paper, has been called away by sickness in his family.

In the Lumber Market.

No change of importance was noted in the cargo market, there being a fair business at a former range, with dry piece stuff in good demand. Prices were about as follows: Piece stuff, dry, $10.00; piece stuff, green, $9.00@9.25; hemlock piece stuff, $6.50@7.50; mill culls, $6.00@7.00; mill culls, inch, $8.00@8.50; common inch, dry, $12.00; long timber, $11.00@11.50; star A shingles, $1.80@2.00; cedar shingles, $1.60@2.00; pine lath, $1.70@1.85. Quotations at the yards were as follows:

Will Organize a Beefsteak Club.

Eighteen members of the Turtle Bay Brooklyn Beefsteak club registered at the Tremont House yesterday. They propose to show Chicago how to cook beefsteak and incidentally will organize a beefsteak club in the city. Sometimes the club takes a trip to Baltimore, Philadelphia, or Washington, and on these trips they carry their own meat and cooking outfit. The present trip was to Milwaukee for the purpose of organizing a club there and giving a dinner.

George W. Underwood for Justice.

George W. Underwood was selected by the Judges of all the courts of record yesterday to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Justice of the Peace Hardin B. Brayton. James J. Healey, P. B. Flannagan, Charles H. Bradley, and W. S. Taylor also ran. Mr. Underwood's name will be presented to Gov. Altgeld for approval.

Scottish Assembly Meets.

The members of the Scottish Assembly met last evening in Thompson's Hall. It was decided to hold the big Scotch picnic the first Saturday in August at Burlington Park. A. Gordon Murray was reëlected President.

Hotel Men to Meet.

The Hotel Men's Mutual Benevolent Association will meet this morning at the Great Northern to reorganize the association so as to incorporate it under the laws of Illinois.

Items.

The Methodist Social Union will give a banquet tomorrow evening at the Grand Pacific Hotel.

The Polish Hospital, No. 258 West Division street, was thrown open for service yesterday. No patients were received the first day.

The City Health Department has sworn out a number of warrants against milkmen, charging them with violating the milk ordinance. The men will be tried before Justice Gibbons.

Harry Varnell Jr. and a score of other bicyclists were charged with riding along boulevards on the West Side after dark without having their lamps lit. Each was fined $1 and costs.

John S. Townsend, who died at the County Hospital, was for nearly sixty years an actor. He leaves a widow and two children living in Honolulu, where his son is a prominent supporter of Queen "Lil."

The drainage canal police are still at work hoping to unravel the mystery surrounding the death of Edward Durkin, the teamster at Sag Bridge found dead on the towpath Sunday morning with a bullet through his abdomen.

Prof. Albert, who is anxious to have a bathhouse on the lake shore in the Hyde Park district, attempted to fence in part of the lake shore yesterday, but the police took a hand in the affair and the fence was promptly torn down.

Frank Steadman, the burglar alleged to have been the leader of the band of house breakers who figured extensively in Edison Park, Manheim, Jefferson Park, Rogers Park, and other suburbs, was sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary.

E. H. Baldwin and a companion walking on the beach near the Marine Hospital found a bottle in which was a paper with the following words written on it: "On board Lucerne. All hands lost. Good-by. Captain." On the reverse side was scrawled "Lake Superior."

The verdict of the Coroner's jury on the death of William Haddox, who was killed Sunday by William Ellington, was that Haddox came to his death from wounds inflicted by Ellington, and recommended that the latter be held without bail to await the action of the grand jury.

Five men were held to the grand jury by a Coroner's jury yesterday for the killing of Peter Meyer, No. 10 Willow street, who died at the Alexian Brothers' Hospital Monday. Jacob Gores is held on a charge of murder and Charles Lebben, John Deile, Edward Leipe, and Gustave Sollmon were held as accessories before and after the fact.

Excursion rates have been agreed upon by the Central Traffic Association for the following occasions: Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, Jamestown, N. Y., June 18 to 25, one first-class fare for the round trip from Central Traffic Association points; Indiana State Sunday-school convention, Muncie, Ind., from June 12 to 14, one first-class fare for the round trip from all points in Indiana; Ohio Republican State convention, Columbus, O., June 5 and 6, one first-class fare for the round trip from all points in Ohio; Knights of Pythias Grand Lodge of Indiana, Indianapolis, Ind., June 4 and 5, one first-class fare for the round trip from all points in Indiana.

PLOT TO FLEECE HOTEL MEN FOILED.

Swindler Under Arrest at St. Louis—Unique Scheme Disclosed.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 15.—[Special.]—W. C. Thompson of No. 1410 Olive street was arrested today charged with a unique swindle. About May 1 he left a lot of money packages at the Adams Express company's office addressed to mythical persons in care of hotels in different Illinois towns. These persons, Thompson said, were agents of the Armour Packing company and he was a Superintendent. One of the packages was sent to M. B. Scott, care Brown's Hotel, Galesburg, Ill. A few days later Thompson wrote a letter from Havana, Ill., to the hotel proprietor signed M. B. Scott, in which he said he had broken his ankle and could not go to Galesburg for a few days, but that he had ordered his watch, which was left here for repairs, sent to Galesburg in care of the hotel, and asked the proprietor to receive it and pay the bill, about $2. The hotel man did as requested, feeling secured by the supposed money package. The intention was to fleece hotelkeepers all over, but was prevented by Joseph Temple, agent for the Adams Express company. He became suspicious, opened one of the "money" packages, found it contained only paper, and called in the police.

Four Cold-Blooded Assassins.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 15.—[Special.]—Night before last four masked men went to the house of Spencer Atkins near Sulligent, Lamar County, called Atkins to the gate, and, seizing on him, dragged him to the woods near by and riddled him with bullets. Drew Neeland was arrested on suspicion and put in the Vernon jail. He has confessed the murder and implicates Allen and Alex. Jordan and Jim Hawkins, who have also been jailed. A mob has made several attempts to get the prisoners from the jail to lynch them and are prevented only by a company of State militia on guard there.

Bloody Work of Highbinders.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., May 15.—The battles of warring highbinders in Chinatown have taken a new turn. It has long been an unwritten law in Chinatown that life should be taken for life. May 8 Choy Gim, a dissolute Chinese woman, had a bullet fired into her head by an assassin, and early this morning a second woman, named Quee Sing, was murdered in a Dupont street brothel. Jealousy is at the bottom of the two brutal murders. Neither of the helpless women had done anything to provoke her assassin's action. Neither assassin is known to the police.

First of the Season at Quincy.

QUINCY, Ill., May 15.—[Special.]—The first swimming accident of the season occurred this afternoon. Oscar Parks was swimming in the bay when he got beyond his depth and was drowned. He was 12 years old and the son of Harry Parks, a well-known commercial traveler.

GRIFFITH A WINNER.

PITTSBURG JEERS FAIL TO RATTLE HIM IN HIS WORK.

The Smoky City Men Helpless Before His Delivery—Parrott's Work on Second of Good Quality—Philadelphia, Cleveland, and Brooklyn Winners of Other National League Games—Standing of the Clubs in Percentage Up to Date—Results of Games in Lesser Leagues.

Cleveland gained a few points on Baltimore yesterday by defeating St. Louis, while the Orioles were prevented from playing by a fire at Boston. Philadelphia climbed into third place by thrashing New York, while Chicago was beating Pittsburg, and Brooklyn headed St. Louis in the race.

The standing of the clubs follows:

| Clubs. | Played. | Won. | Lost. | Per ct. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Cleveland | 19 | 15 | 4 | .789 |
| Baltimore | 20 | 14 | 6 | .700 |

| Chicago | 18 | 6 | 12 | .333 |
| Louisville | 18 | 5 | 13 | .278 |
| Washington | 22 | 3 | 19 | .136 |

National League games scheduled for today are: Chicago at Pittsburg, St. Louis at Cleveland, Louisville at Cincinnati, New York at Philadelphia, Baltimore at Boston, and Washington at Brooklyn.

WINS WITH GRIFFITH IN THE BOX.

Despite the Roasting by Pittsburgers Anson's Men Get the Most Tallies.

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 15.—[Special.]—Griffith, the young man with a big mustache, was a factor in a game which Uncle Anson's team won here this afternoon. He not only pitched with good judgment but hit the ball hard and timely, and, as the Colts played a pretty game, they won with runs to spare.

Griffith stood all the guying the Pittsburgs gave him about his mustache. Toward the close they tried to get him up in the air by yells. Even this had no effect. They held out the old balls and in the eighth three new balls were put in play. Griffith acted like a veteran under fire.

Anson had misgivings when he put Parrott on second, but Jiggs was all right and played a nice game, a stop in the eighth inning being very clever.

The Chicagos started badly, and before Pittsburg's half of their inning was one-third over it looked as if the Colts were going to be laid out. Griffith was roasted a little on balls and strikes on the first batsman, and a base on balls resulted. Donovan hit a liner over short for two bases and ran to third because Lange played tag with the ball. Beckley cracked a hard hit to right, but the next hands short flied.

The only play of any importance in the Chicagos' second was Parrott's and Griffith's attempt at a double steal, in which Jiggs through timidity was caught at the plate.

Dahlen stopped a hit in the Pittsburgs' half. Then Ehret singled, and this was the last hit Pittsburg secured. They went down one by one until the eighth, when Dahlen hit one man and gave a base on balls. The runner did not get beyond third.

The Colts had hard luck with their hits in the third inning, when with two men on bases Decker's hard smash was broken down by Ehret. The ball shot off toward third, when Lyons grabbed it and by a good throw caught Decker at first.

Lange opened the fourth, and when Stenzel was through chasing the ball he had gone all the way around. The Colts tied the score in the fifth, when Donovan made a laughable muff of Kittridge's easy fly. Kittridge reached third on an out and scored on Dahlen's smash, which was too vicious for Glasscock. Lange singled in the sixth and stole second by a ten-foot slide amid cheers. He made third on a sacrifice. A low pitch struck the ground and rolled into the diamond.

"Take a chance, Bill," coached Anson. Bill took it and lost.

The eighth put the Colts on top. Dahlen doubled to left and Wilmot tripled to right. Decker's long fly sent in the second run. Jiggs Parrott began the ninth with a dewdrop fly, which Red Ehret muffed. Griffith had two foul-bunt strikes when Anson yelled, "Do as you please." The young man with the big mustache promptly hit safe, and, on Stenzel's fumble, Parrott got home. A sacrifice and Glasscock's fumble sent the sixth run in. The score:

Chicago Lets the Camps Go.

After much discussion and consideration Jim Hart yesterday decided to release the Camp brothers. They already have offers from Grand Rapids, Detroit, and Sioux City. Mr. Hart is eager to acquire Stewart, the wonderful second baseman of Sioux City, and offered three players, the two Camps and whatever pitcher might come next in order of release—in exchange for him. Unfortunately, the Western League rules will not permit of such a transfer, and so Chicago must pine for Stewart all in vain. An offer was also made to Baltimore for Harry Reitz and was declined. Parrott, therefore, is likely to continue on Chicago's middle bag.

Philadelphia, 10; New York, 4.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 15.—The Philadelphia team made an easy conquest of the Giants today, the New York men being unable to overcome the lead obtained by the home team in the first inning. The Giants did some good hitting in individual cases, Connor's home run in the second inning scoring them their first run. On the other hand, the Phillies caught right on to Westervelt's curves. ### WESTERN LEAGUE BALL GAMES.

Detroit Wins the Only Game Played in the Circuit of Clubs.

No change took place in the Western League standing as a result of yesterday's solitary game. Rain prevented the others. The standing to date is:

| Clubs. | Played. | Won. | Lost. | Per cent. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Toledo | 19 | 13 | 6 | .684 |
| Sioux City | 14 | 9 | 5 | .643 |
| Grand Rapids | 20 | 12 | 8 | .600 |
| Kansas City | 15 | 8 | 7 | .533 |
| Minneapolis | 15 | 7 | 8 | .467 |
| Indianapolis | 18 | 7 | 11 | .389 |
| Milwaukee | 12 | 4 | 8 | .333 |
| Detroit | 19 | 6 | 13 | .316 |

There are no Western League games scheduled for today.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., May 15.—Detroit closed the series here today by winning a closely contested game, the principal feature being the base stealing by the visitors. The score:

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Grand Rapids | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | —2 |
| Detroit | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 3 | 2 | 0 | * | —6 |

Batteries—Rhines and Spies; Balsz and Kreig. Earned runs—Detroit, 3. Hits—Grand Rapids, 5; Detroit, 6. Errors—Grand Rapids, 2; Detroit, 5.

WESTERN ASSOCIATION GAMES.

Rock Island, Omaha, Peoria, and Jacksonville the Winners.

By winning yesterday when Lincoln lost, Omaha advanced to second place in the Western Association race. No other changes resulted. The standing to date is as follows:

| Clubs. | Played. | Won. | Lost. | Per ct. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| St. Joseph | 11 | 9 | 2 | .818 |
| Omaha | 10 | 7 | 3 | .700 |
| Lincoln | 10 | 6 | 4 | .600 |
| Rock Island | 10 | 6 | 4 | .600 |
| Peoria | 11 | 5 | 6 | .455 |
| Jacksonville | 10 | 4 | 6 | .400 |
| Des Moines | 11 | 3 | 8 | .273 |
| Quincy | 11 | 2 | 9 | .182 |

Western Association games scheduled for today are: Quincy at Omaha, Rock Island at Des Moines, Jacksonville at St. Joseph, Peoria at Lincoln.

DES MOINES, Ia., May 15.—[Special.]—Rock Island won the second game in the series with Des Moines today. The day was hot, attendance small, and game featureless. The score:

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Des Moines | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 3 | 0 | 0 | —4 |

Batteries—Des Moines, Beymer and Graver; Rock Island, Andrews and Sage. Errors—Rock Island, 5; Des Moines, 4. Hits—Des Moines, 7; Rock Island, 7.

OMAHA, Neb., May 15.—[Special.]—The Quincys were weak at the bat, but otherwise put up a good game this afternoon. Several remarkable double plays were made. The score:

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Omaha | 2 | 2 | 1 | 3 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 9 | —18 |

Batteries—Omaha, Whitehill and Fear; Quincy, Southard and Hurley. Umpire—Lucas. Hits—Omaha, 21; Quincy, 3. Errors—Omaha, 2; Quincy, 7.

LINCOLN, Neb., May 15.—[Special.]—Lincoln suffered the first shut-out this year at the hands of Peoria. Johnson from San Francisco pitched his first game for Lincoln today. The score:

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|

Hits—Peoria, 9; Lincoln, 3. Errors—Lincoln, 1; Peoria, 4. Batteries—Johnson, Speers, Somers, Terrien.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., May 15.—[Special.]—The Saints were defeated by the Jacksonvilles today. The latter's superior playing and the rank errors of the home team were the cause. The score:

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Jacksonville | 1 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 1 | —4 |
| St. Joseph | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 3 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | —3 |

Base hits—Jacksonville, 9; St. Joseph, 7. Errors—Jacksonville, 2; St. Joseph, 4. Batteries—For Jacksonville, Emmerke and Mertes; for St. Joseph, Packard and Armstrong.

YALE MEN IN DIFFICULTIES.

The Blue Ball Team Will Not Do—Longacre Out of the Crew.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 15.—[Special.]—How to strengthen the ball nine is the absorbing question at Yale. Capt. Case is beginning to realize that outside of the phenomenal Carter the team is only second-class, and the process of shifting has only begun. Quinby has been retired to the substitute list. Murphy's poor work at second base continues, and a loud howl is dinning Capt. Case's ears to remove him. There is a general desire to see Redington placed at that position, and the chances are that he will be given a thorough trial there before many days. The illness of Carter the last week has made the problem of presenting the strongest nine a serious one, as the championship season opens here next Saturday, when Princeton's desperate Tigers are to be turned loose on the Yale field. Carter may not be well enough to pitch that game.

Capt. Case has taken the vacant position of short stop. His stops there are wonderful, but his throwing is inaccurate. He is liable to be superseded by Rustin and to resume his place in the outfield before long.

For the first time in two months a change must be recorded in the composition of the Yale crew, not owing to oarsmanship this time, but to the faculty. Longacre, who was one of the two members of last year's winning crew retained this season, has been suspended by the Yale faculty for failure to pass in his studies. The sentence dooms him to six months' exile, and it will be seen that this precludes his training with the crew till after time for the Harvard race has elapsed.

A petition has been started among both undergraduates and alumni for his reinstatement and final action is looked for in a few days. In the meantime Rogers is rowing in Longacre's place on the crew.

MISSING MAN FOUND DEAD IN FLORIDA.

Had Been in the Water a Year—Man Indicted for the Murder.

OCALA, Fla., May 15.—[Special.]—The headless body found in the lake near here two weeks ago is undoubtedly that of Ralph R. Teller of Keokuk, Ia., who spent the winter of 1892-'93 in this State and has been missing since April of last year. The body had been in the water a year at least, but the clothing, watch, etc., were identified as Teller's. The grand jury, now in session, has ordered the arrest of a man named Cook, living at Belleview, on suspicion of having murdered Teller and then sinking his body in the pond.

KEOKUK, Ia., May 15.—[Special.]—Ralph R. Teller disappeared from this city two years ago. He was a veteran of three wars. He was a member of the local post, G. A. R. Why he left here is a mystery. His widow lives here.

Magazine Writer Sued for Slander.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., May 15.—[Special.]—Mother Superior Stanislaus and Sister Clement have begun a suit for slander against Miss Florence Kilkelly of Boston, claiming $40,000 damages. They allege that the defendant has said the sisters threatened to kill and tried to poison her and that the defendant had written letters reflecting on the sisters' morals. Miss Kilkelly came here to write a magazine article on the divorce colony and was being entertained by the sisters for a time.

IS DEEP IN THE DIRT.

WOODLAWN OUTRAGEOUSLY NEGLECTED BY CITY SCAVENGERS.

Garbage Boxes Overflowing with Filth, the Streets Deep with Mud and Refuse, and a Local Improvement Society Forced to Go Into the Cleaning Business—D. B. Fairman Superintending the Work—Prod Used on Contractors—Result of a South Side Inspection.

Residents of Woodlawn have been forced to organize a citizens' movement to protect their territory from overflowing garbage boxes and unclean streets. Ministers, lawyers, real estate dealers, brokers, and laymen have joined to improve the condition of the suburb. They protest that the efforts put forth by the city to do the scavenger work and clean the streets, for which they pay taxes, would be farcical if it were sufficiently in evidence to be commented upon. The streets on the business thoroughfares have not been touched by the city government for six months and the citizens have had to contribute from their private purses in order to have garbage removed.

Woodlawn proper lies between Sixtieth and Sixty-seventh streets and Stony Island and Cottage Grove avenues. It is in the heart of the Thirty-fourth Ward and embraces territory about a mile square. The people are proud of their fine residences, their macadamized, though unclean streets, and their clean lawns.

W. H. Coleman of White & Coleman, said yesterday: "It is a shame the way we are treated here by the Street Cleaning Department. The man who has the contract for cleaning the garbage in Woodlawn does not do it at all. We are taxed here at World's Fair rates, and we pay big revenue to the city. Now, through a patriotic spirit and the necessity of taking every precaution against smallpox, we are simply forced to go down into our pockets to pay to have the garbage removed. I have spent $300 in the last three weeks cleaning up vacant property and doing other things which the city should do. If we were not taxed for this very work I would not complain, but we have a right to expect something from the city government. We think too well of our property and territory to permit the filth to accumulate, but it is a bad precedent for a community to stand the expense of keeping its streets and alleys clean when a contractor is paid by the city to do the work."

Refuse Sixteen Inches Deep.

While, as stated, the streets of Woodlawn are all macadamized it is not apparent on four of the principal streets. The refuse is from six to sixteen inches deep. It is formed of all the litter and refuse that accumulated during the period of the World's Fair and since. Yesterday Sixty-third street was muddy and sloppy, the dirt rising almost even with the curb. The Street Cleaning Bureau at the City Hall has been requested to clean up Madison avenue, Sixty-third street, Stony Island and Woodlawn avenues. Nothing, however, has been done and Ald. O'Neill says he will bring the matter before the City Council at its next meeting.

Since the citizens learned that they would have to clean Woodlawn at their own expense they formed the Woodlawn Park Improvement club, with F. E. Brown as President. The Executive committee which has undertaken to do the work consists of F. E. Brown, James G. Inglis, D. B. Fairman, W. A. Coleman, Julius Stern, F. W. Green, E. M. Ashcraft, F. J. Smith, J. G. King. D. B. Fairman has taken charge of the Streets and Alleys committee. He has made the rounds in Woodlawn looking for bad alleys and garbage boxes. He said yesterday with reference to garbage wagons: "I can only say that I see one occasionally." As he has made it his special business to see them, his statement shows how the territory is neglected. Last week Mr. Fairman had seventeen teams working in the alleys and cleaning up the garbage boxes. Yesterday he had a number doing the same thing and the Improvement club is paying the bills. Mr. Fairman, F. W. Green, and W. A. Coleman, together with a reporter for THE TRIBUNE, made a tour of the territory. It was learned that none of the large hotels or apartment houses rely on the city for the removal of the garbage. They pay for special service and they do not know what a city scavenger wagon looks like. In the White & Coleman subdivision, which lies between Sixty-fifth and Sixty-seventh streets and the Illinois Central and Stony Island avenue, the litter had all been removed at private expense.

Pay for Scavenger Service.

John R. Tolle, who owns the four-story flat and business building, Nos. 332 to 346 Sixty-third street, gets no service from the city and pays $8 a month to have the garbage removed. W. H. Cosgrove, who owns the stores and flats, Nos. 360 to 372 Sixty-third street, also pays for the removal of garbage. Some results of observations show the neglect on the part of the contractor who is supposed to remove the garbage. At the rear of the Ionia Flats, on Stony Island avenue, a garbage wagon had for the first time in four weeks drawn up, but one of the occupants of the flats paid him to secure his services. At the rear of No. 281 Woodlawn terrace the garbage boxes were full. At the rear of the St. Jerome flats there was also an accumulation of garbage. The Capel flats had full boxes. The same was true with reference to the Seville flats. The garbage boxes at Nos. 310 and 312 Sixty-sixth place were in the same condition. At No. 358 Sixty-fourth street the boxes were full. The Colonial Hotel could not rely on the contractor and had a private scavenger. At the rear of No. 313 Sixty-third street there was 100 square feet of garbage and filth in addition to a great heap of refuse from a livery stable. The Woodlawn Police Station had a stack of stable refuse five feet high. At the rear of the Genoa flats the garbage has been accumulating since May 1. It was removed then at the solicitation of a colored resident who could not stand the smell any longer and paid a garbage wagon driver to clean up the place. At Nos. 296 to 300 Sixty-first place the boxes were overflowing with apparently a month's accumulation. Boxes and barrels were also full at the rear of No. 6026 Washington avenue. The alley from Sixty-first and Sixty-second streets between Woodlawn and Sheridan avenues was filthy. The boxes were all overflowing.

How long the garbage has been accumulating might be guessed by the fact that boxes which were emptied yesterday by Mr. Fairman's wagons had not only a noisome smell, but their bottoms and sides were simply alive with crawling, wriggling maggots three-quarters of an inch long.

The foregoing are instances of what the man who has the contract for Woodlawn is not doing. The Improvement club, however, has cleaned up a number of the alleys and yesterday the boxes were all empty and the tin cans removed, and they presented a model appearance. The citizens say, however, that they cannot be expected to be doing this all the year round.

After the Contractors.

Supt. Schofield yesterday sent three city teams into the Twenty-third Ward, where Contractor Byrnes is not doing the work satisfactorily. Twelve teams were also sent into the Second Ward, where Bryan Tighe has the contract. His contract has been revoked, taking effect June 1.

Ald. Marrenner called on the Mayor yesterday and protested against the dumping of garbage on the lake shore at the foot of Twenty-seventh street.

Justice Gibbons yesterday afternoon issued summonses for a score of violators of the smoke ordinance to appear in court next Friday. A number of brewers and the managers of the Y. M. C. A. Building on La Salle street are among the number.

SUIT FOR INFRINGEMENT OF PATENTS.

Important Action Taken by the Remington Typewriter Company Against the Franklin.

A telegram from Hartford, Conn., dated May 15, says: "Legal papers have just been served here in the suit of the Remington Typewriter company vs. Miller & Martin, agents of the Franklin typewriter, for infringement of patents. Similar proceedings are being instituted in other sections of the country."

ADDITIONAL SMALLPOX INSPECTORS.

House to House Canvass Begins in Earnest—New Cases.

The Health Department inaugurated a vigorous house to house canvass of the city by inspectors looking for smallpox yesterday morning in response to the Mayor's order that every one be vaccinated. Up to date the department has vaccinated 300,000 people since September. The inspectors, Drs. Garrott and Benson, have charge of the West Side; Dr. Letts, the North Side; Dr. Spaulding, the down-town district, and Dr. M. L. Goodkind that part of the South Side south of Twenty-sixth street. Where people refuse to be vaccinated they will be arrested and subjected to a fine of from $3 to $25. The 150 more young physicians and senior medical students who were appointed yesterday were divided into thirty-four corps, each corps taking a ward. This makes a total of 300 inspectors put to work this week.

Health Commissioner Reynolds was waited on by a committee of the wholesale dealers, who protested against the action of the city in refusing license to rag-pickers. Dr. Reynolds promised to take the matter under advisement.

Thomas Mytele, an employé of Swift & Co. at the Union Stock-Yards, died yesterday at No. 4029 Ashland avenue, supposedly from blood-poisoning following vaccination.

Twenty-one new cases of the disease were reported yesterday.

Mrs. H. O. Stone, No. 2035 Prairie avenue, yesterday requested the Health Department to send an officer to her residence to burn the furniture if deemed necessary in the house in the rear of her home from which a servant had been removed suffering from the smallpox. The house was thoroughly fumigated by the officers.

Dr. M. H. Garland, No. 332 Maple street, a member of the American Anti-Vaccination League, is going to oppose the compulsory vaccination order. He has issued a call for a mass-meeting to protest against the proposed promiscuous vaccination. He circulated a petition, and last night had nearly 100 signers, and nearly all were prominent and well-known Englewood business-men. The meeting will be held Saturday night.

A strong report against the peculiar business actions of the Health Department was filed with the Englewood police yesterday. John Meyers, his wife, and several children a short time ago occupied the house No. 6518 Aberdeen street. About ten days ago an infant was taken sick and when a doctor examined the child he said it was a case of smallpox. The child was taken to the pesthouse, where death ensued some days ago. Soon after the husband and three daughters were taken down with the disease. Sunday they were taken to the pesthouse, where the oldest died yesterday. When the health officers left the place they promised to return and fumigate the house. They told Mrs. Meyers not to go up-stairs. The house had not been fumigated up to a late hour last night, and the woman is compelled to sleep in the basement or cellar. The youngest daughter at the pesthouse is not expected to live, while the father and other daughters may recover.

THE POWER OF THE DIME.

With One Dime a Day an Entire Library May Be Secured.

As a matter of fact, the silver dime is the great American coin. It is thoroughly democratic in its character, pressing all palms in its circulating travels, visiting the palace and the hut, the saint and the sinner, the rich and the poor, the young and the old.

It has a thousand times the carrying powers of its big brother, the silver dollar—and goes on its way serenely indifferent to politics and Congress, for it is too small to set the oratorical mill grinding. The catalogue of results obtained by the dime as an active factor is a long one and contains an astonishing variety. But the most amazing thing which can be accomplished by the nimble, agile 10-cent piece is the purchasing of an entire library.

Ten cents a day will do it. The price of a good smoke or a couple of packages of chewing gum or an ice cream soda each twenty-four hours will give our readers the entire set of twenty-five volumes of the Encyclopedia Britannica. It seems too absurd to be true, but we have made just that proposition to any and all of our friends. We offer to furnish the Britannica, that splendid reference library, never equaled by any other work since the first edition appeared over a century ago, for 10 cents a day.

It is an opportunity not to be sneezed at. It is a chance which will only last for a short time. It is a proposition which is gauged to the capacity of the slenderest purse, and it is made only to our readers. There is no necessity for dilating on the Encyclopedia Britannica. Everybody knows that it is the best work of thousands of scholars, learned men and writers. It treats of every subject under the sun in a comprehensive, exhaustive way, and it is so reliable and accurate that it has been accepted as expert testimony in the courts. The edition offered to our readers is complete in all respects. It is up to date. Its maps are new. Its binding, printing, paper, and appearance are first-class. It is, in fact, equal to the Edinburgh edition, and, besides, contains addenda which are not in that edition; addenda especially valuable in all that relates to our own country and its institutions.

Spare a few moments' time and call at THE TRIBUNE reading-room, 109 Adams street, opposite Postoffice, and examine this great work. It will pay you.

South Side.

TO RENT—

THE GROVELAND.

FLATS FURNISHED AND UNFURNISHED. IN THE MOST ELEGANTLY APPOINTED AND FINISHED FIREPROOF

APARTMENT BUILDING IN CHICAGO.

PRICES HAVE BEEN MADE EXTREMELY LOW

Electric lights, steam heat, refrigerator service, janitor, and bell-boy service without extra charge.

The additional service and conveniences obtained will make a difference of at least $15 per month in rent as compared with that of other flat buildings.

All flats have gas ranges, stationary laundry tubs with devices for steaming clothes, drying apparatus, refrigerators cooled by brine pumped through pipes from basement, gas grates, elegant mantels, beautiful hardwood finish, and polished hardwood floors.

The halls are all tiled and finished with a rich marble wainscoting. The main entrance finished in costly polished granite with ornamental mosaic work. Convenient and handsome public reception-rooms on each floor. Stairways entirely of iron and marble. Fire walls separate the flats from each other. The elevators are of the best models and run night and day.

The building is delightfully located on the lake shore, only twelve minutes' ride from the business center by Illinois Central trains from 31st-st., one block distant. Cottage Grove-av. cable cars within one block.

Furnished rooms with service $15 per month and upward.

A fine restaurant, under the supervision of a competent chef, forms one of the features of the house. Send for illustrated descriptive pamphlet.

W. W. SOMES, Manager.

RARE OPPORTUNITY TO BUY A PIANO of standard make at a low price.
BOSTON, April 6, 1894.
John W. Northrop, Manager, 218 Wabash-av.
Dear Sir—
We have shipped you the entire stock from our Plattsburg store. Make such prices as will dispose of the goods at once to make room for new styles nearly ready to ship.
Respectfully yours,
EMERSON PIANO CO.
In explanation of the above, would say our branch store at Plattsburg, N. Y., has been discontinued. The entire stock of pianos shipped here has arrived and will be placed on sale MONDAY, MAY 7. This stock consists principally of EMERSON PIANOS, some slightly damaged in transportation, or shopworn, and others upon which some money has been paid, all practically as good as new. We have been obliged to put some of our regular stock in storage to make room for these goods, and they must be sold at once. The prices asked will make this an extraordinary opportunity to purchase a standard piano fully warranted, at a slight advance over the actual cost of manufacture, and no person contemplating the purchase of a piano can, in justice to themselves, allow this chance to pass. Time payments accepted if desired. Handsome stool and cover with every instrument. Do not buy a piano anywhere until you have examined this stock. The Emerson Piano has been sold in Chicago for nearly forty years and is pronounced by leading musicians to be "as good as the best."
JOHN W. NORTHROP, Manager. EMERSON PIANO CO., 218 Wabash-av.

LEGAL NOTICES AND PROPOSALS.

ASPHALT PAVEMENT—
Sealed proposals will be received by the West Chicago Park Commissioners, at office in Union Park, until 4 o'clock p. m. of Tuesday, May 22d, 1894, for the construction of an asphalt pavement on the four side roadways adjoining the east and west wings of Vernon Park, Chicago, Ill., according to plans and specifications on file in the office of the Engineer of said Park Commissioners in Union Park.
Proposals must be made out upon blank forms to be obtained at said office and be addressed to the "West Chicago Park Commissioners," indorsed "Proposal for Asphalt Pavement," and be accompanied with $200 in currency or a certified check for same amount on a responsible bank doing business in the City of Chicago and made payable to the order of the West Chicago Park Commissioners.
A good and sufficient bond from a reputable surety company doing business in the City of Chicago, in the sum of one-half of the total amount of the contract, must be furnished by the contractor guaranteeing the work for a period of five years, as set forth in the specifications referred to.
No proposal will be considered unless the party submitting it shall furnish evidence satisfactory to the West Chicago Park Commissioners of his ability, and that he has the necessary facilities, together with sufficient pecuniary resources to fulfill the conditions of the contract, provided such contract should be awarded to him.
Companies or firms bidding will give the individual names as well as the name of the firm, with their address.
The West Chicago Park Commissioners reserve the right to reject any or all bids.
HARRY WILKINSON, Secretary.
Chicago, May 15, 1894.

SIDEWALK CONTRACTORS — SEALED PROposals will be received by the West Chicago Park Commissioners, at office in Union Park, until 4 o'clock p. m. of Tuesday, May 22, 1894, for the construction of composition sidewalks in Vernon Park, Chicago, Ill., according to plans and specifications on file in the office of the Engineer of said Park Commissioners in Union Park.
Proposals must be made out upon blank forms to be obtained at said office and be addressed to the "West Chicago Park Commissioners," indorsed "Proposal for Vernon Park Sidewalk," and be accompanied with two hundred dollars in currency or a certified check for same amount on a responsible bank doing business in the City of Chicago and made payable to the order of the West Chicago Park Commissioners.
A good and sufficient bond from a reputable surety company doing business in the City of Chicago in the sum of one-half of the total amount of the contract must be furnished by the contractor guaranteeing the work for a period of five years, as set forth in the specifications referred to.
No proposal will be considered unless the party submitting it shall furnish evidence satisfactory to the West Chicago Park Commissioners of his ability, and that he has the necessary facilities together with sufficient pecuniary resources to fulfill the conditions of the contract provided such contract should be awarded to him.
Companies or firms bidding will give the individual names as well as the name of the firm with their address.
The West Chicago Park Commissioners reserve the right to reject any or all bids.

DR. RICE'S BROOKLYN.

FRED FOSTER'S GOOD COLT LANDS THE RICH HANDICAP.

Clifford, Almost Left at the Post, Never Has a Chance and Finishes Last—Foster and His Partners Win a Fortune—The Race, Run on a Good Track, the Second Fastest in the History of the Handicap—Great Crowd at Gravesend—Winners of the Other Events.

NEW YORK, May 15.—[Special.]—A regular Chicago Derby day crowd turned out to witness Western horses finish first and second in the $25,000 Brooklyn Handicap at Gravesend this afternoon. Forty thousand persons were in attendance—a throng greater by 10,000 than was ever before assembled on an Eastern racecourse. As Fred Foster's Dr. Rice, Byron McClelland's Henry of Navarre, and the Oneck Stable's Sir Walter leaped in unison for a few strides at the last sixteenth pole the great throng yelled in deafening manner for the Eastern favorite, Sir Walter. For half a dozen seconds the trio formed a pretty picture. It was either one's race for twenty rods. The Eastern colt was the first to falter. He lost a length in a bound, and then oppressive silence seemed to settle down over the grand stand and grounds. Then some piking player chanced to discover that the bearer of his mite, Dr. Rice, was drawing slowly away from Henry of Navarre, and he broke the spell of quietude by a shriek of exultation that set winners and losers alike to cheering, and Dr. Rice finished first under the wire by three parts of a length from that game 3-year-old Henry of Navarre, amid an accompaniment of discordant applause that would have done credit to a first-class Fourth of July celebration. For the moment Clifford, who started actual favorite for the race, was forgotten, and probably not one speculator in a hundred paid the slightest heed to him as he and Sport brought up the rear of the weary procession.

Fred Foster had his arms about Taral's neck almost before the latter dismounted from Dr. Rice. The two executed something after the nature of a Sioux "ghost dance." All this while John McCafferty, who rendered Foster valuable assistance in planning his great coup, clung to one of the columns of the grand stand, just directly back of the judges' pavilion.

Clifford Is Practically Left.

The eighth Brooklyn Handicap was a great horse race in every respect save one. Clifford, who carried a carload of Western money, was practically left at the post, when, after a delay of three-quarters of an hour, the starter's flag fell to a poor send-off. Clifford, Sport, and Bassetlaw were not in motion, and Lowlander was turned the wrong way. There had been half a dozen fair opportunities for a start in what Mr. Rowe permitted to become breakaways and he finally accepted a poor one. Copyright, Lowlander, Ajax, and Comanche took turns acting badly and it is a wonder that the chances of the three placed horses were not more seriously impaired than they were. Strange to relate there was little crowding or jostling in the race. Copyright went out in the van at the signal, closely followed by Henry of Navarre. The two lay lovingly together for over six furlongs with Dr. Rice within comfortable striking distance. Banquet, Comanche, and Sir Walter rated along in the second division, and not until Bassetlaw came through from the ruck and headed this second detachment was there anything smacking of a race. Hamilton on Bassetlaw evidently gave Doggett and Sir Walter a bad scare on the stretch turn. Doggett went to whip, and as his mount drew up to the leaders Copyright was done for. Ajax, Herald, Diablo, and Blitzen were never seemingly for a moment dangerous. They were not even in their own way, as Bradley remarked to the trainers, Gilpin and Hueston, after the race, over a consolation glass. Banquet was another horse that was probably started for fun. He is about as fleet as a Percheron. The real race began at the head of the stretch. Henry of Navarre had the inner rail, with Dr. Rice at his throat latch and Sir Walter in the center of the track two lengths away. Bassetlaw's bluff sent Sir Walter up to the leaders and at the last furlong they were almost on even terms.

A Hard Race at the Finish.

Beginning the last sixteenth they were aligned, and then it was that the crowd began yelling for Sir Walter. Henry of Navarre was at this stage just about done for, but Taral and Dr. Rice had considerable in hand. Little Clayton was plainly outclassed by Taral and Doggett. As Taral sent Dr. Rice by him he lost heart. He tried to shift his reins and failed. He made poor use of his whip, and had not Sir Walter been all out he would have been beaten for the place. While Dr. Rice won in a drive he was far the superior horse of the group. Taral allowed him to flounder on his stride when he saw Sir Walter dropping away from him, and it was then necessary to set him going again. Dr. Rice and Henry of Navarre were both trained to the hour.

Sir Walter looked and was perceptibly drawn a little too fine. Had the race been run a fortnight ago he would have undoubtedly stood a better chance. As it was the ring suffered heavily by the victory of Dr. Rice. Ike Thompson, Leo Mayer, and W. F. McNamara, the three books doing the largest volume of business to the race, were blind to Dr. Rice's chances. Thompson and Mayer thought Clifford could not lose and McNamara thought he had a shade in his knowledge of Sir Walter's fitness and speed. He belonged to the old Cridge-Kelly-Bliss crowd. These three books kept up 8 to 1 about Dr. Rice when their neighbors were content to lay 6 and 7 to 1. After the race they had banner lines. They were never excelled in dimensions on the Brooklyn track. Thompson must have lost $20,000 to the race. Half a dozen of the books that are inspired by the Guttenberg confederation were also solid for Clifford. They had a straight tip from Leigh and are accordingly in sackcloth and ashes tonight. Riley Grannan and George Wheelock each backed Clifford for a lot of money. Grannan is reported to have lost $10,000 by his defeat. A canvass of the 112 books on after the handicap's running showed that a majority had suffered severely by the two fancied ones failing to secure either of the positions carrying money. Seven books did business on the handicap from the moment the slates were hoisted. Clifford and Sir Walter opened equal choices at 3 to 1. The weight of Eastern money told, however, and Sir Walter went down to 13 to 5, while Clifford arose to 4½ to 1.

Western Men Bet Heavily on Clifford.

It was at this stage that the Western plungers unstrapped their wallets, when the handicap horses went to the post, one of the winter bookies, Leon Stedeker, concluded that he had business in New York. Tucking away his bank roll, he took his departure. At last accounts the association had charge of his sheets and four of Bob Pinkerton's men were in his wake. He laid 75 to 1 straight and 15 to 1 to show about Henry of Navarre during the spring and 60 to 1 against Dr. Rice. The Brooklyn Jockey club will make good the amounts invested with Stedeker by their patrons yesterday.

Apart from the handicap the sport was good. Dr. Hasbrouck, an overwhelming favorite in the opening sprint, was cleverly beaten by Stonenell. Halton showed a flash of his early 2-year-old form in the second race by running away from John Cooper, Appomattox, and other fair 3-year-olds, and Mr. Croker's Utica had an easy victory over the youngsters in the Expectation Stakes. Gus Strauss' Harry Reed, a big brown gelding by Himyar, out of Viola, celebrated his arrival from Lexington by easily beating the 2-year-old maiden group comprising the fifth event, and Fred Foster won the closing race with Eloroy, Dr. Rice's trial horse. Sol Lichtenstein chalked up 100 to 1 about Eloroy. Some one bet him a ten and he cut to 60 to 1. He took a little money at this figure, and finally settled down to 5 to 1. Foster had a great day. He won upwards of $30,000 by Dr. Rice's victory, and probably took $10,000 out of the ring over Eloroy's win. The latter had a close call.

Peter De Lacy's Action.

Peter De Lacy put a damper on the sport in his own peculiar fashion this afternoon. Armed with a valise full of unsigned warrants and escorted by Sheriff Buttling and a posse of deputies he went before Justice Voorhis at the Gravesend town hall and applied for a warrant for the arrest of President Phil Dwyer for conducting a lottery on the Gravesend track. The warrant was issued. Dwyer was notified and gave bond for appearance tomorrow. Then De Lacy's lawyers asked for warrants by the wholesale, including the judges, minor officials, and many bookmakers whom they deemed equally guilty with President Dwyer in being about to open and conduct a lottery.

Justice Voorhies proceeded to sign warrants for the arrest of the judges, and the lawyers departed. Affidavits charging six bookmakers with conducting a lottery were issued a little later and placed in the hands of Sheriff Buttling's deputies. The Sheriff walked over to the judge's stand at the conclusion of the third race and conducted Judges McDowell, Simmons, and Smith back to the court-room. All gave bonds and were notified to appear Thursday.

Fred Foster said tonight his winnings and purse would make, all told, $60,000. He sent half the stake to his mother in St. Paul. The Orths and Bob Rose, all interested in the horse, are said by friends to have won enough to last them awhile. They won thousands of dollars.

LOCAL INTEREST IN THE BIG RACE.

A Big Crowd Bets on Western Horses in the Hawthorne Book.

It is estimated that Chicagoans bet $50,000 on the Brooklyn Handicap here and in New York, and more won than lost. Orth is said to have won $50,000.

In Joe Ullman's foreign book at Hawthorne yesterday about $17,000 was bet and $13,000 paid out, the book winning $4,000 or so on the race. Joe himself lost some $700 on Sir Walter. The O'Neill-Eckert book lost $7,500 on the race, as the book was closed last Saturday. But O'Neill was at the track and probably played the winner heavily. Bob Rose, one of Clifford's three owners, lost some $2,000 on the great horse.

The odds yesterday in the Ullman book were as follows:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Dr. Rice | 6 | Copyright | 30 |
| Henry of Navarre | 6 | Comanche | 20 |
| Sir Walter | 3½ | Sport | 20 |
| Bassetlaw | 30 | Diablo | 20 |
| Clifford | 3 | Blitzen | 50 |
| Banquet | 8 | Herald | 50 |
| Ajax | 8 | Lowlander | 50 |

There was far less interest in the Kentucky Derby. Chant's odds were prohibitive, and the little betting by the public on the race was on Pearl Song at 2½ and 3 to 1. The big bettors backed Chant, knowing that the track was not bad by the time of the first two races. Ullman's odds on the Kentucky Derby were:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Chant | 3-5 | 1-2 | Out. |
| Pearl Song | 2½ | 3 | 7-10 |
| Al Boyer | 6 | 8 | 3 |
| Segard | 25 | 25 | 8 |
| Tom Elmore | 15 | 15 | 5 |

Lasker Wins Another Game.

MONTREAL, Que., May 15.—[Special.]—Lasker opened the fifteenth game in the world's championship chess match with a queen's gambit, declined. He has recovered from his attack of nervous prostration. After the fortieth move Lasker pressed the attack and on the forty-fourth Steinitz resigned.

Among the noted sportsmen present are: Rexott of Virginia, Ill.; Crosby of O'Fallon, Ill.; Marshall of Keithsburg, Budd of Des Moines, Ia.; Black of Kirkwood, Powers of Decatur.

CHANT'S EASY DERBY.

FALSETTO'S GOOD SON WINS THE KENTUCKY CLASSIC EVENT.

Pearl Song Unable to Give the Leigh & Rose Colt a Good Race—Chant Wins All the Way in Good Time for the Track—He Is a Stout Favorite—Parolee, Elise, Vallera, Myrtle, and Helen N. Win the Other Louisville Events—Entries for Today.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 15.—[Special.]—Long before the hour for the commencement of the races here this afternoon great crowds of people were winding their way to Churchill Downs, and by the time the bugle summoned the horses to the post for the initial race the cozy grand stand was a dense mass of perspiring though good-natured humanity, while the field, free as on former Derby days, was fairly alive with a restless and expectant throng, who despite the threatening aspect of the weather were on hand to witness the decision of Kentucky's classic turf event. It was in fact the greatest crowd that has witnessed an afternoon's racing here in a number of years, it being estimated that nearly or quite 20,000 people saw Leigh & Rose's colt, Chant, gallop away with the meeting's chief prize. Of the fifty-five that had been nominated for the Derby only five went to the post, and in the matter of quality the field was a poor one. On the strength of his great showing in the Phœnix at Lexington Chant was made an overwhelming favorite, 1 to 2 being the best ever offered against him, at which short price he was so heavily played in the thirteen books that laid the odds as to cause the price against the much-touted Pearl Song to recede from 2½ to 3 to 1; the others being practically friendless in the betting.

Chant's Victory an Easy One.

As a contest the race proved to be the tamest in the history of the stake, Chant going to the front before passing the stand the first time and remaining there under the strongest kind of a pull to the end, with the field behind him strung out for nearly a sixteenth of a mile. As the winner was never obliged to extend himself the time for the run was slow, the official fractional time being as follows: Quarter, :26½; half, :51¾; three-quarters, 1:18½; mile, 1:45½; mile and a quarter, 2:13½; mile and a half, 2:41.

The track was dead. The value of the stake was $4,250. Chant, the first Falsetto to win the classic event, won eight races as a 2-year-old, and out of nine starts thus far this year he has earned brackets six times, with two important stakes to his credit. He was bred at Woodburn and was bought when a yearling at that establishment's sales in New York by James E. Pepper. After being highly tried Leigh & Rose bought him while still a yearling, paying Col. Pepper for him the stiff price of $6,000. The other racing proved to be enjoyable, though most of the finishes were a little ragged. Two other favorites besides Chant won on the day, and Scoggan Bros. furnished both, Vallera and Helen N. The remaining events went to long shots in the betting, the second being taken by the extreme outsider, Elise, a daughter of Glenelg and Pride, who found the soft going to her liking.

After the Brooklyn Handicap had been decided Eugene Leigh received a message from R. L. Rose informing him that he had got $1,000 on Clifford at 3½. Leigh took the defeat of his colt philosophically.

The Kentucky Derby's history is tabled below:

GORDIUS NO LONGER A MAIDEN.

Dan Miller's Colt, After Many Failures, Wins a Race at Last.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., May 15.—Gordius broke out of the maiden class this afternoon. He has run thirty races and cost Dan Miller, his owner, $25,000. He was a 1 to 2 shot today, and won easily. Two other favorites won on a good track. The summary:

First race, five and a half furlongs—Gordius, 102 pounds (Burlingame), 1 to 2, won; Musstesa, 100 (Chevalier), 4 to 1, second; Prince Idle, 105 (Weaver), 7 to 1, third. Time, 1:13. Pronto, Bliss, Tornado, Gosling, and Ivy also ran.

Second race, half a mile, maidens—Earnest L., 108 pounds (Chevalier), 11 to 5, won; Kitty L., 111 (King), 7 to 1, second; Washoe, 105 (Hennessey), 3 to 1, third. Time, :53. Coquette and Umatilla also ran.

Third race, three-quarters of a mile—Dr. Ross, 112 pounds (Glover), 12 to 1, won; Motto, 114 (Sullivan), 3 to 1, second; Anne Buckingmak, 100 (Lloyd), 10 to 1, third. Time, 1:19½. Lady Jane, Morven, Hercules, King Sam, Trix, and Capt. Coster also ran.

Fourth race, one mile—Cherokee, 77 pounds (Jones), 10 to 1, won; Greenhock, 101 (Peters), 20 to 1, second; Currency, 104 (H. Smith), 8 to 1, third. Time, 1:48¼. De la Guerra, Jake Allen, Bronco Boy, Auteuil, and Pescador also ran. Slow track.

Fifth race, five and one-half furlongs—Remus, 106 pounds (Chevalier), 2 to 1, won; Artist, 108 (Hennessey), 14 to 5, second; Banjo, 106 (Lloyd), third. Time, 1:11½. Sallie M., Mink, Queen of Scots, Ravine, and Chula also ran.

CHISWICK'S LUCKY HANDICAP.

The Race a Furlong Sprint in Which Credle, on Chiswell, Blundered.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 15.—[Special.]—The surprise of today's races came in the handicap. Chiswell and Chimes were equal choices at 2½ to 1. Prince Carl at 3 and Revenue at 4 were well supported, while Chiswick was unbacked. The whole field ran under a pull to the eighth pole and sprinted from there. Chiswick won by a head. Credle's stupid riding cost Chiswell the race. The other events were rather tame and the play light. The summary:

First race, selling, six and one-half furlongs—Francis Pope, 105 pounds (J. Mathews), 5 to 2, won; Kentucky Lady, 100 (Ham), 3 to 1, second; Burt Jordan, 105 (W. C. Morris) 15 to 1, third. Time, 1:22. Shiloh, 100 (F. Carr), 12 to 1; M. A. B., 100 (Cassin), 12 to 1; Diamond Dick, 108 (Gorman), 15 to 1; John P., 105 (J. Hill), 10 to 1; and Orrick, 105 (Hart), 15 to 1, ran unplaced. Maud, 100 (J. Donnelly), 15 to 1, ran away.

Second race, selling, 2-year-olds, four and a half furlongs—Carrie B., 102 pounds (Bunn), 10 to 1, won; Miss Alice, 107 (N. Hill), 7 to 10, second; Signora, 97 (Ham), 5 to 1, third. Time, :55¼. Dr. Work, 102 (Barrett), 20 to 1; Prince, 102 (Cassin), 7 to 2; Cœur d'Or, 101 (Hart), 40 to 1; Danla, 99½ (James), 15 to 1; Ned Comer, 100 (L. Jones), 50 to 1; and Lillie Lake, 101 (Sanford), 30 to 1, ran unplaced.

Third race, handicap, one and one-eighth miles—Chiswick, 101 pounds (J. Hill), 10 to 1, won; Chiswell, 106 (Credle), 5 to 2, second; Prince Carl, 98 (Ham), 3 to 1, third. Time, 1:56¼. Chimes, 100 (J. Mathews), 5 to 2, and Revenue, 99 (Cassin), ran unplaced.

Fourth race, selling, six and a half furlongs—Tea Set, 100 pounds (F. Carr), 5 to 2, won; Cartoon, 100 (Corbley), 10 to 1, second; Fonda, 100 (J. Donnelly), 8 to 1, third. Time, 1:22. Florence Shanks, 100 (W. Taylor), 15 to 1; Zender, 100 (Cottrell), 4 to 1; Forest King, 100 (Bunn), 12 to 1; Southern Lady, 100 (F. Jackson), 30 to 1; Uncle John, 105 (Elliott), 7 to 1; Shenandoah, 100 (J. Hill), 10 to 1; and Claremont, 105 (Credle), 30 to 1, ran unplaced.

Fifth race, selling, six and one-half furlongs—Schuylkill, 100 pounds (F. Carr), 4 to 5, won; Safe Home, 100 (Mosby), 10 to 1, second; Oakview, 100 (J. Smith), 10 to 1, third. Time, 1:21¾. Acilojam, 105 (J. Wallace), 8 to 1; Carmen, 100 (Cassin), 10 to 1; Can't Tell, 100 (Ham), 12 to 1; Borealis, 100 (J. Hill), 8 to 1; Knickerbocker, 108 (Gorman), 12 to 1; Harry Weaver, 105 (Thornton), 15 to 1; Belfast, 105 (Burrell), 10 to 1; and Bausack, 105 (Barrett), 20 to 1, ran unplaced.

Rich Stake for Trotters in Terre Haute.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., May 15.—[Special.]—The list of the forty-four entries for the 4-year-old Futurity Trotting Stake for the August meeting has just been given to the public. There were 400 entries at the beginning, and as there is only one more payment to be made it is expected that not less than twenty-five horses will appear on the track the day of the race. The forty-four include representatives of all the best breeds. The stake is now worth $23,000 and will have an aggregate value of at least $24,000. The first money will be $12,000, second $2,500, third $1,500, and fourth $1,000. The breeder of the winner will receive $1,000. Among the forty-four are Bell Bird, with a yearling record of 2:26¼, and Frou Frou, with a yearling record of 2:22. Jayhawker has the fastest record of any of the entries, 2:14½, with Margrave, 2:15½, second, and he followed closely by Axle, 2:15¾, and Silicon, also 2:15¾. Among the others are: Wilmarch, 2:17¼; Wistful, 2:19¾; Cytheria, 2:20¾; Sabledale, 2:18½; Hustler, 2:20¾; Mary Best, 2:21¼; and Unkamet, 2:22¼.

Baltimore Spring Trotting Races.

BALTIMORE, Md., May 15.—The Baltimore and Philadelphia Trotting and Pacing Circuit was inaugurated today. Weather fine, track fast, and attendance large.

Second race, purse $500, 2:18 pacing, eight starters—Robert G. won in straight heats, Martha H. second, Pomp third. Time, 2:22, 2:19¼, 2:20¼.

Third race, purse $500, 2:29 trotting, twelve starters, unfinished—Harry P. won first and third, Nellie Orloff second, Queen Flainaught fourth. Time, 2:27, 2:26¼, 2:26¼, 2:25¼.

Row Over the Denver Pacing Match.

DENVER, Colo., May 15.—[Special.]—Eight thousand people turned homewards from Overland Park this afternoon disappointed at not witnessing the match race for $10,000 a side between Uncle Jack and Cebron. Cassady, the stakeholder, was there with his draft for the amount, but Judge Colburn of Colorado Springs insisted upon the stakes being turned over to Dubois Bros. This was a violation of the agreement and it is said was designed to furnish an excuse for attachment and subsequent return of the funds to the rival owners. Uncle Jack responded to the call and paced around the track. This evening the owners of Cebron are reported to have sworn out a warrant for the arrest of Cassady for embezzlement.

Pool Selling Goes On in Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, Md., May 15.—The anti-pool selling bill passed by the last Legislature has not stopped the business in this city. At Brooklyn, just across the Patapsco River bridge, at the southern end of the city, there was opened today the Walnut Springs Hotel commission office, where in consideration of 5 cents per bet the players can play their money on all races throughout the country. The money received was forwarded by direct wires to all the racing centers, were orders were executed at ruling odds. The "office" has all the appurtenances of a pool-room. The well-known bookmakers I. S. Thompson, L. S. Lyno, and G. Greves are interested in the place. No attempt was made to stop it.

Lucky Dog Starts for the East.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., May 15.—Lucky Dog, the best 3-year-old California product this spring, has started for Chicago, where he will start in the American Derby with thousands of California dollars bet on him. The horse has been especially prepared for the big race and is said to be in fine fettle. One hundred and thirty-two yearlings were shipped at the same time from the ranch of Del Paso. The prize of the lot is a filly by Salvator and Firenzi.

HASTY STABLE'S DAY.

WINS TWO RACES AT HAWTHORNE AND BACKED THE WINNERS.

The Tricks Turned with Fair Knight and Montana and Both Were Handy Winners—The Latter Was the Only Favorite to Win—Other Races Fall to Wells Street, Enterprise, Climax, and Panhandle—The Latter a Heavily-Backed Good Thing—General News.

There was a huge crowd at Hawthorne yesterday. It was attracted more by the Brooklyn Handicap and Kentucky Derby call and betting than the local races; generally poor of class and perplexing. Once there the crowd made a holiday of it and lost its money against both the bookmakers in the local ring and the foreign book.

It almost neglected the fifth race, ran while the Brooklyn race was on, and shouted itself hoarse at Dr. Rice's victory, although it would rather have seen Henry of Navarre or Clifford take the prize.

Thirteenth Day. May 15. Hawthorne Spring Meeting. Day Showery. Track Fair.

065. First race, purse $500, maidens 2-years-old, allowances, half a mile. Time, :52¾. Start fair. Post 8 minutes. Won easily, second driving. Winner by Bishop—Unaka, owned by Ruddy Bros. Coria and Freyja were coupled in the betting.

Only one favorite won on the Hawthorne track. It was the heavily played Montana (Chorn), 2 to 1. The other winners were: Wells street (E. Taylor), 6 to 1; Fair Knight (Chorn), 5 to 1; Enterprise (C. Weber), 10 to 1; Climax (McIntyre), 15 to 1; Panhandle (Kenney), 4 to 1.

The Hasty stable won two races and bet heavily on both winners. Young Chorn rode both. Early showers fell and the track was sticky and bad in spots.

The opening race, half a mile, for 2-year-old maidens, fell to Ruddy Bros.' Wells Street, who should have been the favorite. Off fairly well with the Leigh pair Corea and Freyja in front, he nailed Gus Strauss an eighth out and won rather handily by nearly a length from Corea, who beat the counterfeit and favorite Gus Strauss by two lengths more. Again he stopped in front.

Favorites Have a Bad Time.

The second race, three-quarters, selling, for the tracks riff raff, had the Hasty Stables' Fair Knight for its second choice. George F. Smith was favorite. Fair Knight was the right one, for, running easily behind the scramblers in front, he won comfortably from Verbia, with Woodruff an easy third. Verbia, Ruby Payne, and Hannah H. got off in front and Ruby led to the turn, where she fell back. George F. Smith and Muffineer looked dangerous at the eighth pole.

The Hasty Stable folks had another good thing in the condition seven-furlong race, third on the card. It was Montana and his owners knew all about it. They played the old Western horse with persistency and precision, averaging 2½ to 1 for a lot of money. Corrigan's Fannie S. was, without good reason, the second choice. Once away Montana and William T. were in front, but Montana held the Gloucester crack safe all the way and won rather leisurely from him. Freddie L. T. came from behind and beat Westchester for third place. Ormie sulked all the way and the others cut no figure in the race.

Then two long shots were dished up for the ring's benefit in succession. Pat Corrigan's old Enterprise, backed from 15 to 10 to 1, got off well, and beat Victoria in a drive, with Consistent third, in the fourth race, three-quarters selling.

Along came another fast and ancient selling plater of renown in the fifth race, three-quarters selling. It was old Climax. He was also a 15 to 1 shot and beat Entre, backed from 3 to 1 to 8 to 5, in a drive, with the consistent Gold Dust third. Entre was off badly or he could not have lost.

A good thing won the jumping race at a mile on the main track. It was Jack Bachelor's Panhande, a jumper of much schooling. He was backed by wise money, including Barney Schrieber's, from 10 to 1 and went to the post at 4 to 1. Off well he fell out of it after getting into a scrimmage at the first jump, but gradually closing on Bellringer and Gaylord, the leaders, caught the former at the last jump and won easily.

SHOOTERS ARE COMING TO TOWN.

Some of the Most Celebrated Shots in the Country in the List.

All the arrangements have been completed for the opening of the International Shooting Tournament at Garfield Park tomorrow morning. It is held under the auspices of the Prairie Gun club and of the Inter-State Manufacturers and Dealers' Association. All of the leading marksmen of the country will compete for the prizes. The management have 4,500 pigeons on the grounds for the live bird events, and 50,000 clay disks will be used in the inanimate target shooting. Five batteries will be in constant operation during the continuance of the shooting—two for live birds and three for inanimates.

The first delegation of sportsmen arrived last night. They were Eastern men and came over the Lake Shore. They were met at Hammond by Field-Captain A. M. Hofmann, Col. M. C. McDonald, L. M. Hamline, H. W. Loveday, John Lovejoy, President J. H. Robbins, Secretary H. B. Meyers, A. Baldwin of the Prairie club, and Secretary Elmer E. Shaner of the Inter-State Association. On the arrival of the train at the Polk street station the party were met by several more of the local committee, and a six-horse coach conveyed them to the Sherman House, where headquarters are located.

Among the arrivals were: Capt. J. A. H. Dressel of New York, Chairman of the Inter-State Executive committee; Capt. Jack Brewer of New York City, the best live bird shot in the world; T. W. Morfey of Paterson, N. J., who took the first money in the grand tournament at Dexter Park last year; E. D. Fulford, the "wizard" of Utica, who is looked upon by many of the sportsmen as the victor of the present tournament; F. Van Dyke, Trenton, N. J.; W. M. Thomas, Bridgeport, Conn.; W. H. Wolstencroft, Philadelphia; R. O. Heikes, Dayton, O.; C. A. Young, Springfield, O.; Noel E. Money, New York; and C. H. Bartlett, Buffalo. Mayor Hopkins, who is a member of the Prairie club, will formally receive the visitors tomorrow afternoon at the park.

BILLY SMITH AND ED BUTLER FIGHT.

After One Round and a Half the Latter Refuses to Go On with the Mill.

SPRING VALLEY, Ill., May 15.—Mysterious Billy Smith and Ed Butler fought here early this morning. The battle lasted only one round and a half, when Butler refused to fight on account of fouling on Smith's part. John Rogan of Ottawa was the referee, and there was much feeling against him for not giving the fight to Butler. Butler wanted to continue, but his seconds and backer would not allow it. Smith tripped Eddie and hit him while he was down. Billy Meyer, Alf Kennedy, and other Chicagoans were here. About 1,000 persons saw the battle.

General Sporting Notes.

Dixon and Griffo are to fight at Boston on the evening of June 29.

Ed Fulford has posted a forfeit of $100 for a 100 live-bird match with Dr. Carver, Hurlingham rules.

Corbett's manager, Brady, yesterday cabled that the last deposit for the Corbett-Jackson match had been forwarded.

Shadow Maber, the Australian, says he would like a finish fight with Tommy Ryan or Billy Smith for $2,500 and a purse.

Charlie Mitchell sued a New York publisher for using his name in a book on boxing. Judge Gildersleeve decided against him Saturday.

Creedon and Hall have signed to fight six rounds, but have as yet chosen no fighting ground. Boston or Chicago are in their eyes.

H. L., Chicago, Ill.: Spokane won the American Derby of 1889. Lawmaker only raced last year at Hawthorne. He ran second to Cicero Aug. 22, 1893.

The tennis players are preparing for the tournament season. Hovey, R. D. Wrenn, Hobart Chace, and Budlong will all be on the courts. The Englishmen, Wilfred Baddeley and Ernest Renshaw, are expected to play in the big Newport tournament.

The game in the fourteen-inch balk line contest at the Brunswick rooms last night was between Edwards, 100, and Warren, 135. The game was won by Edwards by a score of 100 to 90. The game tonight is between Stewart, 100, and Elliott, 135.

TO YOUNG MEN

Charles Dudley Warner said: "The time would come when some inventive genius would enable us to drop a dime in the slot and take out a complete education."—This is the invention.

THIS BEAUTIFUL DIME SAVINGS BANK IS PRESENTED TO ALL SUBSCRIBERS TO THE TRIBUNE EDITION OF

ENCYCLOPEDIA BRITANNICA

In the days of the empire in France it was the proud boast of the nation that a Marshal's baton was in the knapsack of every soldier. In this country and in these days we have a grander and a prouder boast.

In our higher civilization and more perfect Government we are the creators of our positions. No accidental circumstances of birth or condition bar our ambitions. We are equal in citizenship and in the realization of life's rewards. One man is successful more than another only in so much as he makes himself so.

Ours is the heritage of a glorious past and a present that is ever up and ready for the future. We are something more than mere workers. There is an individual ambition in us that makes us the peer of any people on the globe. We are not content to sit our lives out working at the footstools of others. The mechanic aims to be a master, the painter an artist, the clerk a merchant, the laborer that he may gain recognition.

In the high positions of honor and trust filled by men not yet in the zenith of their lives, in the well-filled classes in which young men and young women spend the hours of evening in study, in the libraries that are patronized to their full capacity, aye, and in the little library, too, which is the pride of even the humblest American home, there is evidence that the parents and their sons and daughters realize that mind is the ruling power in this newer and greater world.

We have passed the ruder stages of our civilization, and what best fits a man to grapple with living issues, what best enables him to discern improvements, to suggest inventions, to cope with others whose brains are their capital—that is what tells in life; and the more varied the accomplishments the greater the possibilities.

In this connection it is that THE TRIBUNE suggests to young men and strongly recommends the Encyclopedia Britannica. There is no field in the world, of either mental or physical activity, which it does not cover. It is the result of the critical labor of the best scholars, a compilation of history, the story of the achievements of years, a panorama in which scenes are called up filled with information that no college course can give. It is an education in itself. It costs but a trifle. One dime a day put away in the bank, a cut of which is here given, will secure it. No man needs any other library, no man could have a better one. One cigar less a day, one little deprivation that will save a dime, and you have a treasure that will prove both a pleasure and a lasting benefit.

Bear in mind that this edition is in 25 large quarto volumes, is a new large type edition, enlarged, with each separate volume revised to date, with an entire equipment of new maps up to date, making it superior even to the great Edinburgh Edition, which costs $8.00 per volume.

READ OUR PROPOSITION,

Which is Made Exclusively to Readers of The Tribune.

One complete volume of this great work will be delivered to you upon payment of One Dollar and Ninety-eight Cents. This is done in order that you may compare it page for page with the original Edinburgh Edition. There is no obligation on your part to take the remainder of the set. The remaining 24 volumes can be secured at $1.98 per volume, as follows: Twelve volumes will be delivered on payment of $3 on delivery and 10 cents a day thereafter, or we will deliver the whole set of 25 volumes on payment of $5 on delivery and $5 per month thereafter. This Edition is printed on a fine quality of paper, is elegantly and substantially bound in rich silk cloth, the lids of the book are of stout oakum board, which will hold its shape and never warp. The lettering is genuine gold leaf of the purest quality. It is bound with a double flexible back, just like an Oxford Teacher's Bible. It is an actual fact that this book is more strongly bound than the edition which is sold for $8 per volume. All charges are paid by us to any part of the United States.
